Dude Ranch—Animal Neglect

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

A despicable case of animal neglect was uncovered Monday at a former dude ranch near High Falls where four horses and a pony were being stabled without food and water.

Investigation of a complaint that horses were being mistreated at the Clove Valley Ranch resulted in a warrant for the arrest of a Pine Bush man.

Sheriff William B. Martin, Deputy Marshall Canosa and SPCA Agent Arnold E. Adams staged a surprise raid shortly before noon yesterday and discovered the animals in poor shape. One horse was on the ground dead, another was apparently near death. The others were weak and badly emaciated.

Sheriff Martin upon questioning Douglas Kearsley, a caretaker of the property, learned that the owner was Wilbur Smith of High Falls, who is mostly in New York City and ends. Martin learned that Smith permits Campbell White of Drexel Drive, Pine Bush to stable his horses at the ranch. Sheriff Martin called White and informed him of the conditions at the ranch and told him a warrant had been issued. White said he would surrender himself to the Sheriff's Department at 9 a. m. Friday to answer the charges of cruelty to animals. The charge upon conviction has a maximum penalty of one year in jail.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of White by Town of Rochester Justice Raymond Lawrence.

SPCA Agent Adams on viewing the scene said "this is a horrible case of neglect." He said it was a violation of the Agriculture and Markets Law, a felony.

Sheriff Martin called Dr.

Charles B. Freer, a veterinarian of Ellenville to examine the animals.

Dr. Freer said he examined the four horses and pony. The younger horse and the pony were in fair condition and some how had managed to break out of the corral to get at some grass and hay. Dr. Freer said the older horses suffered most because at their age they require grain to survive. There was no feed or water in evidence.

Deputy Canosa, who investigated the complaint, reported that the horses had been locked in the barn because they had broken out of the corral seeking food and water. There had been complaints by the neighbors that the horses were running loose on the road.

The animals were taken in a van to a horse farm owned by Louis La Falce at Highland where they will be stabled until the owner decides what to do with them.

Neighbors had been complaining that a number of horses were being mistreated and left for several days without food, water and sufficient grazing area. Deputy Canosa reported his preliminary investigation to Sheriff Martin who had organized the raiding party with SPCA Agent Adams.

Heavy Fighting Erupts Near Saigon

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. and South Vietnamese troops today battled Viet Cong soldiers in the heaviest combat near Saigon in a month. Since Sunday, spokesmen said, the allies have killed 146 Communists in three Mekong Delta fights.

The fiercest clash erupted 20 miles southwest of the capital between U.S. 9th Division soldiers and 400 Viet Cong guerrillas deeply entrenched in bunkers and tunnels, a war communique said.

In 20 hours of fighting that raged into today, the American troops backed by divebombers and helicopter gunships killed 69 Viet Cong. U.S. spokesmen said American units suffered 15 killed and 30 wounded in the rice paddy battling.

The series of fights south of the city emphasized the presence of Communist soldiers near the capital, apparently waiting for orders to launch a long-awaited nationwide offensive.

U.S. intelligence sources said a wounded North Vietnamese sergeant told allied interrogators the offensive was due between Aug. 20 and 25. They said other information he volunteered had been proven accurate.

Another unit of the "old reliable" 9th Division killed 33 Viet Cong and captured 8 others 16 miles south of Saigon without suffering a casualty. U.S. Command spokesmen said.

The third battle, closer to the capital, saw South Vietnamese troops killed 44 Communists Sunday and Monday. Five government soldiers were killed and 22 wounded, battlefield reports said.

In Saigon, the head of the National Police, Col. Tran Van Hai, announced the arrest of nine terrorists who he said were planning to blow up the "Pentagon East" headquarters of U.S. Gen. Creighton W. Abrams in July.

U.S. B52 bombers, attempting to stem the flow of infiltration from the north and west, hit into North Vietnam for the second successive day Monday and lashed eight times at Communist routes leading into South Vietnam from Cambodia.

Meanwhile in Paris the arrival of Cyrus Vance from Washington and the return of Le Duc Tho from Hanoi via Moscow lifted hopes today that both men carried new ideas on how to break the deadlock in the Vietnam war talks.

Vance, the No. 2 American negotiator, met with President Johnson at the Texas White House during the weekend and returned Monday for immediate conferences with the chief U.S. delegate, W. Averell Harriman.

Tho, a high-ranking member of North Vietnam's Politburo, left Moscow after a three-day stopover en route from Hanoi, where he spent a good part of six weeks plotting strategy with Ho Chi Minh.

Diplomatic observers speculated both Vance and Tho carried new proposals for the next bargaining session. What those positions might be was not disclosed.

Vance returned amid reports from Saigon that Johnson was under strong pressure to halt all bombing of North Vietnam—which Hanoi has demanded as a sign of America's good will.

Privately, U.S. delegates have maintained there would be no significant progress in the talks without Tho's presence.

Tho originally came to Paris in June as a special counselor to the Hanoi delegation leader, Xuan Thuy. He attended one negotiating session and then went back to Hanoi on June 29.

Tho's visit to Moscow followed immediately that of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield. Mansfield spent a day in the Soviet capital last week before coming to Paris for a meeting with Harriman.

Rondout Valley Near Petition Goal

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The Citizens for Student Activities Group of the Rondout Valley Central School District, formed only last Friday, is within 400 signatures of its goal to bring extracurricular activities back to the school district.

1,200 Minimum

Eight hundred signatures were obtained after a meeting of the group last night at the High Falls Firehouse. The group needs a minimum of 1,200 signatures in order for the board of education to call for another vote on the issue.

The extracurricular activities option, valued at $20,000, was rejected by the residents by a 778 to 639 vote on Aug. 6.

Dr. Ted F. Grenda, Rondout superintendent of schools, said he was "delighted" by the group's progress but added that neither he nor the administration was involved in the movement. "This group is acting independently of the board," Dr. Grenda said, "although, I might add, that we are strongly in favor of what they are trying to accomplish."

A deadline of 9 p. m. tomorrow night has been set by the group. Petitions are to be turned in at the Corner Store in Stone Ridge.

The chairman of the citizens group is Burton Marshall of Accord. Other leaders include Mrs. Percy Green Jr. of Kerhonkson, Robert Baney of Cortkill, Charles Denksen of Accord and William Davenport of Stone Ridge.

Marshall's wife, also highly active in the campaign, told The Freeman that the vote against the extracurricular activities option appeared to be a lack of understanding of what the option actually entailed.

"Means Everything"

"A lot of people probably thought that just the football program or the band program would be eliminated," she said. "They've come to realize that it means every extracurricular activity including all sports, band, student government, all clubs, field trips, everything."

Mrs. Marshall pointed out that the children in the Rondout District, due in part to its rural nature, have few sources of organized activity outside the school district.

Dr. Grenda suggested that the residents weren't aware of the actual costs to the individual taxpayer of the nine options. He noted that the cost of the milk program alone, also rejected by the residents, would be about $12 for the school year for each taxpayer. "All nine options would have cost the taxpayers $12 each if they had passed," Dr. Grenda added.

If the citizens group gets the required number of signatures, and they are "highly optimistic," Dr. Grenda will call for another vote, probably before the first of September when tax bills are expected to be mailed out.

Bulletin Painter Falls Into River

Grappling operations were underway early this afternoon near the channel in the middle of the Hudson River for a 28-year-old painter who fell into the water while working on the Mid-Hudson Bridge.

State Police and deputy sheriffs from Poughkeepsie went to the scene after they were notified that the man had plunged from the river span, apparently after losing his balance.

Deputy sheriffs were combing the river in a department boat, and authorities endeavored to obtain other boats to aid them in the search.

He was identified as Joseph Walters, 28, of 30 O'Halloran Circle, Pleasant Valley.

Florida Killer Tells Police: 'Please Catch Me'

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Warning their quarry may kill again, police today hunted for a man who directed them by telephone to the body of a young girl and her wounded mother and then begged: "Please catch me, please."

Acting on telephone calls from a man who said, "I've murdered three people," police Monday located the body of an 11-year-old girl and her critically wounded mother.

The caller told police if they wanted to find his victims' bodies to "go down to the airport and then there's one in the water and there's one on a side street."

The woman, Mrs. Dorothy A.

Clark, 42, of Clarkston, Ga., was found slumped over the wheel of a car parked at the Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport. She was bleeding from five bullet wounds in her head and neck. She was reported in critical condition.

Motorists discovered the body of her daughter, Marilyn, at the edge of a side road four miles away in Hollywood. The girl, clad in the bottom half of a two-piece bathing suit and a cotton blouse, had been shot twice in the head.

A search of waterways for a third victim continued today. "He wasn't lying about the first two, so why should he lie about the third?" a detective said.

After listening to tape recordings of the caller's conversations, Fort Lauderdale police issued a public warning that the

The directions to the bodies came in a second call 12 minutes later.

Hurry Up

Broward County Deputy Harold Lamore said the caller told him he was telephoning from a service station on U.S. 1 and then broke off the conversation with: "Hurry up, please."

The caller was gone when officers arrived.
Police officials said "we do not want to alarm the public," and added they thought the warning necessary because the caller "has indicated that he may attempt to take more lives."

Police said it had not been determined if a third person was with Mrs. Clark and her daughter or why they came to the area.

Records in Atlanta, Ga., showed that Mrs. Clark formerly lived at 1767 N. Decatur Road for 11 days beginning May 14 and has been employed as a trainee at Emory University's psychological center in Atlanta. A spokesman at the center said Mrs. Clark left no forwarding address.

Police listed the address of her mother, Mrs. Mary Ammons, in Clarkston

Rescue workers carry the body of Donald S. Pope, 41, of Ridgewood, N. J., from the wreckage of his small plane visible in the rear. Pope, an employee of Royal Securities, Inc., New York City, was killed when the plane crashed in trees near the Elks Camp not far from the Taconic Parkway in the Dutchess County hamlet of Freedom Plains on Monday. The plane developed engine trouble and Pope made a futile attempt to make an emergency landing at Sky Acres Airport in the Town of Unionville, but the aircraft was unable to gain altitude to clear the trees. Woodstock's Dump Hearing Is Tonight

A public hearing on the proposed purchase of the Cashdollar dump site by the Town of Woodstock will be held tonight at 8 at the Town Hall.

The request for the public hearing was made July 17 by John Bonilla, Democratic Town chairman who said that "all large expenditures of taxpayer's money should have the approval of the taxpayers."

The Town of Woodstock, along with the Town and Village of Saugerties pays a combined yearly rental fee of $6,900 for dumping privileges on the 88-acre site located off the West Saugerties Road. On June 16 the Woodstock Town Board took out a $29,000 option to purchase the land from its owner, Albert Cashdollar.

Earlier this year, the New York State Legislature passed a bill prohibiting burning on dumping sites. According to the County Board of Health, unless Cashdollar ceases burning at the site and institutes landfill by Dec. 31 the dump will be closed. Bonilla contended that landfill operations at the present site would increase the cost of operation in excess of $10,000.

Since the option for purchasing the controversial site was announced two months ago by the town board, Bonilla has made frequent objections to the proposal. The Democratic chairman has asked that the town consider other dumping sites in the area which would be just as feasible to use and which may result in decreased operating costs.

Bonilla suggested that the town consider using the dumping sites of the Towns of Hurley and Ulster on a temporary basis, until Woodstock, Saugerties, Ulster and Hurley could confer on a possible regional plan for accommodating the refuse from all four towns.

In a press release issued last month by the Woodstock Democratic Party it was stated that there are many unanswered questions regarding the purchase of the Cashdollar site. The primary objection that the Democrats have to the proposed purchase is that there has been no investigation made of other potential sites and purchase prices.

The Cashdollar dump site was a major issue in the 1963 township campaign. At that time the Democratic party pressed for the purchase of the land by the town board. But last July the Democrats issued a statement saying, "The Woodstock Democratic Party feels a total reassessment is necessary. We urge all taxpayers to attend the public hearing."

The option for the purchase of the dumping site originally expired at the end of July but it was extended for another 30 days, according to Supervisor Milton Huust, "for further study."

How to send a boy to jail without really trying.

Anybody can do it. No experience necessary.

All you have to do is leave the keys in your car. Statistics tell us most cars are stolen by kids under 18. And about half the stolen cars had keys left in them.

Don't tell us you're too smart for car thieves—that you take your keys out of the ignition and leave them under the floor mat. Or in the windshield visor.

They're too smart for you. They find them... and are involved in 200 times as many accidents as ordinary drivers.

Take your keys with you.

That way, nobody goes to jail.

Czech Head Talks With East Germans

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czech Communist leader Alexander Dubcek and East Germany's Walter Ulbricht put on a show of friendliness today that broke the chill so apparent in their talks at a western Czechoslovak resort.

Dubcek and Ulbricht, the most bitter critic of Czechoslovakia's liberalized government, pledged to work to ease friction in the Communist bloc and increase trade between their countries.

Ulbricht and Dubcek spent six hours together Monday at Karlovy Vary (Karlbad), a popular mineral water resort near the German border. Czech Communist sources said they met to eliminate any chance of a breakdown in relations that would hurt both nations' economies and make Communists look bad to the world.

A high Czechoslovak source said today the talks "may have slightly improved relations between the two countries."

"There were some good signs of good will on both sides and we can speak of a few positive results," he said.

The source said the two countries may keep on criticizing each other in the press "but polemics are something else than attacks."

A communique issued today said they met in "a friendly and comradely spirit and in an atmosphere of openness."

But the low state of cordiality between the two nations was emphasized from the moment Ulbricht's plane landed.

Cheering crowds at the airport made a point of ignoring Ulbricht and chanted "Long live Dubcek."

After the Czechoslovak and East German delegations reached the Bristol Hotel at the resort they had lunch separately. It was not until the talks ended that they ate together. The East Germans stayed inside while Dubcek and his aides strolled in front of the hotel, shaking hands. Dubcek had to turn away at times to elude kisses.

"What has happened to the Germans?" someone in the crowd shouted.

"They were afraid to show their faces!" yelled someone else.

Nevertheless, the communique pledged both nations to an attempt to increase trade.

"Both sides agreed on measures for the deepening of mutual economic relations and coordination of long-term plans, the further development of cooperation and specialization of production and also on scientific and technical cooperation," the communique said.

That paragraph contained much of the heart of what the talks were about.

Strengthened Ties

Western observers said Dubcek went to Karlovy Vary to straighten his economic ties with the East Germans. He had strengthened such links to Yugoslavia in a weekend visit with President Tito.

More trade within the Communist bloc is a key to revival of Czechoslovakia's economy, stagnated by 20 years of Stalinist-style rule.

The communique also had a mention of the Czechs' desire to keep the rest of the Communist bloc from interfering in its internal affairs.

The concluding sentence said Ulbricht and Dubcek expected improvement of relations "on the basis of the principles of equality and respecting of sovereignty."

It was Ulbricht of all the Communist bloc leaders who most frequently talked of armed intervention to force the Czechs to slow down their liberalization.

Drug Arrest in Ellenville

By WALTER S. CLARK

Ellenville police under the direction of Chief Abe Rand Monday night continued a crackdown on narcotics in the village and arrested a fourth man on a charge of criminally possessing dangerous drugs.

The arrest of Haywood Terry, 29, of 27 Maple Avenue, in that southern Ulster County community, followed the recent arrests of three other men who were taken into custody at the Maple Avenue address.

Chief Rand said the arrest didn't involve a raid on the residence, although local police were assisted by State Police BCI officers and Investigator Thomas Mayone of the office of District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca. The chief noted that Terry was taken into custody in the course of an investigation by authorities.

Terry was taken to police headquarters and booked and it was reported a quantity of heroin was found on his possession. The man also was charged with harassment.

Police arraigned Terry before Rochester Town Justice Abram D. Smith on the charge of criminally possessing a dangerous drug, second degree. The charge is a felony.

The three were arrested Friday night and charged with possessing dangerous drugs. Judge Friedman fixed bail at $450 for each of the trio and in lieu of bail the men were committed to the county jail pending an appearance tonight in the village police court.

Authorities reported Monday that Davis and Green also faced charges involving loitering and possessing hypodermic equipment.

Scheduled for a hearing at 7 p.m. today before Judge Friedman are: Edward Green VISITING PRELATE—Josyf Cardinal Slipyj, Archbishop Major of the Ukrainian and Archbishop Terence J. Cooke (L) of New York visit with Mayor John Lindsay at Gracie Mansion Monday. The Cardinal, now in exile from the Soviet Union and living in the Vatican, is visiting the United States and Canada while en route to the International Eucharistic Congress in Bogota. Last week he paid a brief visit to the Ukrainian National Association resort near Kerhonkson where he was greeted by the children with flowers and conducted a Moleben. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Woodstock's Dump Hearing Is Tonight

A public hearing on the proposed purchase of the Cashdollar dump site by the Town of Woodstock will be held tonight at 8 at the Town Hall.

The request for the public hearing was made July 17 by John Bonilla, Democratic Town chairman who said that "all large expenditures of taxpayer's money should have the approval of the taxpayers."

The Town of Woodstock, along with the Town and Village of Saugerties, is considering the purchase of the 88-acre site located off the West Saugerties Road. On June 16 the Woodstock Town Board took out a $29,000 option to purchase the land from its owner, Albert Cashdollar.

Earlier this year, the New York State Legislature passed a bill prohibiting burning on dumping sites. According to the County Board of Health, unless Cashdollar ceases burning at the site and institutes landfill by Dec. 31 the dump will be closed. Bonilla contended that landfill operations at the present site would increase the cost of operation in excess of $10,000.

Since the option for purchasing the controversial site was announced two months ago by the town board, Bonilla has made frequent objections to the proposal. The Democratic chairman has asked that the town consider other dumping sites in the area which would be just study.

Bonilla suggested that the town consider using the dumping sites of the Towns of Hurley and Ulster on a temporary basis, until Woodstock, Saugerties, Ulster and Hurley could confer on a possible regional plan for accommodating the refuse from all four towns.

In a press release issued last month by the Woodstock Democratic Party it was stated that there are many unanswered questions regarding the purchase of the Cashdollar site. The primary objection that the Democrats have to the proposed purchase is that there has been no investigation made of other potential sites and purchase prices.

The Cashdollar dump site was a major issue in the 1963 township campaign. At that time the Democratic party pressed for the purchase of the land by the town board. But last July the Democrats issued a statement saying, "The Woodstock Democratic Party feels a total reassessment is necessary. We urge all taxpayers to attend the public hearing."

The option for the purchase of the dumping site originally expired at the end of July but it was extended for another 30 days, according to Supervisor Milton Huust, "for further the area which would be just study."

How to send a boy to jail without really trying.

Anybody can do it. No experience necessary!

All you have to do is leave the keys in your car. Statistics tell us most cars are stolen by kids under 18. And about half the stolen cars had keys left in them.

Don't tell us you're too smart for car thieves—that you take your keys out of the ignition and leave them under the floor mat. Or in the windshield visor.

They're too smart for you. They find them... and are involved in 200 times as many accidents as ordinary drivers.

Take your keys with you.

That way, nobody goes to jail.

Czech Head Talks With East Germans

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czech Communist leader Alexander Dubcek and East Germany's Walter Ulbricht put on a show of friendliness today that broke the chill so apparent in their talks at a western Czechoslovak resort.

Dubcek and Ulbricht, the most bitter critic of Czechoslovakia's liberalized government, pledged to work to ease friction in the Communist bloc and increase trade between their countries.

Ulbricht and Dubcek spent six hours together Monday at Karlovy Vary (Karlsbad), a popular mineral water resort near the German border. Czech Communist sources said they met to eliminate any chance of a breakdown in relations that would hurt both nations' economies and make Communists look bad to the world.

A high Czechoslovak source said today the talks "may have slightly improved relations" between the two countries.

"There were some good signs of good will on both sides and we can speak of a few positive results," he said.

The source said the two countries may keep on criticizing each other in the press "but polemics are something else than attacks."

A communique issued today said they met in "a friendly and comradely spirit and in an atmosphere of openness."

But the low state of cordiality between the two nations was emphasized from the moment Ulbricht's plane landed.

Cheering crowds at the airport made a point of ignoring Ulbricht and chanting "Long live Dubcek."

After the Czechoslovak and East German delegations reached the Bristol Hotel at the resort they had lunch separately. It was not until the talks ended that they ate together. The East Germans stayed inside while Dubcek and his aides strolled in front of the hotel, shaking hands. Dubcek had to turn away at times to elude kisses.

"What has happened to the Germans?" someone in the crowd shouted.

"They were afraid to show their faces!" yelled someone else.

Nevertheless, the communique pledged both nations to an attempt to increase trade.

"Both sides agreed on measures for the deepening of mutual economic relations and coordination of long-term plans, the further development of cooperation and specialization of production and also on scientific and technical cooperation," the communique said.

Strengthened Ties

Western observers said Dubcek went to Karlovy Vary to straighten his economic ties with the East Germans. He had strengthened such links to Yugoslavia in a weekend visit with President Tito.

More trade within the Communist bloc is a key to revival of Czechoslovakia's economy, stagnated by 20 years of Stalinist-style rule.

The communique also had a mention of the Czechs' desire to keep the rest of the Communist bloc from interfering in its internal affairs.

The concluding sentence said Ulbricht and Dubcek expected improvement of relations "on the basis of the principles of equality and respecting of sovereignty."

It was Ulbricht of all the Communist bloc leaders who most frequently talked of armed intervention to force the Czechs to slow down their liberalization.

Drug Arrest in Ellenville

By WALTER S. CLARK

Ellenville police under the direction of Chief Abe Rand Monday night continued a crackdown on narcotics in the village and arrested a fourth man on a charge of criminally possessing dangerous drugs.

The arrest of Haywood Terry, 29, of 27 Maple Avenue, in that southern Ulster County community, followed the recent arrests of three other men who were taken into custody at the Maple Avenue address.

Chief Rand said the arrest didn't involve a raid on the residence, although local police were assisted by State Police BCI officers and Investigator Thomas Mayone of the office of District Attorney Joseph P. Torracca. The chief noted that Terry was taken into custody in the course of an investigation by authorities.

Terry was taken to police headquarters and booked and it was reported a quantity of heroin was found on his possession. The man also was charged with harassment.

Police arraigned Terry before

Rochester Town Justice Abram

D. Smith on the charge of criminally possessing a dangerous drug, second degree. The charge is a felony.

The three were arrested Friday night and charged with possessing dangerous drugs. Judge Friedman fixed bail at $450 for each of the trio and in lieu of bail the men were committed to the county jail pending an appearance tonight in the village police court.

Authorities reported Monday that Davis and Green also faced charges involving loitering and possessing hypodermic equipment.

Scheduled for a hearing at 7 p.m. today before Judge Friedman are: Edward Greenment.

Police Abandon the CP in Watts, Few Minor Fires Only Activity

By DON HARRISON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police packed up their ammunition and abandoned their Watts command post before dawn today at the end of 24 hours of controversial "saturation" patrolling of the Negro district.

An outbreak of shooting and looting Sunday midnight brought three deaths and 48 injuries, but a police spokesman said the only activity Monday night was an increase in minor fires.

One fire did $35,000 damage to a quilting plant four miles from the disturbance scene in south-central Los Angeles. The fire's origin was undetermined.

Long before sunup, police closed the command post in Alai Locke High School from which 2,000 officers had been directed on constant patrol.

Rumors of trouble whipped through Watts Monday night but that's what they turned out to be—rumors. There was little more than normal night activity.

All three of the dead Sunday were Negro men. Police said at least two were killed by Negro gunfire, and the third may have been shot by police, who reacted quickly and massively to sniping and looting.

Six of the wounded were policemen. Thirty-six other persons were treated for gun wounds and six for injuries. Two were listed as critical.

There were 35 arrests, 28 of them on felony charges.

The outburst began with rock throwing, followed by sniper gunfire and looting, when police arrested a drunken woman in Will Rogers Park, scene of the third annual Watts Summer Festival.

The festival ironically commemorated the 1965 riot that cost 34 lives and $40 million property damage.

The area was quickly saturated with 2,000 policemen, who re-stored quiet before daybreak Monday.

All through the warm Monday and the cool, pleasant night, police maintained their vigil, a

Watts remained relatively still.

The night was marked by an occasional trash can fire. Along

103rd Street, dubbed "Charcoal

Alley" after the 1965 disorder, knots of youngsters yelled epithets at passing patrol cars, but there was no violence.

Groups of Negroes gathered to watch a small fire in a market.

Rumors of other fires were unconfirmed.

Downtown on Monday afternoon about 85 persons, mostly whites identifying themselves as members of the Peace and Freedom party, paraded outside central police headquarters with

Black Panther party.

The demonstrators had mimeographed demands that police pull out and "let blacks do their own patrolling and be responsible to a commission elected by the community."

In similar vein, Billy Tidwell, a director of the Watts Summer

Festival, called the police mobilization "wholesale unwarranted assault" and accused police of "raiding" the festival headquarters in the park.

He and Tommy Jacquette, another festival leader, said the number of officers in the area should have been reduced

Police Chief Thomas Reddin told a news conference a "massive response" by police put down the disorder and the area remained "saturated."

"The question of whether we have too many or not is certainly difficult to decide," the chief said.

Crime, Disorder Rate Top Shelf By One of Nixon's Key Advisers

By WALTER R. MEARS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — One of Richard M. Nixon's top advisers on issues awards top campaign billing to crime and civil disorder—subjects the Republican presidential candidate's aides already consider crucial and potentially trouble-

Tower, Nixon Confer
Sen. John Tower of Texas, chairman of Nixon's key issues committee, confers with the former vice president today.

Nixon's aides foresee difficulty in stressing law and order, and an end to disturbances, without appearing insensitive to the plight of Negroes in urban slums.

Nixon already has devoted considerable attention to the subject, insisting that order and progress must go hand in hand, urging a program of "black capitalism" to offer city Negroes "a piece of the action" of American enterprise.

Charles S. Rhyne, chairman of United Citizens for Nixon, said Monday that this program, which would be based largely on tax incentives, is attracting interest in the Negro community. Rhyne said the interest is being translated into support.

He said there are large numbers of Negroes in the citizens campaign organization, but he could not say how many that meant.

Tower said "the growing crime rate and disorders in our cities" represent the major issue of the campaign. He said there is a need for the federal government to provide more effective steps to cope with "massive civil disorders."

Critical of Clark

The Texas senator also criticized Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, saying he believes Clark is attempting to create "an atmosphere of good will" in which crime would diminish.

"This is phony," said Tower.

Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the GOP nominee for vice president, also has placed heavy emphasis on the issue of law enforcement, stirring some controversy with his statement that policemen should be authorized to fire at looters who disregard orders to stop during city riots.

Tower said "the continuing war of attrition in Vietnam" is

Hubert Camp—'Overwhelming Victory'

By United Press International

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's camp claimed an "overwhelming victory" today in securing the lion's share of Ohio's 115-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

In a meeting lasting into the early morning hours, the Ohio delegation went on record as divided 58½ votes for Humphrey, three for his nearest presidential rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, and one for favorite son Sen. Stephen M. Young.

Twenty-seven votes remained uncommitted and delegates controlling 26½ votes were absent from the caucus. There are 128 Ohio delegates, some with half-votes.

A move by McCarthy forces to keep 112 votes of the delegation behind Young until the convention convenes Aug. 26 was beaten back by the vice president's forces. McCarthy's three votes were committed to him as the result of the primary.

Humphrey had been shooting for about 85 of the delegation's votes, but the high absenteeism prevented an accurate assessment of whether he made it.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Fred R. Harris, D-Okl., co-chairmen of United Democrats for Humphrey, claimed after the caucus that Humphrey brought home 77 confirmed votes. They said the extra votes came from delegates who expressed their preference by telegram or telephone.

UPI's latest delegate count

before the caucus already gave

votes committed or leaning to him to secure the nomination, which requires 1,312.

GOP and Appeal

The Republicans went home from Miami Beach with the unity Richard Nixon promised he would do nothing to jeopardize in his choice of a running mate. The task they and he now face is the far more difficult one of transforming party unity into party appeal to the voters.

Granting them their minority base of 27 per cent of the nation's registered voters, they must do no less than convince one-third of the remainder of the electorate—Democrats and independents—that they have the answers to the problems the nation faces today and will face in the coming four years.

By the nature of things, the party out of power has to emphasize the sins and failings of the incumbent administration. The party in power must of necessity defend its record. Both, of course, are never short on promises of how they will do better in the future.

As it would appear this early in the contest, the "ins" have the harder problem. For it has been during the Johnson administration, whether because of the President's policies or in spite of them, that the large and small crises that affect and concern all Americans today have developed and come to their present pass—the endless war in Vietnam, inflation burgeoning federal power and massive deficits that have required a tax hike, racial unrest in the cities, the hippie generation and widespread disaffection among youth with American institutions and mores, crime and pollution.

It would be an error to predict the nature of candidate Nixon's campaign on the basis of his acceptance speech alone. But it is certain that just as he touched most of these bases in that speech, he will hit all of them harder again and again in the coming months.

Thus it may be not so much what the Republicans promise to do as what the Democrats can be charged with failing to do that will sway the decisions of many voters.

Yet Nixon cannot rely on the protest vote alone. Thomas E. Dewey remains the classic example of what can happen to a candidate when he bases his strategy on the belief that the people are so fed up with one administration that they will turn to another without asking too many questions.

There is also the brooding presence of George Wallace. Like a dark star, his as yet unmeasured gravitational attraction for a considerable number of voters, not just in the South, is something both major party candidates will be forced to counter.

Nixon, the man who made it back the hard way, knows this. Above all, he knows that that all-important body of independents and nominal Democrats, who hold the election in the balance, will be listening to him to hear not just what the Democrats have done wrong, but to hear—in specific terms—just what the Republicans intend to do right.

The gauntlet is down. It is now the turn of the Democrats to pick it up as they prepare to convene in Chicago.

Drew Pearson Says

Thurmond's Role Detailed In Nixon's Victory Plans

Veep Agnew

Although Richard Nixon's selection of Gov. Spiro "Ted" Agnew as his GOP running mate seemed to catch delegates and most newsmen in Miami Beach by surprise, Drew Pearson had reported the possibility two and a half weeks ago on July 21. Pearson wrote that Agnew, though ideologically in Rockefeller's camp, was one of the political leaders who had been "seduced by Nixon with dreams of the Vice Presidency." Pearson noted, however, that in fairness it should be recorded that before he switched to Nixon, Agnew "had already been alienated by Rockefeller's political indecision."

WASHINGTON — What Richard Nixon was doing during the last hectic hours at the Republican convention in Miami Beach was developing Sen. Strom Thurmond, the South Carolina renegade Democrat, as his agent to combat another renegade Democrat, George Wallace of Alabama.

This is why he gave Thurmond the veto on who would run as Vice President, and why he picked Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland, almost unknown to most Republicans, for the No. 2 place on the ticket.

It was a calculated risk. Nixon knew he would antagonize many Northern Republicans, though he was not prepared for as much smoldering resentment as that which immediately swept over Northern delegations.

But he figured that with Strom Thurmond, together with Sen. John Tower of Texas, another Southern Republican, he could combat his biggest threat below the Mason-Dixon Line—Wallace.

Actually, Sen. Thurmond did a great job for Nixon behind the scenes in Miami Beach. No sooner had Southern delegates arrived than a revolt developed in favor of Ronald Reagan. Both Rockefeller and Reagan were counting on this to pull enough votes away from Nixon to stop him on the first ballot. In that case they figured on more defections on the second and third ballots, and an eventual Nixon defeat.

But they didn't figure on Strom Thurmond. Though Strom started out as a strong Reagan man, a talk with Nixon converted him into Nixon's agent with Southern delegates. To that end he took the rebellious Mississippi delegates on a cruise Monday afternoon on a private yacht loaned to Nixon.

He also helped arrange the secret Nixon conference with Southern delegates at which Nixon threw cold water on school bussing, promised to appoint Supreme Court justices who could stick with the Constitution, not make laws on their own.

Vice Presidential Veto

In return, Nixon agreed to veto four vice presidential candidates who were anathema to the South: Sen. Ed Brooke, the Negro from Massachusetts; John Lindsay, mayor of New York; Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon; Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois.

Actually, Thurmond was not too happy about Nixon's final choice of Agnew, but agreed that Agnew would not antagonize the South. Agnew had been elected governor of Maryland as a defender of open housing. However, he took a strong stand against the Negro sit-in at Bowie State College, and called on Negro leaders to read the riot act to militants after the April burnings in Baltimore. About 100 Negro moderates walked out. So Thurmond agreed that Agnew would not antagonize the South.

Nixon's mistake, however, was in not consulting the moderates. He consulted the South but forgot the moderates. They were sore, not so much at the choice of Agnew, a fellow moderate, but at not being consulted.

Whether Nixon's calculated risk in working with Thurmond will pay off now remains to be seen. The two men have known and liked each other ever since the Eisenhower administration when Nixon presided over the Senate. Thurmond, as governor of South Carolina, had bolted the Democratic party in 1948 to form a third party against Harry Truman after Hubert Humphrey, then mayor of Minneapolis, had forced a showdown on civil rights.

Though Humphrey won the civil rights battle, the entire South walked out of the convention, and a majority of the South voted for Strom Thurmond's third party that fall. This is one reason Nixon figured he could combat the Wallace third party movement this fall—20 years later.

A Lonely Senator

But ever since he bolted the Democratic party, Thurmond has been a lonely figure in the Senate. He is charming, likable, a regular attendant at prayer breakfasts. But as a Republican he is no longer welcome among Southern Senators, and moderate Republican Senators don't quite trust his politics. In fact, Republicans fumed when Thurmond was appointed to the Republican Policy Committee. For a time, Sen. Richard Russell, the elder statesman from Georgia, was not enthusiastic about having Strom on his Armed Services Committee.

One aspect of Thurmond's career which fellow Senators are skeptical about is his very close ties with the right wing military, including retired Gen. Edwin Walker, who was transferred from Germany after he indoctrinated his troops with some of the teachings of the John Birch Society. Thurmond, a major general in the Army Reserve, was one of Walker's champions.

Senators Thurmond and Tower of Texas, the two lone Southern Republicans, have been thrown together by both geography and politics. Tower even loaned Thurmond his ghost-writer, Horace Clay, to help the Senator from South Carolina write a book. They should be reasonably effective in aiding Nixon in the South.

One incident in Strom Thurmond's life which South Carolinians will never let him forget is how he invited the first Negro governor of the Virgin Islands, William H. Hastie, to stay at the executive mansion in Columbia, S.C., when Thurmond was governor to that state.

Thurmond, of course, did not know that Hastie was a Negro.

"It is my earnest hope," wrote Thurmond, "that you and your family will honor South Carolina with a visit, and be our guests at the mansion."

The Negro governor was tactful. He thanked the governor of South Carolina for "your gracious invitation to me and my family," but said his children were quite young and that it would be difficult for him to travel extensively. In return, Hastie invited Thurmond to "visit the Virgin Islands and be our guest at Government House."

The incident took place in 1948 when Thurmond was running for President on a states-rights, anti-civil-rights ticket. He did not accept Hastie's invitation.

Agnew and Law and Order Issue

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Washington Correspondent

The story behind the abortive revolt against Richard Nixon's choice of Gov. Spiro T. Agnew for the vice presidential nomination was this:

Many insiders among the Republicans were angered by the common knowledge that in recent months Agnew had undergone an evident "sea change" toward the conservative side of the subject of Negro riots and law and order.

Most GOP governors had heard Agnew rip apart the report on civil disorders by the Kerner Commission, in a closed session of the Governors' Conference at Cincinnati in late July.

They knew, too, that he had scolded a group of Negro leaders he called to his office after the riot in Baltimore which followed Dr. Martin Luther King's assassination.

But Nixon, the new presidential nominee, had this very sea change in Agnew very much in mind when he cosseted himself alone to make his choice after long hours of discussion with Republican leaders.

The choice of Agnew represents Nixon's bet that the issue of "law and order," embracing as it does the rise in crime, Negro riots, campus disturbance and recurring turmoil in the streets, will be uppermost in U.S. voters' minds in the fall election. Most 1968 candidates for major office have ample evidence to support such a calculation.

In consequence of this, Nixon has also wagered that it is more important in 1968 to try to blunt the third party drive of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, whose candidacy feeds on the law and order issue, than to appeal with main vigor to voters in the troubled core cities.

To the extent that this Nixon judgment led inescapably to a man with clearly conservative leanings, who might offset some of Wallace's strong pull in the South, the selection of Agnew could be portrayed as an appeasement of GOP leaders in that region.

That is indeed the critical view as expressed in the last convention hours. But the emphasis here was mostly an appeasement as reward to southern Republicans for backing Nixon and holding the line against the more favored Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Whatever the worth of that cynical appraisal, it is not the entire story. The Wallace threat is real, not only in the South but in the affluent suburbs and the blue-collar city areas of the North.

And with it, naturally, goes the danger that a strong Wallace showing countrywide could throw the 1968 election into the U.S. House of Representatives for lack of an electoral majority for either major party candidate. The nation could be in chaos for months.

Nixon has been tantalized by the conflict between the need to counter this danger and the need to make winning appeals to the turbulent core cities. As this reporter noted in an earlier column, it was plain that no matter how he resolved the matter his decision would seem wrong at least in part.

The naming of Agnew may in truth be reward for the South. But Nixon had to come down on one side or the other. His decision is also a hard judgment that law and order is the big thing in the suburbs and that in 1968, appealing to their swelling legions of voters is the way to blunt Wallace and win the election.

Dear Editor,

From what I read in newspapers and hear on radio I have come to the conclusion that the United States is the "Big Stumbling Giant of the World," like the well known giant in the comic books. We are the richest and strongest country in the world. How then can two little countries like North Korea and North Vietnam push us around like they're doing? Is it because we are afraid of world opinion? Or is it because we are afraid of putting our foot down, because we might step on someone?

Let's fight to win in Vietnam and let's get the crew of the Pueblo back. Now is the time to stop pussy-footing around. Don't give the communists any appeasements like Hitler was given. I say the hell with world opinion, now is the time to strike. Let's take care of opinion at home first. When the countries who think badly of us need help they'll come to our doorsteps and get a hand out. Sure this handout is needed to stop communist insurgency, but let us be more strict with our policies.

Politicians and industry are making money on this war. The proof of this is the prolongment of the war. The longer the war the more guns, bombs and other war materials have to be produced. The more is produced the more money industry makes. The more contracts are awarded the more politicians make under the table. Sure industry and politicians don't mind prolonging the war they don't have to fight. I wish I could truthfully say that "We the people of the United States" run this country instead of a handful of politicians and industry.

The trouble with us is that we let our ideas run loose in small conversations with the family or with friends. We must let our ideas be heard by our representatives for they are supposed to represent us.

When the welfare of this country is at stake and a politician pulls a blunder it is not his fault entirely, it is our fault also because we did not act. Or else we did not act to stop the blunder from getting bigger.

We don't have to use thermonuclear weapons. Strategy can be brought into play to win the war in a year. If our so called brilliant men in the Pentagon can't do it up with a strategic plan to win quickly then I believe this is the time for change.

Signed,
CARMINE BERTONE

The Two Faces of America

In Chicago---Angry Blacks and Alienated Young

By Robert Roy Metz

There is a temptation after a week in Miami Beach to remember only the obvious and the superficial of the political carnival which recurred there before reopening with a new cast in Chicago.

It is easy to focus on the banal architecture, the tip-minded devotion of bellhops and doormen and the overpriced, overpromoted food and lodging. (Even the signs indulge in verbal overkill: "To the Healthatorium" reads

one in a hotel recreation area.)

The Beach is the American Dream gone wild. To live there for a week is to live surrounded by money, comfort and pleasure. Since these are the goals most politicians promise and seek for their constituents, Florida's sandy strip was, as one observer pointed out, a perfect site for a nominating convention.

It is easy, too, to remember the surface silliness of this political extravaganza—the pink and orange-painted elephants, the free colas (and pretty girls) of the promotion-seeking soft-drink companies and the din of the rock groups which seems to have replaced the Sousa-sounds of political marching bands.

But if this is one face of America, summer 1968, there is a second face and reminders of it kept intruding.

Even the most determined delegate hunter was distracted on his rounds by the whirring clatter of Marine helicopters which hovered over key hotels. The pleasure craft which seemed to be idly passing northward showed up soon after, passing southward, and was seen to be a Coast Guard cutter.

And as the color guard passed by outside the entrance as the convention began, a police officer stood on the roof, high-powered rifle slung over a shoulder and scanning nearby buildings with binoculars. The rifle silhouetted against the sky triggered a split second of fear in one passerby before the mind recorded the message that the uniform represented the law. We do not easily shake off the memories of Dallas, Memphis and Los Angeles.

Although the security precautions were pervasive, other reminders of the second face of America were more subtle. Negroes, who once held the bulk of the service jobs at beach hotels, have been largely replaced by immigrant Cubans. There were young people on the Beach by the thousands. The girls swirled squeaky-clean hair and brightened the lobby scenes in Rocky and Nixon miniskirts. The boys were bearded, barbered and intense about politics. If there was a Columbia or Berkeley demonstrator among them, he was well disguised.

The Democrats may not be so fortunate in Chicago. The angry black and the alienated young are likely to be much more in evidence.

But what goes on inside the Democratic convention seems unlikely to differ greatly from what went on in Miami Beach. A body of men and women with much the same set of values and many similar interests probably will also select an experienced, middle-aged, vigorous and well-intentioned man. And for 10 weeks these two men will cross the nation, each trying to persuade us he has answers we need.

After looking into the two faces of America in the summer of 1968, the worry is that neither man may know the questions.

We are the richest and strongest country in the world. How then can two little countries like North Korea and North Vietnam push us around like they're doing? Is it because we are afraid of world opinion? Or is it because we are afraid of putting our foot down, because we might step on someone?

Let's fight to win in Vietnam and let's get the crew of the Pueblo back. Now is the time to stop pussy-footing around. Don't give the communists any appeasement like Hitler was given. I say the hell with world opinion, now is the time to strike. Let's take care of opinion at home first. When the countries who think badly of us need help they'll come to our doorsteps and get a hand out. Sure this handout is needed to stop communist insurgency, but let us be more strict with our policies.

Politicians and industry are making money on this war. The proof of this is the prolongment of the war. The longer the war the more guns, bombs and other war materials have to be produced. The more is produced the more money industry makes. The more contracts are awarded the more politicians make under the table. Sure industry and politicians don't mind prolonging the war they don't have to fight. I wish I could truthfully say that "We the people of the United States" run this country instead of a handful of politicians and industry.

The trouble with us is that we let our ideas run loose in small conversations with the family or with friends. We must let our ideas be heard by our representatives for they are supposed to represent us.

When the welfare of this country is at stake and a politician pulls a blunder it is not his fault entirely, it is our fault also because we did not act. Or else we did not act to stop the blunder from getting bigger.

We don't have to use thermuclear weapons. Strategy can be brought into play to win the war in a year. If our so called brilliant men in the Pentagon can't do it up with a strategic plan to win quickly then I believe this is the time for change.

CARMINE BERTONE

In Chicago---Angry Blacks and Alienated Young

By Robert Roy Metz

There is a temptation after a week in Miami Beach to remember only the obvious and the superficial of the political carnival which recessed there before reopening with a new cast in Chicago.

It is easy to focus on the banal architecture, the tip-minded devotion of bellhops and doormen and the overpriced, overpromoted food and lodging. (Even the signs indulge in verbal overkill: "To the Healthatorium" reads

one in a hotel recreation area.)

The Beach is the American Dream, gone wild. To live there for a week is to live surrounded by money comfort and pleasure. Since these are the goals most politicians promise and seek for their constituents, Florida's sandy strip was, as one observer pointed out, a perfect site for a nominating convention.

It is easy, too, to remember the surface silliness of this political extravaganza—the pink and orange-painted elephants, the free colas (and pretty girls) of the promotion-seeking soft-drink companies and the din of the rock groups which seems to have replaced the Sousa-sounds of political marching bands.

But if this is one face of America, summer 1968, there is a second face and reminders of it kept intruding.

Even the most determined delegate hunter was distracted on his rounds by the whirring clatter of Marine helicopters which hovered over key hotels. The pleasure craft which seemed to be idly passing northward showed up soon after, passing southward, and was seen to be a Coast Guard cutter.

And as the color guard passed by outside the entrance as the convention began, a police officer stood on the roof, high-powered rifle slung over a shoulder and scanning nearby buildings with binoculars. The rifle triggered a split second of fear in one passerby before the mind recorded the message that the uniform represented the law. We do not easily shake off the memories of Dallas, Memphis and Los Angeles.

Although the security precautions were pervasive, other reminders of the second face of America were more subtle. Negroes, who once held the bulk of the service jobs at beach hotels, have been largely replaced by immigrant Cubans. There were young people on the Beach by the thousands. The girls swirled squeaky-clean hair and brightened the lobby scenes in Rocky and Nixon miniskirts. The boys were beardless, barbered and intense about politics. If there was a Columbia or Berkeley demonstrator among them, he was well disguised.

The Democrats may not be so fortunate in Chicago: The angry black and the alienated young are likely to be much more in evidence.

But what goes on inside the Democratic convention seems unlikely to differ greatly from what went on in Miami Beach. A body of men and women with much the same set of values and many similar interests probably will also select an experienced, middle-aged, vigorous and well-intentioned man. And for 10 weeks these two men will cross the nation, each trying to persuade us he has answers we need.

After looking into the two faces of America in the summer of 1968, the worry is that neither man may know the questions.

Ulster Sets Hearing Tonight On $300,000 Town Hall Plans

By ALBERT CAWEIN

A public hearing on the proposed $300,000 town hall complex for the Town of Ulster at Lake Katrine will be held 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Chambers School.

The project will include a town office building and adjacent highway garage.

Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz said the public will have an opportunity to voice their opinion at this meeting, and following the hearing the town board will set a date for a public referendum on the proposal.

The new town garage will provide housing for town highway equipment and other equipment, some of which had to be stored outdoors due to lack of garage space.

The town office building will provide for all town services under one roof and centralize the various departments. The town now operates several offices in different locations throughout the township. An informational meeting was held on the project July 25 where drawings, maps and plans were available for public view.

In preliminary studies it had been determined that the project would be financed by bond issue to be amortized over a 30 year period and would add $1.73 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to the town tax rate. The study also noted that the elimination of the cost of the present operation in makeshift, leased and rented buildings could reduce the tax rate addition to $1 per $1,000.

The new 56 by 129 foot town hall and 65 by 200 foot garage would be constructed on town property along Neighborhood Road, Lake Katrine, near Route 209. The town hall would be of block and brick veneer construction with 6,248 square feet of space on the first floor at an estimated cost of $124,960. The basement would have 2,184 square feet with vault and storage room, and is listed to cost $17,472.

The garage, also block and brick veneer will be 13,000 square feet plus a storage area and will cost $104,000.

The new town hall will provide large storage rooms for records and voting machines, a vault for vital statistics, deeds and records; a town clerk's office, offices for the supervisor, town tax collector, planning board, building inspector, town justices, assessors, water department and a spare office for future expansion. There will also be a large meeting room and justice court, lavatories, and supply room. The adjacent parking lot will accommodate 90 vehicles.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz this week was commended for work and foresight on the project from the Office for Local Government, Albany.

In a letter from Kenneth Kyle, director of the Division of Municipal Management Services, the Ulster supervisor was congratulated for the project.

Kyle said that the planning and preliminary investigation made by the town is thorough and will provide for the town's needed facilities at reasonable cost. He said, "Your foresight in obtaining a site of proper size, located in a convenient place in the town, will provide essential services for your citizens. With the growth occurring in the Town of Ulster, a new town building and garage complex is badly needed."

"Centralizing the offices and garage in one central area will provide more effective operation and will make town services more easily available to the citizens."

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Uruguay's capital appeared certain today to have more bloody student riots as public opposition to President Jorge Pacheco Areco's tough policies steadily increased.

A score of students, policemen and bystanders were in hospitals with bullet wounds or other injuries suffered in daily violence that began last Friday with a police raid on the University of Uruguay.

Censorship-minded officials kept the exact number of casualties secret. Nor would police say how many demonstrators have been arrested, but there have been more than a dozen.

Although the invasion of the traditionally inviolate university campus was the immediate cause of the student demonstrations, they also are protesting conditions which have drastically reduced public backing for the president. Runaway inflation, the rising cost of living, suspension of constitutional guarantees, press censorship, drafting of striking government employees into the armed forces, and alleged police brutality, official mismanagement and corruption in high government circles.

An opinion poll ran 77 per cent in favor of Pacheco when he suspended constitutional guarantees on June 13 and started cracking down on rising student and labor agitation. The same pollsters reported last week only 47 per cent still backing the president, with 45 per cent in favor of a return to full constitutional government. The rest refused to answer.

The long festering crisis was impelled toward a showdown by the kidnapping last week of Ulises Pereira Reverbel, the head of the state telephone and electric power monopoly and the chief advocate among Pacheco's advisers of the hard line the president has taken.

The kidnappers said they were members of the National Liberation Front, a pro-Peking group about which little is known.

They held Pereira "hostage" for five days in what many considered was an attempt to touch off rebellion and to prove that the government had lost its hold on the country.

The police struck back with the raid on the university, long considered a hotbed of admirers of Fidel Castro and Mao Tse-tung. They discovered incendiary bombs, bullets and other subversive material on the campus.

Spring Lake Water Discussion Thursday

Petitions have been prepared and an informational meeting scheduled on a proposed water district for the Spring Lake area.

Thaddeus Musialkiewicz announced this week. The meeting to discuss the proposed water district will be held Thursday 7:30 p.m. at Spring Lake Firehouse. Supervisor Musialkiewicz said the project has been an issue for many years and the Town Board would like to make every effort to find a solution.

At the August meeting of the Town Board, the supervisor reported that attempts to secure federal funds for the establishment of a water district in the Spring Lake area have been unsuccessful. However, he said he would explore further avenues to find aid for the project. The project is estimated to cost a half million dollars.

The project in preliminary studies would embrace 750 homes in that area.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz said he is now in the process of reapplying for funds through departments at the state level. Preliminary planning has been done by Brinnier and Larion, consulting engineers of Kingston.

Petitions for the project are ready for circulation and require property owner's signatures covering 51 per cent of the assessed valuation of the proposed district. When this is accomplished the Town Board may establish the water district. If the project is approved, the property owners within the water district would be levied a water district tax to cover the cost of the project and maintenance. Following approval of the petition by the Town Board, a public hearing will be scheduled.

Woodstock Jaycees Seek New Vote on Options at Onteora

Another step is being taken by the Woodstock Jaycees in their attempt to bring about a vote with options on the twice defeated Onteora School District budget. Previous action taken has been in the form of a fact-gathering meeting and a letter to the school board containing the Jaycees recommendations on the budget situation.

The purpose of the meeting was to gather facts so that some action might be taken by the Jaycees to help resolve the situation. Invited to the meeting as speakers were Dr. Harold Snyder, Onteora Central Schools; Mrs. Vivian Moscovitz, Onteora Citizens Committee; Walter Schuman, Woodstock Township Taxpayers; W. Jack Kahn, Onteora Teachers Association and Richard Nixdorf, Onteora Teachers Association.

It was brought out at the meeting that many items on a school budget are mandated by state law and must be included. For example teachers salaries, building maintenance, and many other items which would be mandatory in running a school district. A contingency budget consists mainly of these items. Most school budgets contain appropriations for non-mandatory items such as cafeteria, intramural sports, transportation, and other educational benefits thought necessary by the school board. These expenses cannot be covered in a contingency budget.

The Woodstock Jaycees suggested in a letter to the school board that the budget be put to a vote again. This time voters should be allowed to choose, on an individual basis, those items which are not funded on a contingency budget. Since the budget cannot be voted on again without obtaining 1250 signatures on a petition, the Jaycees latest action is to obtain the necessary signatures for a revote. Other petitions are being circulated to call for a new vote on the same budget that was defeated in June. However, the Jaycees feel that a repeat vote on the already defeated budget is taking an all-or-nothing-at-all approach to the school district needs. They feel that the next vote should be with options in order to increase the probability that some improvement over and above a contingency budget can be realized.

The Jaycees petition reads: "We the undersigned, being residents and taxpayers of the Onteora School District, petition the Onteora Central School Board of Education to reconsider its position and call for a new vote on a contingency budget, for the school year 1968-69, with selected options, for the voters approval. We believe there's more to good health than just paying bills.

Not that paying bills isn't important.

After all, that's why Blue Cross & Blue Shield got started. In 1935 people had health problems, and paying bills was the biggest one. We found a way to help them, and we've been at it ever since.

But, times have changed. People still have health problems, and paying bills is still one of them. But growing population, rising incomes, greater demand for health services and advancing medical techniques make the delivery of today's health care more complex than it was in 1935. And more than ever before, it's important to arm yourself with the knowledge of what good health care is and what it can be.

And that's what this ad is all about. This is the way Blue Cross and Blue Shield see some of those things that concern all of us in 1968.

The right hospitals should be in the right places.

Good health care doesn't just mean a lot of hospitals. It means having the right hospitals in the right places. And making sure they have the facilities they need. So whether little Johnny needs a community general hospital nearby, or a medical center for specialized care, there'll be one. And if he needs a heart-lung machine there'll be one waiting when he gets there. We believe it can be this way. That's why we helped create and support the Health and Hospital Planning Council of Greater New York. With careful planning, each section of the New York area can have the hospitals and facilities it needs.

To have good health care, you need good people.

Well-trained physicians, nurses, medical specialists, and skilled technicians. And enough of them. There is a critical shortage. It's a big problem, and in a small way, Blue Cross has tried to help by publishing a booklet, "The Hospital People," and broadcasting appeals for recruits to enter the nursing profession. Blue Shield offers courses for medical assistants. These opened new vistas for hundreds of young people who had never before considered the health professions as a career.

Blood is one of those things that shouldn't have a price tag.

Today, New Yorkers need 1000 pints of blood a day just for transfusions. Tomorrow the need may be much greater. But no matter how much blood is needed, we believe it should be there without a price tag.

At the moment, plentiful free blood for everyone is just a dream. But we have taken steps toward making it a reality. We are working in cooperation with the Greater New York Blood Program to help meet today's chronic shortage of blood in the New York area. And if you have Blue Cross blood coverage, anytime you or your family needs blood you're eligible for any amount. And at no extra cost to you.

Call Blue Cross today to learn how you can be a member of the Blue Cross Blood Program.

Hospitals are for those who need them most.

They should be, but often hospital beds are occupied by patients who could be recuperating at home, or treated in another less expensive setting. It's one of the biggest problems facing physicians and hospitals today. And it's a problem that grows with the population.

To help, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, its physicians and 47 member hospitals started a program called "Home Care," so you can recover faster and more comfortably. A physician or nurse will visit when necessary. The program also allows for use of hospital beds, wheel chairs, and oxygen equipment in your own home. And Blue Cross and Blue Shield pay for it. This way, you recuperate faster, the hospitals are less crowded, and there's more room for those who need them most.

The part that's up to you.

The physician and the hospital play an important role in health care. And we believe the day will come when people won't wait until they feel sick to have a medical check-up. They'll have one regularly, as a matter of course. But today, a good part of your health picture is still up to you.

That's why we believe so strongly in public knowledge of preventive medicine. Knowing what good health care really is. And what it isn't. And what you should be doing about it. It's senseless for people to need extensive hospital care because of personal neglect.

It may shock you to learn how many people are blinded needlessly by glaucoma. How the inroads of a certain type of cancer could virtually be halted with a 10-minute test. How children can have such things as ulcers without their parents knowing it.

And that's the reason you'll hear from us from time to time about your health and about those things that make good health more than just paying bills.

Because your health is what Blue Cross and Blue Shield are all about.

Little Rock Siege In 4th Violent Day

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Firebombs were hurled into six business establishments Monday night as police tried to enforce a 10 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew during the city's fourth straight day of racial violence.

Gunfire was reported within blocks of police headquarters and police said some patrol cars were fired upon. None of the cars were hit, police said.

The firebombs caused little damage because they were poorly made and failed to explode, police said. The firebombings and the sniping occurred south of the downtown business area.

Police were ordered to tighten their curfew after numerous violations were reported. Security was to remain tight today for the Democratic primary runoff election.

Little Rock Police Chief R. E. Briens said law enforcement units would be near each polling place in Little Rock and North Little Rock where one out of every seven registered voters in the state lives.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller canceled a speaking engagement raising dinner in Santa Fe, N.M., Monday to remain in the state.

Ulster Sets Hearing Tonight On $300,000 Town Hall Plans

That's why we helped create and support the Health and Hospital Planning Council of Greater New York. With careful planning, each section of the New York area can have the hospitals and facilities it needs.

To have good health care, you need good people.

Well-trained physicians, nurses, medical specialists, and skilled technicians. And enough of them. There is a critical shortage. It's a big problem, and in a small way, Blue Cross has tried to help by publishing a booklet, "The Hospital People," and broadcasting appeals for recruits to enter the nursing profession. Blue Shield offers courses for medical assistants. These opened new vistas for hundreds of young people who had never before considered the health professions as a career.

Blood is one of those things that shouldn't have a price tag.

Today, New Yorkers need 1000 pints of blood a day just for transfusions. Tomorrow the need may be much greater. But no matter how much blood is needed, we believe it should be there without a price tag.

At the moment, plentiful free blood for everyone is just a dream. But we have taken steps toward making it a reality. We are working in cooperation with the Greater New York Blood Program to help meet today's chronic shortage of blood in the New York area. And if you have Blue Cross blood coverage, anytime you or your family needs blood you're eligible for any amount. And at no extra cost to you.

Call Blue Cross today to learn how you can be a member of the Blue Cross Blood Program.

Hospitals are for those who need them most.

They should be, but often hospital beds are occupied by patients who could be recuperating at home, or treated in another less expensive setting. It's one of the biggest problems facing physicians and hospitals today. And it's a problem that grows with the population.

To help, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, its physicians and 47 member hospitals started a program called "Home Care," so you can recover faster and more comfortably. A physician or nurse will visit when necessary. The program also allows for use of hospital beds, wheel chairs, and oxygen equipment in your own home. And Blue Cross and Blue Shield pay for it.

This way, you recuperate faster, the hospitals are less crowded, and there's more room for those who need them most.

The part that's up to you.

The physician and the hospital play an important role in health care. And we believe they will come when people want it until they feel sick to have a medical check up. They'll have one regularly as a matter of course. But today, a good part of your health picture is still up to you.

That's why we believe so strongly in public knowledge of preventive medicine. Knowing what good health care really is. And what it isn't. And what you should be doing about it. It's senseless for people to need extensive hospital care because of personal neglect.

It may shock you to learn how many people are blinded needlessly by glaucoma. How the inroads of a certain type of cancer could virtually be halted with a 10-minute test. How children can have such things as ulcers without their parents knowing it.

And that's the reason you'll hear from us from time to time about your health and about those things that make good health more than just paying bills.

Because your health is what Blue Cross and Blue Shield are all about.

Little Rock Siege In 4th Violent Day

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Firebombs were hurled into six business establishments Monday night as police tried to enforce a 10 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew during the city's fourth straight day of racial violence.

Gunfire was reported within blocks of police headquarters and police said some patrol cars were fired upon. None of the cars were hit, police said.

The firebombs caused little damage because they were poorly made and failed to explode, police said. The firebombings and the sniping occurred south of the downtown business area.

Police were ordered to tighten their curfew after numerous violations were reported. Security was to remain tight today for the Democratic primary runoff election.

Little Rock Police Chief R. E. Briens said law enforcement units would be near each polling place in Little Rock and North Little Rock where one out of every seven registered voters in the state lives.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller canceled a speaking engagement raising dinner in Santa Fe, N.M., Monday to remain in the state.

Area Authorities Seek Thief Who Took UCCC Letters

Area authorities have been alerted for a thief who is wanted for questioning in connection with the theft of nine letters valued at $450, that were reportedly stolen from the wall in front of the Ulster Community College at Stone Ridge.

Kingston State Police BCI officers are investigating the theft which occurred sometime between Friday and Monday morning when the letters were discovered missing.

According to the sheriff's office, it was learned that a car reportedly slammed into the wall last week, loosening the nine letters and repairs were underway when the letters were taken.

The complaint was made to authorities yesterday by Morgan Ryan, construction manager at the college. The letters had been imbedded in the wall to spell out the name of the college.

Missing are three T's, two L's, the same number of O's, and one E and one I. Anyone having information as to the whereabouts of the letters is asked to immediately notify state police or the sheriff's office.

Ironically, the missing letters could spell out "LOOT" and "ELITE" although they are needed to complete Ulster County Community College.

Local NAACP Meets; Sets Picnic, Candidate Night

Ulster County Chapter of the NAACP met last night at the New Central Baptist Church on the Strand and made plans for a membership drive, candidates' night and the organization's annual picnic.

The picnic will be held at Block Park beginning at 12 noon on Labor Day. Chairman of the committee is Mrs. Leonard Van Dyke of 12 Stuyvesant Street.

Speaking of the membership drive, President Everett Hodge asked that each member try to recruit one new member. There are approximately 80 paid-up members in the organization.

A candidates' night, featuring all the major candidates, was

Mensa Group Lists Webster As Speaker

Benjamin L. Webster, of Woodstock, will speak at the monthly meeting of Mensa Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Capri 400 Restaurant at Route 9W, Port Jervis.

Webster is currently chairman of the County Planning Board and has been identified with town and county planning for the past seven years. Besides the County Planning Board he is a member of numerous other local planning organizations, and originated the idea of forming a regional Mensa group. Because of his long association with the local problems involved with area planning, his topic at the meeting will be "Planning Your Artificial Environment."

The Mensa group ("Mensa" stands for "Mable" in Latin), is composed exclusively of those scoring in the top two per cent of the general population's general IQ levels. The society's goals are research in psychology and social science, particularly in the field of education for high IQ children. Founded in England 20 years ago, the world-wide association now has a membership of about 15,000, two thirds of which are American. About 80 members are from this area.

GE's Turbine Workers Go Out on Strike

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UPI) — About 1,100 workers at the gas turbine department of General Electric Co. began a two-day strike Monday in a dispute over the awarding of merit raises.

Local 301 of the International Union of Electrical Workers contended such raises should be on an automatic basis every six months while the company said they were awarded on the basis of individual job performance. The strike involved all three shifts in the department and was to end Wednesday morning.

Paltz Concerned Democrats Laud Gorman for Stand

"Strong approval" was voiced today by the Concerned Democrats of New Paltz for a telegram sent to State Democratic Chairman John J. Burns by Dr. Gerald P. Gorman.

Last week, Dr. Gorman, Ulster County Democratic Chairman and candidate for the State Assembly, wired Burns urging him to use his power to give Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.) delegate representation in accordance with the Senator's June 18 Democratic primary win.

Ron Steinberg, chairman of the New Paltz Concerned Democrats, said, "Dr. Gorman pointed out that the primary vote clearly indicated that New York State rank and file Democrats want McCarthy as their Presidential nominee."

Trucker Hurt, Charged After Crash on 209

A 64-year-old truck driver was seriously injured and later charged with driving while intoxicated, after the vehicle he was driving went out of control on Route 209 and hit a tree early today.

State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rodes of Ellenville noted that Amos Clark of R.D., Kerhonkson, was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital and treated for a compound fracture of the left arm, broken nose and possible internal injuries.

Troopers said the mishap occurred about three miles south of Accord on Route 209 in the Town of Rochester. The summons issued to Clark is returnable later before Rochester Justice Abraham Smith. Clark submitted to a blood test.

Ellenville troopers also investigated a traffic accident on Granite Road in the Town of Rochester early yesterday. A station wagon operated by Carl J. LaConte, 37, of St. Josen Road, Accord, was traveling along the highway when it left the pavement, skidded across the road and hit two trees and then crossed the highway and came to rest against an embankment.

Trooper J.M. Curtis cited LaConte for failure to keep to the right and speed not reasonable and prudent. The motorist was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for fractured ribs, facial lacerations and multiple contusions and abrasions of the body, according to Sergeant Rhodes.

The summonses are returnable before Judge Smith.

Area Authorities Seek Thief Who Took UCCC Letters

Area authorities have been alerted for a thief who is wanted for questioning in connection with the theft of nine letters valued at $450, that were reportedly stolen from the wall in front of the Ulster Community College at Stone Ridge.

Kingston State Police BCI officers are investigating the theft which occurred sometime between Friday and Monday morning when the letters were discovered missing.

The complaint was made to authorities yesterday by Morgan Ryan, construction manager at the college. The letters had been imbedded in the wall to spell out the name of the college.

Missing are three T's, two L's, the same number of O's, and one E and one I. Anyone having information as to the whereabouts of the letters is asked to immediately notify state police or the sheriff's office.

Ironically, the missing letters could spell out "LOOT" and "ELITE" although they are needed to complete Ulster County Community College.

Local NAACP Meets; Sets Picnic, Candidate Night

Ulster County Chapter of the NAACP met last night at the New Central Baptist Church on the Strand and made plans for a membership drive, candidates' night and the organization's annual picnic.

The picnic will be held at Block Park beginning at 12 noon on Labor Day. Chairman of the committee is Mrs. Leonard Van Dyke of 12 Stuyvesant Street.

Speaking of the membership drive, President Everett Hodge asked that each member try to recruit one new member. There are approximately 80 paid-up members in the organization.

A candidates' night, featuring all the major candidates, was suggested for the next regular meeting on Sept. 9. It also was advised that the meeting be held at the Rondout Recreation Center on lower Broadway to accommodate the large crowd expected. A committee was also formed, chaired by Peter Falvey of Fair Street, to begin a voter registration drive for the fall elections.

A letter was received from The Poor People's Campaign in New York City noting the Ulster NAACP's contribution. The money was raised mainly through the efforts of the Ulster County Peace Committee which held an outing for 300 persons last month in High Falls. The committee was given a standing ovation by those assembled last night.

There was a lengthy discussion on racial discrimination with Hodge pointing out that there must be signed statements from those that believe they have been discriminated against in order for the Kingston Human Relations Commission, headed by Irving Bell, to take action.

Paltz Concerned Democrats Laud Gorman for Stand

"Strong approval" was voiced today by the Concerned Democrats of New Paltz for a telegram sent to State Democratic Chairman John J. Burns by Dr. Gerald P. Gorman.

Last week, Dr. Gorman, Ulster County Democratic Chairman and candidate for the State Assembly, wired Burns urging him to use his power to give Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.) delegate representation in accordance with the Senator's June 18 Democratic primary win.

Ron Steinberg, chairman of the New Paltz Concerned Democrats, said, "Dr. Gorman pointed out that the primary vote clearly indicated that New York State rank and file Democrats want McCarthy as their Presidential nominee."

The McCarthy advocate further stated, "This action on the part of Dr. Gorman was in sharp contrast to his discourteous handling of the pro-McCarthy delegates this past spring at the Ulster County Democratic convention."

"We are pleased to see the Democratic leader of Ulster County adding his voice to the already clear call for a McCarthy nomination," Steinberg declared. "We were less sure about Dr. Gorman's sense of fair play back in April; so this latest comment of his is doubly welcome—it shows his desire for a fair McCarthy representation among delegates from New York State, and, of course, it fits nicely in with the pattern of growing realization, around the state as well as the country, that someone like Senator McCarthy is needed to give this country a sane alternative to the Johnson years."

According to Steinberg, Dr. Gorman thus joins other Democratic leaders, such as New York City Council President Frank O'Connor, Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson, Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton, and Dutchess County Democratic Chairman George Whalen in supporting the voter's "clear choice" in the selection of New York delegates at large.

Colgate announces the enzyme active pre-soak- AXION

can't bleach out, detergents can't wash out!

New Axion upsets every idea you've ever had about your wash

Axion is an incredible new discovery. It is entirely different from any detergent. It is entirely different from any bleach. It is an enzyme active pre-soak that cleans away stains as no other kind of washing product has ever been able to do.

Works on the stain— not on the fabric

Axion, with active enzymes, is the latest result of Colgate research. Axion's active enzymes biologically break down the molecular structure of the most stubborn stains...loosen stains so they wash away easily during the regular wash cycle.

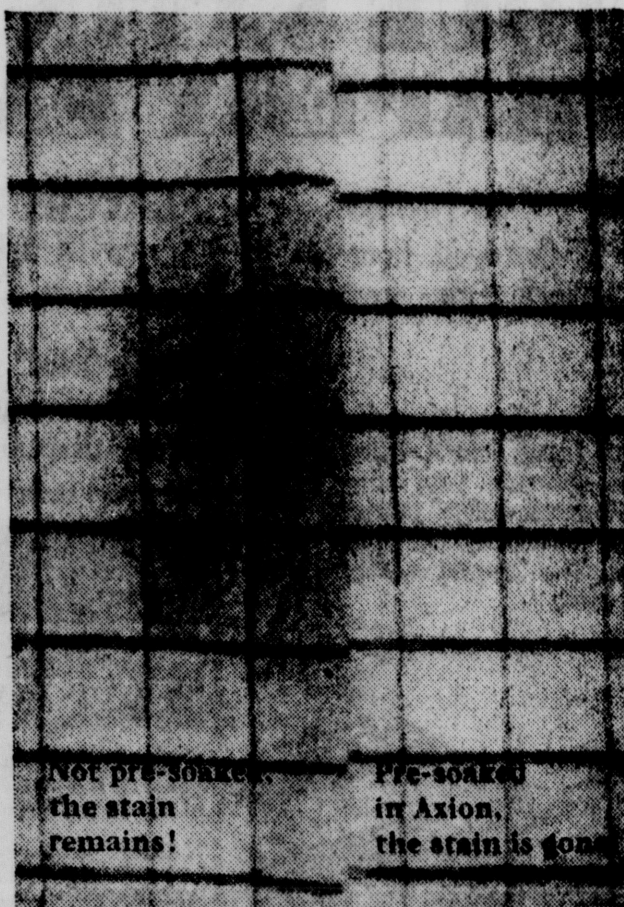

An enzyme molecule

Yet Axion won't harm synthetic fabrics or colors. So you can safely use Axion where you could never use chlorine bleach. Axion's enzyme active formula was developed to concentrate on stains and dirt...for cleaning, whitening, and brightening far beyond detergent or bleach.

See the difference Both towels washed in detergent and bleach

See how Axion performs. Both of these towels had set beef liver stains. The one on the right was pre-soaked in Axion. Then they both were machine-washed with regular detergent and bleach. The towel that was only washed in bleach and detergent is still badly stained. The towel pre-soaked in Axion—stain free, clean!

Axion attacks stain after stain

Blood • Gravy • Sauces • Chocolate • Fruit Stains • Dirt on White Socks • Grass • Yellowing on Pillowcases • Baby Foods • Perspiration Stains • Diaper Stains • Grime on Shirt Collars and Cuffs • and many more.

Important— saves you money

Axion helps keep laundry new...doesn't damage fabrics the way harsh bleaches can. Dozens of costly items will last longer and look better. So it's obvious you can save money by using Axion.

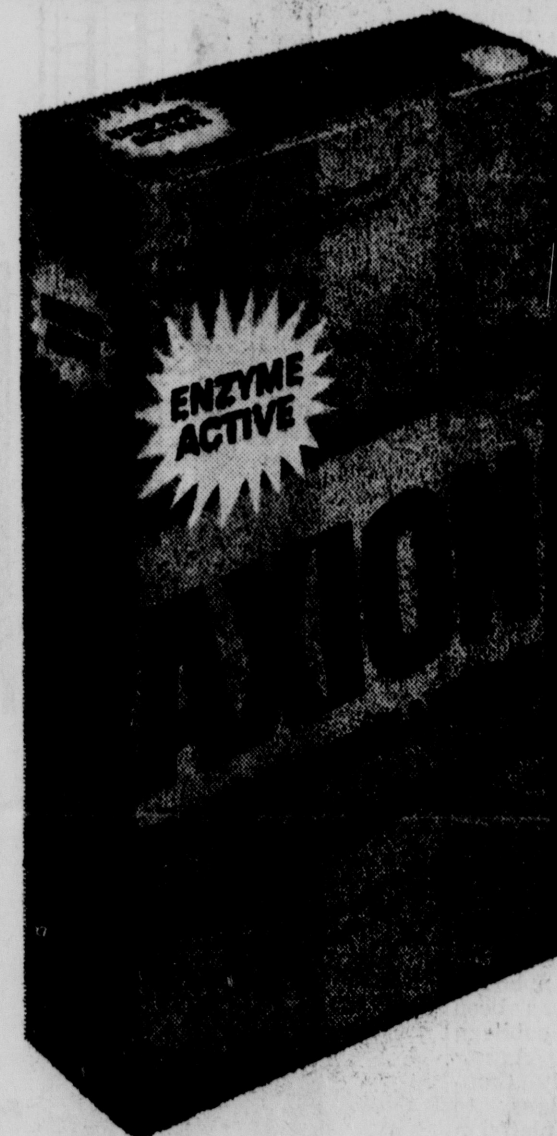

Works on your whole wash

You will see a striking difference in your entire wash the first time you pre-soak with Axion. Your whites will be noticeably brighter and cleaner. And pleasantly fresh-smelling. Perspiration stains will be gone. Yellowed sheets and soiled pillowcases will be white again. Those grimy children's white socks, your husband's shirt collars and cuffs—so clean you'll find it hard to believe. And, just by following package instructions you can use Axion effectively on synthetic fabrics and colors you wouldn't dare bleach. In fact, once you start using Axion, you'll find yourself pre-soaking everything you wash, every time you wash!

Nixon Summons N. Y. Leader To High Level Strategy Meet

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Republican State Chairman Charles A. Schoenbeck responded today to a call from Richard M. Nixon to fly to San Diego for conferences on presidential campaign strategy.

Sources close to Schoenbeck reported Monday that he had been summoned to the GOP nominee's post-convention retreat, along with the party chairmen of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan.

The populous northern states, rich in electoral votes, embrace several heavily industrialized cities regarded as keys to victory in the November election.

In arguing his case for the GOP presidential nomination, Gov. Rockefeller had contended repeatedly that Nixon could not carry the nation's big cities, while he could.

Rocky Off To Maine Estate

SEAL HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York is expected to spend two weeks at his summer estate in this coastal community for what aides term a "quiet rest."

The Republican governor and his wife, Happy, flew to Maine Monday from New York.

The aides said Rockefeller plans to go swimming and boating.

Such activities represent a complete change of pace for Rockefeller, who spent the last several months waging an all-out effort to win the Republican presidential nomination.

His cross-country campaign trips failed, however, to prevent a first-ballot victory for Richard M. Nixon at the GOP convention at Miami Beach last week.

Nixon Summons N. Y. Leader To High Level Strategy Meet

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Republican State Chairman Charles A. Schoeneck responded today to a call from Richard M. Nixon to fly to San Diego for conferences on presidential campaign strategy.

Sources close to Schoeneck reported Monday that he had been summoned to the GOP nominee's post-convention retreat, along with the party chairmen of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan. The popular northern states, rich in electoral votes, embrace several heavily industrialized cities regarded as keys to victory in the November election.

In arguing his case for the GOP presidential nomination, Gov. Rockefeller had contended repeatedly that Nixon could not carry the nation's big cities, while he could.

Schoeneck received the call from Nixon while conferring with his state committee staff on preliminary plans for the New York phase of his presidential campaign.

He told reporters that "we're going to go all out," adding that he had talked with Gov. Rockefeller and he says he is going to do his best for the ticket.

Schoeneck dismissed speculation that Rockefeller might sit out the campaign, because of disappointment over losing the nomination and because of irritation with Nixon's selection of a running mate.

Rockefeller and many of his associates regarded Nixon's choice of Maryland's Gov. Spiro T. Agnew as a calculated insult, since Agnew had changed allegiance from Rockefeller to Nixon during the presidential competition.

Schoeneck said he also was confident that U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits would join in the effort to elect the Nixon-Agnew team.

Javits had said over the weekend that he wanted more time to think before giving the ticket a full endorsement. This inspired Jefferson County's GOP chairman, Clinton W. Marsh, to declare that he would withhold backing of Javits' re-election bid — and urge other county chairmen to do the same — unless Javits fell into step.

A Javits spokesman said later that the senator was moving toward endorsement of the Nixon-Agnew candidacy, a bit reluctantly.

Florida Man Is Fined After Shooting His Intended Bride

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (UPI) — John Swift, 25, of Palm Beach, Fla., accused in the accidental shooting of the young socialite he planned to marry, has pleaded guilty to reduced charges.

Swift, who had planned to wed Lynn Holley, 23, this fall, pleaded guilty Monday to a reduced charge of second degree reckless endangerment, a misdemeanor. He was fined $250.

Miss Holley, granddaughter of the inventor of the Holley carburetor, was shot in the shoulder when a .25 caliber target pistol Swift had been using jammed and then went off.

The incident occurred July 21 at the Holley's summer ranch in the foothills of Mount Marcy, the state's highest peak.

Miss Holley was killed instantly when a bullet fired from the pistol as Swift tried to eject a spent shell while in the kitchen of the rambling summer home.

Several friends were on hand for a barbecue at the time of the incident.

Miss Holley's grandfather, George M. Holley, developed the carburetor which was used extensively in Ford Motor Co. products and now is a special option. Her father, John C. Holley, is a former vice president of the firm.

The young woman, described as a beautiful, intelligent girl, was a well-known ski instructor in Denver, Colo., and had been learning how to fly this summer.

Cops to Ignore Restraint Rule On Vandalism

NEW YORK (AP) — John J. Cassese, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association (PBA), says its members will disregard any orders from superior officers not to arrest looters, vandals, unruly demonstrators or other violators of the law.

"In the last 2½ years," Cassese says, "we've followed a policy of restraint that emanated from City Hall—a policy of turning the other cheek and not getting involved."

"Now, I say, let's try the other side of the coin," he declared at a news conference Monday.

"We're going to enforce the law 100 per cent," Cassese said as he made another of his frequent complaints that orders from city officials and leniency by judges have handcuffed the police.

Spokesmen for City Hall and the Police Department have denied issuing any directions to police to go easy—especially during racial demonstrations.

Neither Mayor John V. Lindsay nor Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary would comment on Cassese's remarks Monday.

10th Warders Meet Wednesday, Richter Guest

City Judge Hubert A. Richter will address the 10th Ward Committee tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the Franklin Street AME Zion Church, the ward's alderman, Peter Fisher announced today.

After Judge Richter's address, the group will discuss health conditions in the ward and progress on other problems it has been working on.

Suspect Missile May Have Struck Ship, Three Hurt

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An object from the sky hit a 175-foot oil survey vessel, the Pacific Seal, setting a fire Monday night that could be seen on shore 15 miles away.

At the time Sidewinder air-to-air missiles were being fired at flare targets by a Navy fleet squadron in the sea test range nearby.

Three members of the 18-man crew were injured, two reportedly seriously. They were flown by helicopter to Pt. Mugu Naval Air Station.

Cmdr. Gordon Frey, spokesman at Pt. Mugu, said the cause of the explosion was not determined immediately "but we did have aircraft in the area," he said.

The object penetrated three steel structures in the vessel owned by Falcot Boats, Inc., of Galveston, Tex., and under charter to Vigicon Co., Houston, Tex.

A Coast Guard cutter, Cape Hatteras, was dispatched from Santa Barbara harbor to the ship still afloat five miles south of Santa Rosa Island.

The Navy said a board of inquiry would be appointed.

'Friendly' Viets Arrested as Cong Terrorist Squad

SAIGON (AP) — Two Vietnamese chauffeurs for the U.S. Military Assistance Command headquarters in Saigon have been arrested as part of Viet Cong sabotage and assassination squad, the national police announced today.

The U.S. Military Command confirmed that the two men were dispatch drivers at the motor pool next to the command's Pentagon East headquarters at Tan Son Nhut Airport. Their duties included driving for U.S. officers below the rank of general.

The police presented the sabotage squad of six men and a woman at a news conference and said they had been captured on the outskirts of Saigon at the end of July along with nine Chinese pistols and a quantity of explosives.

Col. Tran Van Hai, the director-general of the national police, said the squad was under orders to assassinate U.S. and Vietnamese officials in Saigon and to blow up installations in the city.

Bridge Results

The following are the results of the bridge game held Aug. 8 at the Jewish Community Center.

On the North-South side, Linda Cavin and her mother, Mrs. Cavin won first place. Steve Harrison and Jim Naccarato took second spot, and third place went to Bud Schaefer and Al Rose.

On the East-West side, Alice and Al Crisafulli won first place. Second and third places were tied between Nancy Brabek and Jim Cavin, and Jan and Bob Yallum.

West Shokan News

WEST SHOKAN — The Olive Democratic Club held its annual picnic Sunday afternoon at the Town Recreation Grove. Music was provided for the informal event by Mike Apuzzo.

Rocky Off To Maine Estate

SEAL HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York is expected to spend two weeks at his summer estate in this coastal community for what aides term a "quiet rest."

The Republican governor and his wife, Happy, flew to Maine Monday from New York.

The aides said Rockefeller plans to go swimming and boating.

Such activities represent a complete change of pace for Rockefeller, who spent the last several months waging an all-out effort to win the Republican presidential nomination.

His cross-country campaign trips failed, however, to prevent a first-ballot victory for Richard M. Nixon at the GOP convention at Miami Beach last week.

HEART OF OLD TOWN — The corner of Crown and John Streets in Uptown Kingston remain much as they were in the early days of the settlement. Walking tours wend their way through the old streets listening for echoes of the past amid hustle and bustle of present business district. August walking tour with guides will be held Thursday starting 2 p. m. from the Gov. Clinton Hotel. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Invite Officials From County To Emergency Water Sessions

Ulster County officials have been invited to attend the latest in a statewide series of emergency water supply equipment training courses, it was announced recently by Douglas Johnston, Rockland County Civil Defense Director.

The course, conducted by the State Civil Defense Commission in cooperation with the Department of Transportation and Health, will be held at American Cyanamid Company's Lederle Laboratories in Pearl River on Wednesday, Aug. 14. The free training sessions are designed to familiarize local officials with the types of equipment available, the requirements available for borrowing equipment and a basic working knowledge of its operation.

Training will include instruction in the operation and maintenance of chlorinators, filters, purification units, pumps, generators, lightweight steel and aluminum pipe and other necessary equipment.

More than 81 communities and localities have utilized similar emergency water supply equipment made available by the State Civil Defense Commission in the past seven years.

In addition to Ulster, officials from Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, and Westchester Counties have been invited to attend. Arrangements for attending the sessions may be made through the local civil defense director.

Crime Also on Upswing in Latin America

By DANIEL DROSDOFF

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—If it's any comfort to you North Americans, crime is on the increase in much of Latin America, too, especially juvenile crime.

Although exact figures are hard to come by in most Latin American countries, and in some cases are non-existent, authorities in Colombia, Venezuela and Ecuador all report a marked rise in juvenile criminality. As is true in the United States this has included a big jump in car thefts, often of the "thrill ride" kind.

Argentina and Brazil police also report a steady crime increase, including juvenile delinquency, and a sharp jump in bank robberies. Peru authorities report that armed robbery has increased over previous years. All these countries noted a greater tendency on the part of criminals to "shoot it out" with police nowadays whereas in the past there was little of this.

In Mexico the press reports a consistently growing crime rate—even a current "crime wave"—although police claim the reports are exaggerated. Latest available figures for Mexico City alone show a sharp jump in recorded crimes—from 29,560 in 1965 to 44,229 in 1966.

Murder Leads

Of all major crimes in Mexico murder is the most common—so common that recently the Mexico City newspaper "El Sol" carried a two-column headline reading, "Amazing, No Murders for 24 Hours."

Murder rates in Mexico, however, can be deceiving, as they can be for other Latin American countries. Murder in Latin America is apt to be a crime of passion, or involve a personal quarrel or family feud.

Out and out murders for profit are relatively rare.

Street muggings and rapes also are less common in Latin and South America than in the United States, except in the worst city slum areas. In most of the larger Latin American cities—including Mexico City—despite its high murder rate—police boast that the streets are safer to walk at night than in United States cities.

Despite an over-all crime rate increase in Buenos Aires, major crime has fallen off in recent years except for bank robberies. The rise in statistics appears to be caused by the increase in juvenile crimes—minor thievery and car stealing.

Crime patterns have changed and experts attribute this to social changes. In Colombia crimes against property and robbery with assault have nearly doubled in the past 10 years, but murders have dropped sharply in a nation where political murder was once a common fact of life.

Stockade Echoes Still Ring

By JEAN F. DOLAN

There is an old adage about there being nothing new under the sun. Echoes in the Old Stockade area of uptown Kingston have a most timely ring.

The August guided walking tour to start Thursday 2 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel will take in much of the area where three centuries ago problems of community development plagued the settlers in surprisingly similar ways to the current urban growing pains.

"They objected on account of their poverty," "Everyone proposed his own place as being most conveniently located." These quotes are from Kingston in May of 1658 when the problem was Indians not urban renewal. But they do have a familiar ring.

Just as today, outside help was sought in solving the community problem and Peter Stuyvesant stepped in to iron out Wiltwyck's difficulties. He stipulated conditions for the protection of citizens in much the same way as the Department of Housing and Urban Development now lists the requirements that must be met for federal aid.

Stuyvesant and the settlers reached the final agreement which called for the building of the old stockade in 1658. In 1668 this area's present transitional pangs will be solved hopefully, with the cooperative efforts of citizens and government.

Another quote from the past sounds mighty like the political convention talk in the air this August—"They went out and after some time spent in deliberation—" Deliberators were not Republicans or Democrats in caucus but Indians, according to April, 1677 records of one of the first caucuses. Caucuses incidentally stems from the Algonquin "caucawasu" which was contracted for modern day political usage.

Even the jail situation has parallel in past and present. The First New York State Constitutional Convention meeting in Kingston in April, 1777 found—"from past want of care of the prisoners now confined in the jail, the same is supposed to have become unwholesome." A state inspection of local lock-up facilities last year found the jail "a house of despair." Studies are currently underway by the sheriff's committee of the county legislature to rectify the situation.

In the area where the echoes of the past still linger, the walking tour guides point out the boundaries of the old stockade built at Stuyvesant's insistence in 1658; the site of the court house where the stocks and pillory and "unwholesome jail" once stood, now replaced by the "new" courthouse of 1818.

Still reflecting the days when the stockade stood are the street names of North Front, so called because it formed the north front of the stockade: Main Street, the main approach across the "plains"; and Wall Street, unexpectedly not referring to the stockade wall but rather deriving from the Dutch word for "middle" street.

Wall Street when first laid out extended only from Main to John Streets. In 1828 it was lengthened to become the business center of the area. Extension of the main thoroughfare was made possible by removing the ruins of the house where Kingston artist, John Vanderlyn had lived on John Street.

Eighteenth century echoes are heard along the east front stockade boundary, known now as Clinton Avenue. The street was renamed in honor of the Revolutionary War hero and first governor of New York state, George Clinton.

Lost somewhere in the records are the present names of some of the other streets which grew up in the little settlement within the wooden stockade walls—Crown, Green, John and Fair Streets. Did Crown reluctantly recognize the British rule of later years or did it refer to the topography of the early settlement? And what of the other streets in the early hamlet, one wonders on a walking tour past early stone houses still in use in the midst of busy shops and offices.

Walking tours guided by volunteers well versed in the history and legend of the area wend through the early streets with stops at Old Dutch Church, Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR, House and the Senate House and Museum. Tours are conducted each third Thursday from May through October.

River Valley Group Applauds Niagara's Decision on Site

The Hudson River Valley Commission applauded a recent announcement by Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation that it was terminating further construction at this time at the site of a proposed nuclear power generating station at Easton.

The termination was attributed by the power company to delays in securing necessary approvals from the New York State Health Department and the Federal Atomic Energy Commission.

Alexander Aldrich, executive director of the Hudson River Valley Commission, spoke for that agency and offered further assistance to Niagara Mohawk in conducting studies of the effects of the plant and its thermal and gaseous discharges on the river and atmosphere around the Washington County site.

"The Commission is gratified that Niagara Mohawk has taken this step," Aldrich said. "It fully recognizes, as it stated in its findings on this subject may have dictated new flow last March, that there is need control regulations for the Hudson for additional power generating River-Black River Regulatory capacity not only in the state, but in the District; relation to the but in the capital district."

Apollo Moon Rocket Test to Begin Today

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

Ground testing begins today on the Apollo spaceship that will fly aboard the first manned Saturn 5 super rocket in January. The cone-shaped moonship arrived at Cape Kennedy Monday after a cross-country airplane trip from the plant of its prime contractor, North American Rockwell Corp. at Downey, Calif.

Scheduled to ride the spaceship on an earth-orbital mission in January are Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and Russell L. Schweickart, a civilian astronaut. Their flight, named Apollo 8, will be the first manned mission aboard a 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 rocket, the type of booster which is to hurl three astronauts to the moon late next year.

In late October or early November of this year, three other astronauts—Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham, a civilian—are scheduled to make America's first three-man space flight. They will be launched by a Saturn 1 rocket, however, forerunner of the larger Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon booster.

The Midwest: HHH Profits

By DAVID SMOTHERS

CHICAGO (UPI)—When the midwest roll is called at the Democratic National Convention, the verdict will probably go to Hubert H. Humphrey.

But a good segment of the delegates from the midlands may not be happy about it.

An imponderable number of delegates in the Midwest—as in the rest of the country—feel a sense of deprivation because they cannot vote for the man who might have been their first choice.

In the nine-state Midwest area, at least four of the delegations, perhaps more, would be casting their first ballots for Robert F. Kennedy if assassination had not robbed them of the chance.

Won Primary

But with Kennedy struck down on the night he won the South Dakota Primary—under the circumstances probably the least remembered of his victories—Midwest Democrats who backed him or thought they might have backed him have been restless, sometimes unhappily, casting around for an alternative.

The fact that the alternative is likely to be one of two of their own Midwest breed—Minnesota's Humphrey and Eugene J. McCarthy—has not proven much of a consolation for some of the delegation leaders.

A cool appraisal of the figures indicates Humphrey has profited most by the vacuum Kennedy left in the Midwest.

Humphrey need not worry, on the first few ballots at least, about the bulk of the vote from Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska and North Dakota. Had he lived, Kennedy would have had primary rights to two of these, Indiana and Nebraska. McCarthy, by virtue of another primary win, has all but eight of Wisconsin's 59 votes nailed down.

Delegation Uncommitted

The vice president probably should not trouble himself either about the elephant of Midwest Democratic delegations, 118 vote Illinois. Technically, the delegation is uncommitted, but its ranks include only two known McCarthy sympathizers.

Still, as it has been in the past, so it will probably be in Chicago this month: The Illinois delegates will not be quite sure who they are for until Richard John Daley, mayor of Chicago and lord of the Democratic party in these parts, tells them.

That time will probably come at a caucus just before the convention opens Aug. 26.

There are two other Midwesterners who will come to Chicago with a delegation tucked in their hip pockets. Both are favorite sons, both are running for the Senate, and both probably would have wound up as Kennedy stalwarts if the pattern of politics, 1968, had not been shattered in Los Angeles.

Of the two, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota also has the formal trappings of a bona fide, if tardy, candidate. In the middle of a tight race for reelection, McGovern was pressed into accepting a role as a convention rallying point for uncommitted Kennedyites from all over the nation.

McGovern had the credentials an idealistic, intellectual approach to politics, a winning record as a Democrat in a rock-ribbed Republican state, and logged times as a World War II air hero and a member of the John F. Kennedy Cabinet.

McGovern already had more than his share of troubles back home in South Dakota. His opponent in the senatorial election is Archie Gubbrud, a former Republican governor, handicapped.

And earlier this summer his 19-year-old daughter was arrested at Rapid City, S.D., where she was canvassing for her father. Police said "a quantity of Marijuana and other narcotic paraphernalia" was found in her motel room.

Pushed into national prominence and in trouble at home, McGovern probably can still hold South Dakota's 26 delegates for a couple of ballots. South Dakota is Humphrey's native state, but Kennedy beat a Humphrey slate in the primary and McGovern's ties with the Kennedy family go a long way back.

For Kennedy

The other favorite son to be reckoned with is Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa. A man of independent mind, Hughes revealed recently he was toying with announcing for Kennedy just before the assassination and presently is not particularly "thrilled with either Humphrey or McCarthy."

The 46-vote Iowa delegation had been pretty much Kennedy property. Now it is likely to stick with Hughes through the first ballot, at least, but the governor might throw it up for grabs after that. An important consideration in the minds of Iowa Democrats is that a recent poll showed Iowa farmers favoring McCarthy above all Republicans—and 72 to 28 per cent over Humphrey.

Both Hughes and McGovern have been whispered of as vice-presidential timber. There are other hot second stringers from the Midwest.

One is Sargent Shriver, a wearer of the Kennedy mantle by marriage and an Illinoisan according to the voting lists, although his present job as ambassador to France has taken him even further than usual from the Chicago hotel room he names as his voting address.

A darker horse is Adlai E. Stevenson III, state treasurer of Illinois and bearer of a famous name. Stevenson has been working his way back into Daley's graces after riling the mayor with implied criticism of Vietnam policies last spring. He could now emerge as Daley's choice—a potent endorsement of any vice presidential candidate.

And whether he likes it now or not, McCarthy cannot be ruled out as a vice presidential nominee.

Warren Spannaus, chairman of Minnesota's Democratic Farmer Labor Party, has already sent up some trial balloons for a Humphrey-McCarthy ticket. He admits they haven't flown very high. But Spannaus and other Democratic wheels have not forgotten how unlikely the pairing of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson once seemed to be—and how successful it became.

For the present, McCarthy's hard working partisans in the Midwest delegations brook no talk of second billing. Some of them are even unwilling to pledge support of any Democratic nominee other than the senior senator from Minnesota.

Laryngectomees Pick

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—James Christie of Rochester, N.Y., is the new president of the International Association of Laryngectomees—a group whose vocal chords have been removed.

His election Thursday came at the end of the organization's five-day meeting. More than 500 laryngectomees, speech teachers, therapists, doctors and nurses attended the sessions.

Christie lost his vocal chords in 1956 in an operation to remove a cancerous growth and since 1959 has devoted his life to helping others with the same handicap.

Warren Spannaus, chairman of Minnesota's Democratic Farmer Labor Party, has already sent up some trial balloons for a Humphrey-McCarthy ticket. He admits they haven't flown very high. But Spannaus and other Democratic wheels have not forgotten how unlikely the naming of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson once seemed to be—and how successful it became.

For the present, McCarthy's hard working partisans in the Midwest delegations brook no talk of second billing. Some of them are even unwilling to pledge support of any Democratic nominee other than the senior senator from Minnesota.

Laryngectomees Pick

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—James Christie of Rochester, N.Y., is the new president of the International Association of Laryngectomees—a group whose vocal chords have been removed.

His election Thursday came at the end of the organization's five-day meeting. More than 500 laryngectomees, speech teachers, therapists, doctors and nurses attended the sessions.

Christie lost his vocal chords in 1956 in an operation to remove a cancerous growth and since 1959 has devoted his life election is Archie Gubbrud, a former Republican governor, handicapped.

Hutton Ups Park Lead

Hutton Park widened its lead in the Recreation Department's city-wide tournament standings with a double win in last week's spelling bee contest.
Kathy Reece of Hutton won the girls senior title while Mike Corrado of Hutton captured the senior boy's crown. The double victory gave Hutton a total of 15 points in the overall summer standings, three ahead of runner-up Forsyth Park. When the final tabulations are made this week, the park that has accumulated the highest number of points will be named "Top Park of 1968" and will earn the right to lead the annual Children's Day Parade from the municipal auditorium to Dietz Stadium Wednesday.
Edward Forte of Loughran Park won this week's title in the boy's junior division while Eileen Lannen of Academy Green captured the junior girl's crown.
Last week's contest was the final city-wide tournament scheduled for this summer. This year's Recreation Department Summer Program concludes with the Children's Day parade and Lions Olympics Wednesday.

Conservation Dinner Fetes Two Retirees

Sidney O. Bascom, retiring director of District 13, Division of Lands and Forests of the New York State Conservation Department, and Raymond A. Henry, retiring Senior Locomotive Inspector for the Conservation Department, were honored Wednesday night at a testimonial dinner held at the Villa Lipani in New Paltz.

Both men, residents of Middletown, had headquarters in the Conservation Department's Regional Office building on South Putt Corners Road in New Paltz. Both had previously worked out of the District 13 office in Middletown.
Bascom had worked for the Conservation Department in various capacities for the past 38 years. His primary responsibilities were the supervision of fire control, forest practice and campsites and the administration of 140,000 acres of Forest Preserve land.
Henry was appointed Locomotive Inspector for the Conservation Department in 1926 and was promoted to the position of Senior Locomotive Inspector in 1948. He has worked for years with railroad companies in an attempt to reduce the number of forest fires caused by trains.
The dinner was attended by the families and co-workers of the two men as well as by many officials of the State Conservation Department.

Nixon Surges, Poll Indicates

NEW YORK (UPI)—An independent poll indicated Sunday that Richard M. Nixon's popularity has soared since he won the Republican nomination for president and he now has a commanding lead over any likely Democratic nominee.
More than half of the Republicans polled by Sindlinger and Co., Inc., said they agreed with Nixon's choice of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew as his running mate despite criticism from some GOP leaders.
A poll taken by the same company just before the Republican National Convention opened a week ago showed Nixon neck-and-neck with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and trailing Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy. That poll indicated that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would outpoll either of the Democratic hopefuls.
Albert E. Sindlinger, president of the polling firm, said the Nixon surge indicated by the new poll is "normal for a newly nominated candidate according to the pattern of the past 20 years."

$1.00 NO RISK OFFER—SPECIAL ENROLLMENT EXPIRES MIDNIGHT, AUGUST 25, 1968

LEAVE THE HOSPITAL WITH "EXTRA CASH" IN YOUR POCKET!

Now...a remarkable plan pays extra cash directly to you—even for life—in addition to any other insurance—even Medicare—tax-free extra cash to use as you wish!

Regardless of your age, occupation or size of your family, you get your first month for only $1.00!

During this Special Enrollment Period, you can enroll yourself and all eligible members of your family simply by mailing the Enrollment Form below with $1. There's nothing else to do—but you must mail your Enrollment before Midnight, August 25, 1968!

Think of it. Now, with a stroke of your pen, you can have tax-free, expense-free extra cash paid direct to you—not to the doctor or hospital—when a sudden accident or unexpected illness hospitalizes you or a covered member of your family! And you may enroll during this Special Enrollment Period without having to see a company representative and without any red tape whatsoever.

How you can get extra cash in addition to ordinary health insurance

All you need do is mail the Enrollment Form below together with just $1 before the expiration date. It's that easy!

Anyone who has been in the hospital recently knows ordinary hospital insurance—even Medicare—simply will not cover everything. You have to pay many "extras" out of your own pocket—and it can add up to hundreds of dollars in a frighteningly short time.

But even if your ordinary hospital insurance covers most of your medical and hospital bills, what about the bills that keep piling up at home?

If you, as husband, father and breadwinner are suddenly hospitalized, your income stops, your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of "salary insurance" it probably won't come close to replacing your full-time pay.

If your wife is suddenly hospitalized, who will look after the family, do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? You may have to take time off from your job—or hire full-time domestic help.

If one of your children is suddenly hospitalized you will certainly spare no expense. You wouldn't even want to think about the cost.

If you're over 65 and are suddenly hospitalized, Medicare won't pay all your hospital expenses or any household expenses. You won't want to use up savings it may have taken a lifetime to accumulate...you'll want to stay independent and not become a "burden" to your children or community.

Without "extra cash" protection, a hospital emergency may leave you with savings gone, debts you can't pay, peace of mind shattered—even your recovery can be seriously delayed by money worries!

How the plan pays off for you

But now, with Direct Extra Cash, you can help avoid these worries—because you can count on extra cash for every day, every week—week after week even for life—when you or any covered family member goes to the hospital. No matter how large your family, no matter what your age or occupation, you can choose whichever of the four low-cost plans shown at right suits your family best.

You may actually come out "Money Ahead"

Because the Direct Extra Cash Plan pays you in addition to any other company's health insurance—individual, group or even Medicare—and because all your extra cash benefits are tax-free, you may actually leave the hospital many dollars ahead... money you don't have to account for to anyone—extra cash in addition to anything and everything!

Extra cash benefits at surprisingly low cost

—Your first month for only $1

You get all of these extra benefits at a cost even less than you would expect! See the actual low rates in the panel at right. And, regardless of the plan you choose, your occupation, your age or size of your family, you get your entire first month for only $1.00!

How can we offer so much for so little?

The answer is simple: We have lower total sales costs. The Direct Extra Cash Plan is a mass enrollment plan. All business is conducted directly with you by mail. No salesmen or investigators are used. It all adds up to maximum protection at minimum cost for you.

Backed by Executive Fund, the most talked-about company in insurance circles today in addition to the wide range of benefits, the extra cash values, the surprisingly low cost, you get something even more valuable. Your policy is backed by a legal reserve company, a company talked about today as "the breakthrough company" because it has pioneered—safely and soundly—several of the most important insurance developments in years.

For example, this company—Executive Fund Life Insurance Company—has introduced the first major price breakthrough in years, offering exactly the same kinds of life insurance people could buy from anyone else, but with one important difference: the price is lower!

Executive Fund saves millions of dollars for thousands of life insurance policyholders throughout the nation because it is probably the only company in the United States that sells its policies without salesmen and without salesmen's commissions. Serving policyholders all over America by mail from its headquarters in Mid-America—in Omaha, Nebraska, where it is incorporated and licensed—Executive Fund is managed by a group of highly respected, responsible insurance executives with many long years of experience, dedicated to giving you the very best protection at the very lowest cost.

Easy to enroll! No salesman will call!

Take a moment right now to fill out your Enrollment Form and mail it with only $1.00 for your first month. We will issue your Direct Extra Cash Policy (Form P308 Series) immediately—the same day we receive your form. This automatically puts your policy in force. Along with your policy you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form that makes it possible for us to pay extra cash direct to you, the fastest, easiest way.

$100 every week for you
(See all plans below)
$75 every week for your wife
(See All-Family and Husband-Wife plans below)
$50 every week for each eligible child
(See All-Family and One-Parent Family plans below)
$350 every week you and your wife are both injured (See All-Family and Husband-Wife plans below)

PLUS Double cash benefits for cancer and heart attack
Extra cash extended in event of death

ALL PAID AS LONG AS YOU OR ANY COVERED FAMILY MEMBER IS HOSPITALIZED—EVEN FOR LIFE!

CHOOSE THE PLAN THAT SUITS YOU BEST

ALL-FAMILY PLAN

PAYS YOU: $100 weekly extra cash when you are hospitalized. $75 weekly when your wife is hospitalized. $50 weekly for each eligible child hospitalized.

If you are a young, growing family, we recommend the All-Family Plan. You and your wife are covered, and all your children (including future additions) between 3 months of age and under 23 are included at no extra cost as long as they are unmarried and live at home.

You pay only $7.95 a month and you get your first month for only $1.00!

HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN

PAYS YOU: $100 weekly extra cash when you are hospitalized. $75 weekly when your wife is hospitalized.

If you have no children, or if your children are grown and no longer dependent on you, you will want the Husband-Wife Plan.

You pay only $5.95 a month and you get your first month for only $1.00!

ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN

PAYS YOU: $100 weekly extra cash when you are hospitalized. $50 weekly for each eligible child hospitalized.

If you are the only parent living with your children, we suggest the One-Parent Family Plan. It covers you and all unmarried children living at home between 3 months of age and under 23. Under this plan, of course, future additions are not included since no maternity benefit is provided in the One-Parent Family Plan.

You pay only $5.95 a month and you get your first month for only $1.00!

INDIVIDUAL PLAN

PAYS YOU: $100 weekly extra cash when you are hospitalized.

If you are living by yourself, or if you wish to cover only yourself or one family member, choose the Individual Plan.

You pay only $3.50 monthly and you get your first month for only $1.00!

SPECIAL EXTRA BENEFITS!

Double extra cash benefits

Whichever plan you choose, you get:

100% increase in your cash benefits

...if you or any covered family member is hospitalized by cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease) or heart attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis or coronary occlusion).

If you choose the All-Family or Husband-Wife Plan, you get:

100% increase in your cash benefits

...if both you and your wife are injured and hospitalized at the same time. You get twice the regular combined benefit—$350 a week!

For the first time—Extended extra cash in event of death!

In addition to all the regular and double cash benefits, here is a real plus: in case of death in the hospital from any condition covered by your policy—accident, sickness, even natural causes—special extended extra cash benefits provide an extra two weeks of benefits for each covered family member on all plans: $200 for you, $150 for your wife, $100 for each child—all in addition to all other benefits.

IF YOU ARE OVER 65

Even though Medicare will pay most of your hospital expenses, it will not cover all of your needs. During this limited enrollment, you can get the extra cash protection needed during the high-risk senior years without any qualifications just by using the form below!

It's a fact that people over 65 go to hospitals more often and have larger hospital bills. That's exactly why they need extra cash protection! And that's why some hospital plans won't accept them or charge rates beyond their means. But the Direct Extra Cash Plan not only accepts you regardless of age, it gives you easy-to-carry protection that is within your means. If you are over 65 now, or when you become 65, the following modest monthly increase applies:

Female on All-Family or Husband-Wife Plan$2.25
Female on One-Parent Family or Individual Plan 3.00
Male on any Plan 3.00

ALL ACCIDENTS AND NEW SICKNESSES COVERED IMMEDIATELY—EVEN PRE-EXISTING CONDITIONS COVERED AFTER ONE YEAR

Important: No matter which plan you choose, extra cash is paid directly to you—even for one day—for as long and for as many times as you or any covered family member is hospitalized—even for life!

The Direct Extra Cash Plan covers you immediately for any new accident or sickness.

You're covered for any accident on or off the job—anytime, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, anywhere in the world.

You're covered for sicknesses of all kinds—major or minor—even for pre-existing conditions (old conditions that come back again and again or are likely to recur) after your policy has been in force for just 12 months. And, if you select the All-Family Plan, even maternity is covered after your policy has been in force for 10 months.

Only a few minimum exceptions

There are only these few minimum exceptions: war, military service, mental disorder, alcoholism, drug addiction or attempted suicide. You may go to any hospital of your choice—even government hospitals—but not nursing homes, convalescent or rest homes or self-care units.

Enjoy life-long security

For as long as you live and pay your premiums, we will never refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—in fact, we guarantee that we will never cancel or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. Moreover, no change can ever be made in your rate unless we make a general change for all persons of the same classification in your entire state.

$1 NO RISK ENROLLMENT OFFER MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

When you receive your policy, you'll see that it is honest and easy to understand. But if for any reason whatsoever you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and we will promptly refund your dollar.

IMPORTANT: We can only accept your enrollment if it is postmarked on or before the date shown below. But please don't wait until the last moment. The sooner we receive your form, the sooner the Direct Extra Cash Plan will cover you. You risk nothing by acting promptly. You may actually risk losing hundreds of dollars in "extra cash" benefits if you delay. Mail your enrollment form today.

19 Important Questions Answered

ABOUT THE NEW DIRECT EXTRA CASH PLAN

- 1. What is the Direct Extra Cash Plan?
The Direct Extra Cash Plan is an entirely new, low-cost plan that pays extra cash direct to you when sudden accident or unexpected illness hospitalizes you or any covered member of your family.
- 2. Why should I have the Direct Extra Cash Plan in addition to my regular insurance?
Because your present insurance probably won't cover all your hospital expenses, but even if it does, you can still use the extra cash to help with your household expenses when you're hospitalized...extra cash week after week even for life...extra cash you can use any way you wish!
- 3. Can I collect even if I carry other health insurance?
Yes. Direct Extra Cash pays you in addition to any health insurance you carry, whether individual or group—even in addition to Workmen's Compensation and Medicare! And, all your benefits are tax-free!
- 4. Is there a lot of red tape to qualify?
None at all. During this special enrollment period, there are no qualifications. Simply complete and mail your Enrollment Form by the deadline date shown.
- 5. Which plan should I choose?
You may choose any of four low-cost plans—you can actually select the exact plan that suits you best!
If you are a young, growing family, we recommend the ALL-FAMILY PLAN. You and your wife are covered at once for new sicknesses and injuries, and for maternity benefits after 10 months. All your children (and future additions) between 3 months and under 23 are included, at no extra cost, as long as they are unmarried and live at home.
If you are the only parent living with your children, we suggest the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN. This covers you and all unmarried children living at home between 3 months of age and under 23. Under this plan, of course, future additions are not included since no maternity benefit is provided.
If you have no children, or if your children are grown and no longer dependent on you, you will want the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN.
Or, if you are living by yourself, choose the INDIVIDUAL PLAN.
- 6. If I become hospitalized, when do my extra cash benefits begin? How long can I be paid?
On all plans, you collect from the very first day you

- enter the hospital, even for one day—for as long—and for as many times—as you are hospitalized—a week, a month, a year—even for life.
- 7. How much can I be paid?
ALL-FAMILY PLAN—$100.00 a week extra cash income for you; $75.00 weekly for your wife; $50.00 weekly for each of your eligible children.
ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN—$100.00 weekly for you; $50.00 weekly for each of your eligible children.
HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN—$100.00 weekly for you; $75.00 weekly for your wife.
INDIVIDUAL PLAN—$100.00 a week for you.
- 8. What if my wife and I are both hospitalized at the same time?
If you have the ALL-FAMILY or HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN and are hospitalized by sickness, you collect $100 a week, your wife $75 a week, a total of $175 weekly. But if you are injured and hospitalized at the same time, your benefit will be doubled—$200 for you, $150 for your wife—a total of $350 a week!
- 9. Are there any other "double" extra cash benefits?
Yes. On all plans you receive double cash benefits if you or any covered family member is hospitalized for cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease), or heart attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis, or coronary occlusion): $200.00 a week for you, $150.00 a week for your wife, $100.00 a week for each eligible child.
- 10. Tell me about the "extended" extra cash benefits.
In the event of death in the hospital of any covered family member from any condition covered by your policy, a lump sum cash benefit will be paid: $200 on you, $150 on the wife, $100 on each child.
- 11. Does this plan pay in any hospital?
You will be covered in any hospital of your choice—even government hospitals—except nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals.
- 12. When does my policy go into force?
It becomes effective the very same day we receive your Enrollment Form. New sicknesses and injuries are covered on that date. Under the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, childbirth, pregnancy and any consequences thereof are covered after your policy is in force for 10 months.

- 13. What if someone in my family has had a health problem that may occur again?
Even if one of your covered family members has had chronic ailments in the past, pre-existing conditions are covered after the policy has been in force for just one year.
- 14. What conditions aren't covered?
Only these minimum necessary exceptions: pregnancy or any consequence thereof (unless you have the ALL-FAMILY PLAN), war, military service, mental disorder, alcoholism, drug addiction, or attempted suicide.
- 15. Can I drop out any time? Can you drop me?
We will never refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums. In fact, we guarantee that we will never cancel or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.
- 16. Will my claims be handled promptly?
Yes. With your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your extra cash sent directly to you.
- 17. Why are the premiums so low?
With the Direct Extra Cash Plan, you actually get all these benefits—at such a low cost—because this is a mass enrollment plan—and no salesmen are used. Our volume is higher and our total sales costs are lower.
- 18. How much does my first month cost?
Only $1.00 regardless of your age, the size of your family or the plan you select. After the first month, if you are under 65, you pay only these low monthly rates: only $7.95 a month for the ALL-FAMILY PLAN; only $5.95 a month for the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN; only $5.95 a month for the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN; only $3.50 a month for the INDIVIDUAL PLAN. (When you are over 65, premiums are adjusted. See modest increase in panel above.) No other change can ever be made in your rate, unless we make a general change for all persons of the same classification in your entire state.
- 19. Why should I enroll right now?
Because an unexpected sickness or injury could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.

IF YOU ARE OVER 65

Even though Medicare will pay most of your hospital expenses, it will not cover all of your needs. During this limited enrollment, you can get the extra cash protection needed during the high-risk senior years without any qualifications just by using the form below!

It's a fact that people over 65 go to hospitals more often and have larger hospital bills. That's exactly why they need extra cash protection! And that's why some hospital plans won't accept them or charge rates beyond their means. But the Direct Extra Cash Plan not only accepts you regardless of age, it gives you easy-to-carry protection that is within your means. If you are over 65 now, or when you become 65, the following modest monthly increase applies:

Female on All-Family or Husband-Wife Plan	$2.25
Female on One-Parent Family or Individual Plan	3.00
Male on any Plan	3.00

During this Special Enrollment Period, you can enroll yourself and all eligible members of your family simply by mailing the Enrollment Form below with $1. There's nothing else to do—but you must mail your Enrollment before Midnight, August 25, 1968!

Think of it. Now, with a stroke of your pen, you can have tax-free, expense-free extra cash paid direct to you—not to the doctor or hospital—when a sudden accident or unexpected illness hospitalizes you or a covered member of your family! And you may enroll during this Special Enrollment Period without having to see a company representative and without any red tape whatsoever.

How you can get extra cash in addition to ordinary health insurance

All you need do is mail the Enrollment Form below together with just $1 before the expiration date. It's that easy!

Anyone who has been in the hospital recently knows ordinary hospital insurance—even Medicare—simply will not cover everything. You have to pay many "extras" out of your own pocket—and it can add up to hundreds of dollars in a frighteningly short time. But even if your ordinary hospital insurance covers most of your medical and hospital bills, what about the bills that keep piling up at home?

If you, as husband, father and breadwinner are suddenly hospitalized, your income stops, your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of "salary insurance" it probably won't come close to replacing your full-time pay.

If your wife is suddenly hospitalized, who will look after the family, do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? You may have to take time off from your job—or hire full-time domestic help.

If one of your children is suddenly hospitalized you will certainly spare no expense. You wouldn't even want to think about the cost.

If you're over 65 and are suddenly hospitalized, Medicare won't pay all your hospital expenses or any household expenses. You won't want to use up savings it may have taken a lifetime to accumulate...you'll want to stay independent and not become a "burden" to your children or community.

Without "extra cash" protection, a hospital emergency may leave you with savings gone, debts you can't pay, peace of mind shattered—even your recovery can be seriously delayed by money worries!

How the plan pays off for you

But now, with Direct Extra Cash, you can help avoid these worries—because you can count on extra cash for every day, every week—week after week even for life—when you or any covered family member goes to the hospital. No matter how large your family, no matter what your age or occupation, you can choose whichever of the four low-cost plans shown at right suits your family best.

You may actually come out "Money Ahead!"

Because the Direct Extra Cash Plan pays you in addition to any other company's health insurance—individual, group or even Medicare—and because all your extra cash benefits are tax-free, you may actually leave the hospital many dollars ahead...money you don't have to account for to anyone—extra cash in addition to anything and everything!

Extra cash benefits at surprisingly low cost—Your first month for only $1

You get all of these extra benefits at a cost even less than you would expect! See the actual low rates in the panel at right. And, regardless of the plan you choose, your occupation, your age or size of your family, you get your entire first month for only $1.00!

How can we offer so much for so little?

The answer is simple: We have lower total sales costs. The Direct Extra Cash Plan is a mass enrollment plan. All business is conducted directly with you by mail. No salesmen or investigators are used. It all adds up to maximum protection at minimum cost for you.

Backed by Executive Fund, the most talked-about company in insurance circles today

In addition to the wide range of benefits, the extra cash values, the surprisingly low cost, you get something even more valuable. Your policy is backed by a legal reserve company. A company talked about today as "the breakthrough company" because it has pioneered—safely and soundly—several of the most important insurance developments in years.

For example, this company—Executive Fund Life Insurance Company—has introduced the first major price breakthrough in years, offering exactly the same kinds of life insurance people could buy from anyone else, but with one important difference: the price is lower!

Executive Fund saves millions of dollars for thousands of life insurance policyholders throughout the nation because it is probably the only company in the United States that sells its policies without salesmen and without salesmen's commissions. Serving policyholders all over America by mail from its headquarters in Mid-America—in Omaha, Nebraska, where it is incorporated and licensed—Executive Fund is managed by a group of highly respected, responsible insurance executives with many long years of experience, dedicated to giving you the very best protection at the very lowest cost.

Easy to enroll! No salesman will call!

Take a moment right now to fill out your Enrollment Form and mail it with only $1.00 for your first month. We will issue your Direct Extra Cash Policy (Form P308 Series) immediately—the same day we receive your form. This automatically puts your policy in force. Along with your policy you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form that makes it possible for us to pay extra cash direct to you, the fastest, easiest way.

19 Important Questions Answered

ABOUT THE NEW DIRECT EXTRA CASH PLAN

1. What is the Direct Extra Cash Plan?

The Direct Extra Cash Plan is an entirely new, low-cost plan that pays extra cash direct to you when sudden accident or unexpected illness hospitalizes you or any covered member of your family.

2. Why should I have the Direct Extra Cash Plan in addition to my regular insurance?

Because your present insurance probably won't cover all your hospital expenses, but even if it does, you can still use the extra cash to help with your household expenses when you're hospitalized...extra cash week after week even for life...extra cash you can use any way you wish!

3. Can I collect even if I carry other health insurance?

Yes. Direct Extra Cash pays you in addition to any health insurance you carry, whether individual or group—even in addition to Workmen's Compensation and Medicare! And, all your benefits are tax-free!

4. Is there a lot of red tape to qualify?

None at all. During this special enrollment period, there are no qualifications. Simply complete and mail your Enrollment Form by the deadline date shown.

5. Which plan should I choose?

You may choose any of four low-cost plans—you can actually select the exact plan that suits you best!

If you are a young, growing family, we recommend the ALL-FAMILY PLAN. You and your wife are covered at once for new sicknesses and injuries, and for maternity benefits after 10 months. All your children (and future additions) between 3 months and under 23 are included, at no extra cost, as long as they are unmarried and live at home.

If you are the only parent living with your children, we suggest the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN. This covers you and all unmarried children living at home between 3 months of age and under 23. Under this plan, of course, future additions are not included since no maternity benefit is provided.

If you have no children, or if your children are grown and no longer dependent on you, you will want the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN.

Or, if you are living by yourself, choose the INDIVIDUAL PLAN.

6. If I become hospitalized, when do my extra cash benefits begin? How long can I be paid?

On all plans, you collect from the very first day you enter the hospital, even for one day—for as long—and for as many times—as you are hospitalized—a week, a month, a year—even for life.

7. How much can I be paid?

ALL-FAMILY PLAN—$100.00 a week extra cash income for you; $75.00 weekly for your wife; $50.00 weekly for each of your eligible children.

ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN—$100.00 weekly for you; $50.00 weekly for each of your eligible children.

HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN—$100.00 weekly for you; $75.00 weekly for your wife.

INDIVIDUAL PLAN—$100.00 a week for you.

8. What if my wife and I are both hospitalized at the same time?

If you have the ALL-FAMILY or HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN and are hospitalized by sickness, you collect $100 a week, your wife $75 a week, a total of $175 weekly. But if you are injured and hospitalized at the same time, your benefit will be doubled—$200 for you, $150 for your wife—a total of $350 a week!

9. Are there any other "double" extra cash benefits?

Yes. On all plans you receive double cash benefits if you or any covered family member is hospitalized for cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease), or heart attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis, or coronary occlusion); $200.00 a week for you, $150.00 a week for your wife, $100.00 a week for each eligible child.

10. Tell me about the "extended" extra cash benefits.

In the event of death in the hospital of any covered family member from any condition covered by your policy, a lump sum cash benefit will be paid: $200 on you, $150 on the wife, $100 on each child.

11. Does this plan pay in any hospital?

You will be covered in any hospital of your choice—even government hospitals—except nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals.

12. When does my policy go into force?

It becomes effective the very same day we receive your Enrollment Form. New sicknesses and injuries are covered on that date. Under the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, childbirth, pregnancy and any consequences thereof are covered after your policy is in force for 10 months.

13. What if someone in my family has had a health problem that may occur again?

Even if one of your covered family members has had chronic ailments in the past, pre-existing conditions are covered after the policy has been in force for just one year.

14. What conditions aren't covered?

Only these minimum necessary exceptions: pregnancy or any consequence thereof (unless you have the ALL-FAMILY PLAN); war, military service, mental disorder, alcoholism, drug addiction, or attempted suicide.

15. Can I drop out any time? Can you drop me?

We will never refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums. In fact, we guarantee that we will never cancel or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.

16. Will my claims be handled promptly?

Yes. With your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your extra cash sent directly to you.

17. Why are the premiums so low?

With the Direct Extra Cash Plan, you actually get all these benefits—at such a low cost—because this is a mass enrollment plan—and no salesmen are used. Our volume is higher and our total sales costs are lower.

18. How much does my first month cost?

Only $1.00 regardless of your age, the size of your family or the plan you select. After the first month, if you are under 65, you pay only these low monthly rates: only $7.95 a month for the ALL-FAMILY PLAN; only $5.95 a month for the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN; only $5.95 a month for the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN; only $3.50 a month for the INDIVIDUAL PLAN. (When you are over 65, premiums are adjusted. See modest increase in panel above.) No other change can ever be made in your rate, unless we make a general change for all persons of the same classification in your entire state.

19. Why should I enroll right now?

Because an unexpected sickness or injury could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.

HOME FROM HONG KONG—Richard Schenck, a foreign service officer, his wife and two children, Laura and Donald, view slides of Hong Kong taken during Schenck's two-year tour as vice consul. The next stop for the Schencks is Bangkok, Thailand, in early September. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Hong Kong Long Way Off-- But 'Home' to Local Folk

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Any direction you choose, Hong Kong is way out, 12,000 miles out, but to Richard Schenck and his family it has been home for the past two years while he served as vice consul in the British Crown Colony.

Schenck, 37, is the son of Mrs. Anne E. Schenck of 753 Broadway. His wife, Tamara, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Taran of Hickory Bush, north of Rosendale.

Economy, GIs to Resnick

Interviewed by The Freeman at his wife's parent's home where the family is staying while on leave, Schenck discussed the government of Hong Kong, its relationship to Red China, less than 20 miles away, the city's economy and visiting Americans including GIs on leave from Vietnam and Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

Hong Kong is the largest of a group of Islands off the coast of China. It has been a British Crown Colony since 1841 following one of the Opium Wars. As such, it is entirely controlled by the British under a governor appointed by the Queen. The legislature is composed of two houses, the legislative branch made up of civic leaders and the executive council, composed of department heads. Neither have veto power over the governor.

The highest ranking American on the island is Consul General Edwin Martin, whom Schenck describes as "a top man in his field." Martin was born of missionary parents in India and has been in the Far East ever since.

While the British maintain a military establishment in Hong Kong and rule the island, it is understood that the island exists in its present governmental form purely at the whim of the Chinese on the mainland.

The Chinese play a major part in the life of Hong Kong by supplying inexpensive food and operating department stores with prices in line with the meager wages paid factory workers in the city.

Much Trade with Peking

A major portion of the trade is carried out with Red China which Britain recognizes but the United States does not. The Chinese use Hong Kong dollars (six to the U. S. dollar) to buy western products because the Hong Kong dollar is recognized as stable currency the world over.

While the Chinese can take over Hong Kong, if they so choose, in a matter of hours, they do not have a government agency on the island. The only contact between Americans and Chinese is through intermediaries in Warsaw, Poland.

Schenck said the riots in Hong Kong this year were not as serious as depicted in some newspapers and merely reflected the inner turmoil on the mainland. Hong Kong actually extends onto the mainland across a narrow channel due to another British agreement in 1900. The strip of land is 17 miles long and 12 miles deep.

Hong Kong is a tourists' haven although it has yet to reach its potential due to the distance and expense of getting there. $1,200 one-way by jet, a trip that takes 20 hours.

However, Schenck feels that those tourists who go to Hong Kong merely for the bargains on cameras, optical goods and electronic merchandise are missing the true beauty of the island.

During the interview with a Freeman reporter, Schenck showed slides he and his wife had taken of Hong Kong from their home high in the mountains. The homes are built into the mountains and one can look almost directly down at Hong Kong harbor. In addition, there are many beautiful islands within short boating distance.

GI Record Excellent

Schenck also spoke of American servicemen visiting Hong Kong from Vietnam, about two hours away by air. "Their record has been excellent," Schenck said. "There have been very few complaints. The soldiers are normally given five days of rest and recreation after six months of duty in Vietnam."

When Congressman Resnick made his Christmas trip to the Far East, Schenck was his personal escort while the Ellenville Democrat was in Hong Kong. Schenck confirmed that Resnick used his own money while in Hong Kong. "We're allowed to issue up to $50 a day for government officials on official business," he said. "Congressman Resnick did not take any money."

Next stop for Schenck and his family will be Bangkok, Thailand where he expects to serve in the political research section of the American consulate for from two to four years. Schenck says he's looking forward to Thailand. "It's where the action is and besides, I understand Americans are very popular over there."

Schenck heartily recommends Hong Kong as a tourist spot. "The best time of the year is autumn," he said. "It's cold in the winter, steaming hot in the summer and it rains all spring but autumn is perfect."

Schenck expects Hong Kong to "really boom" as a tourist spot with the development of supersonic giant jets which will bring down the cost of traveling there. "It should be one of the greatest tourists attractions in the world," he told The Freeman.

Schenck addressed the Kingston Lions Club at their weekly luncheon today and will be guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon tomorrow. He leaves for Thailand by way of Washington Aug. 26.

Lake Mohonk Garden Holiday Scheduled Aug. 26 to 30th

Having reached the quarter-century mark, the Lake Mohonk Mountain House will feature a varied horticultural program for its annual Garden Holiday which will begin Aug. 26 and continue through Aug. 30.

Virtually carved out of the side of a mountain, the famous Mohonk gardens are set in one of the most scenic areas of New York State.

The Mountain House and gardens is located six miles west of New Paltz.

Mrs. Ruth Smiley is coordinator of the 1968 program and Mrs. Philip Foster, editor of the Herb Growers Magazine, and author of Herbs for Every Garden, will deliver a talk on the subject.

Bonsai gardening and the joys of carefree gardening will be discussed and demonstrated by Jean Hersey and Jerald P.

Stowell. Miss Hersey is the author of a recently published book, Shape of a Year.

Stowell is the author of Bonsai Indoors and Out, and is past president of the Bonsai Society of New York and the American Bonsai Society.

Daniel and Keith Smiley, co-owners of the Lake Mohonk

Mountain House and its 7,500-acre property, are scheduled to talk on conservation, the pruning of shrubs and trees, and practical gardening.

A show garden, rock-wall and herb gardens, pools, a fern walk and an extensive collection of flowering shrubs and specimen trees will be featured for the Lake Mohonk Holiday guests. Both the mountain house and gardens are situated at the side of a mountain at an altitude of 1,253 feet, beside a lake which overlooks the Rondout Valley.

All of the soil used in the creation of the gardens had to be transported to the site.

Pageant Clinic to Be Held Aug. 27

A pre-rehearsal clinic for all contestants of this year's Miss Ulster County Pageant to be held Sept. 14 has been scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 27 at 7:30 p. m. in Britt's Department Store community room, Kingston Shopping Plaza.

Herbert G. Lachmann, executive director said all phases of the scholarship pageant will be discussed with the production staff.

A schedule of rehearsals to start Wednesday, Sept. 4, is listed in a four-page guide to contestants which every entrant will receive.

The guide explains various phases of the pageant, types of clothing, what the judges will be looking for and lists basic parts of the county have resulted in nominations for more than 14 contestants.

The winner and two runners-up will share in $1,000 worth of scholarships at schools of their own choosing. The new Miss Ulster County to succeed Janis S. Johnson of West Hurley will represent this area in the 1969 Miss New York State Pageant at Olean next July.

Mino Hands Down Sentences In Two Cases

Sentences were handed down last week by County Judge Raymond J. Mino in two cases coming before county court.

Ramon Rodriguez, 38 of Ellenville, who pleaded guilty to a charge of assault, second degree was committed to county jail for one year. Murray Gaiman appeared for the defendant.

Rodriguez was charged in connection with a stabbing incident Jan. 14 at Gene's Tavern in Ellenville in which Alberta Smith of Ellenville reportedly suffered chest wounds.

Edward J. Dickey of Hunter Street, city, changed his plea to guilty of criminal trespass, second degree and petit larceny. He was sentenced to six months in county jail for the petit larceny charge and three months in jail for criminal trespass.

Dickey was held in connection with a burglary of Chic's Rendezvous, 765 Broadway on Feb. 1. Vincent Bradley appeared for the defendant. Assistant District Attorney Edward M.P. Greene appeared for the DA's office in both cases.

Bridge Results

The Glenrie Bridge Club held its regular fractional point game at the Elk's Club on Fair Street and played 21 boards in a Mitchell movement.

On the North-South side Mrs. Jean Madden of Ellenville and Hilden Rector of Poughkeepsie took first place. Second place went to Arling Kalleberg and Dr. John Roberts of Kingston. Third spot went to Dr. John Olivet and Jack Karger of Kingston.

On the East-West side Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson of Kingston took first place. Second and third places were tied by Mr. and Mrs. Ernst LeFevre of Hurley and Dr. John Comstock of Kingston and Michael Liuni of Tillson.

The Glenrie Bridge Club will hold its open Mixed Pairs Club Championship at the Elk's Club this Tuesday, Aug. 13 at 7:30 p.m. All bridge players are welcome.

'Make Streets Safe' Says GFWC President

"In a civilized society it is unthinkable that a woman cannot walk on the streets at night without fear," said Mrs. Walter Varney Magee, president of the 11-million-member General Federation of Women's Clubs in her inaugural address in Boston on June 14. "If you make them safe for women they are safe for all."

Mrs. Magee considers crime prevention of paramount importance during her two-year administration. She has appointed Mrs. Margaret Moore, an experienced anti-crime crusader, to head the GFWC Law Observance and Crime Prevention Crusade for Light Division, which places special emphasis on a crusade for adequate street lighting.

Since 1962, Mrs. Moore has been coordinator of the Indianapolis Anti-Crime Crusade, which was cited in the 1966 report of the President's Crime Commission as an outstanding example of citizen action to alleviate crime.

Organization of the Indianapolis crusade followed public indignation when a 90-year-old retired teacher was fatally injured in front of her apartment by a 15-year-old purse snatcher. The editor of the Indianapolis News, where Mrs. Moore works in the public relations department, asked her to invite 30 women to a luncheon to get their ideas on combatting crime.

These women were the first members of the Anti-Crime Crusade. Their first project: better lighting. The group later came to include 50,000 women from 2,000 organizations. Their list of projects grew to include such things as court watching, cleaning up neighborhoods, encouraging dropouts to return to school and helping to get pay raises for police.

Mrs. Moore attributes success of the group to the fact that they study first, ask public officials know they can help instead of telling them, and start with small projects.

"Before we asked City Council to approve money for more street lighting, we compared maps with each street light marked against maps of areas with high crime rates," Mrs. Moore explains. "More crimes occurred in darkened areas."

In addition to working with maps, the street lighting committee circulated petitions, attended many official board meetings and budget hearings.

The committee's activity has resulted in the city installing more than 9,000 new high-powered street lights. Property owners were also urged to examine the adequacy of lighting of such crime-prone sites as apartment house areas and warehouse docks. As a result, more than 6,000 dusk-to-dawn mercury vapor lights were installed on private property.

According to Mrs. Moore, spot surveys showed some street crimes dropped as much as 84 per cent in areas affected by the lighting campaign.

To see what could be done about dropouts, the Indianapolis group asked school officials for a list of names. Officials were skeptical, but provided an initial list of 28 names. After 26 of these 28 returned to school, skepticism vanished.

The number of dropouts persuaded to return to school now numbers over 2,000.

Another Indianapolis project which has won acclaim from juvenile authorities is educating children on the law as it applies to them. Nearly 66,000 children are visited annually under Crusade auspices by policemen, who explain the law and answer questions.

Word of these and other Indianapolis Anti-Crime Crusade projects has spread coast-to-coast. Mrs. Moore has spoken to an estimated 1,000 adult and teen-age groups.

Mrs. Magee hopes her law observance and crime prevention chairman's enthusiasm and know-how will lead to effective action by other GFWC clubs. Objectives Mrs. Magee hopes to accomplish include: promoting the necessity to provide funds for an adequate number of law enforcement officials, inculcating a respect for those in authority, providing scholarships for policemen to attend law enforcement training programs, conferring with police as to how individuals may protect themselves and their property from criminals, and getting police representatives to speak at club meetings.

Little Gardens Club Of Kingston Plans September Show

The Little Gardens Club of Kingston will sponsor a standard flower show on Thursday, Sept. 12, at the Education Building of Hurley Reformed Church.

Mrs. Anteo Marchetti, president, has appointed Mrs. J. Joseph Carroll, general show chairman. Work on the special junior exhibits has been started by Mrs. Marshall Hughes, chairman, who is working with Mrs. Jay Plonsky in correlating the work of the girls in Junior Girl Scout Troop 166 with that planned for exhibit in the flower show.

Standard flower show schedules include junior classes in horticulture and artistic along with special junior exhibits. An anti-litter project has been started by the juniors which will result in a special featured showing on September 12. This educational, constructive work will help the scouts toward earning three badges, Art in the Round, Gypsy and My Community.

Mrs. Anteo Marchetti, president, and Mrs. J. Joseph Carroll, general show chairman, of the Little Gardens Club of Kingston.

Cooking Contest Deadline Nearing

For those who intend to enter the Creative Cooking Contest at the New York State Fair, there remains only a few days. Entries must be submitted before Friday.

Entry forms may be obtained by writing: Art and Home Center, New York State Fair, Syracuse.

This year 142 classes open nearly every avenue of the culinary world for the cook who wishes to compete for some of the $1,921 in cash prizes offered. In addition, there will be special awards daily and grand prizes awarded on Labor Day. The contest features Austrian cooking along with refreshments for a recreation party, but the homemaker will also find the familiar categories for baking and canning.

Homemakers can pick up copies of winning recipes at the Department daily. The Fair opens in Syracuse on Tuesday, Aug. 27, and continues through Labor Day, Sept. 2.

Put Sunshine in Hair

Mousy brown or dirty blonde, here's the easiest way to put sunshine in your hair. Add a capful of peroxide to a cup of baby shampoo and mix. Baby shampoo is recommended because a harsh shampoo might contain ingredients that would react with the peroxide and cause the mixture to irritate your scalp. Work up a lather and allow it to remain on your hair for 10 minutes, then wash as usual and rinse thoroughly with warm water. For further lightening, you can add the juice of half a lemon to the final rinse water to dry your hair in the sunlight. There will be no drastic change in hair color—just a lighter and brighter shine.

Health Survey Finds U.S. 'Underdeveloped'

By LOUISE CHASE
Women's Medical News Service

NEW YORK (WMNS)—Seven out of eight poor women of child-bearing age cannot now have the number of children they want when they want them. They cannot now plan their families because communities across the land fail to provide them with subsidized family planning services. The conclusion of a comprehensive report that appears in the current issue of the Journal of Marriage and the Family is that the U.S. is an "underdeveloped country" in the area of family planning services.

The report notes that although about 98 per cent of all births in the United States take place in hospitals, with a physician present, hospitals do not for the most part provide family planning information and services for needy patients. According to a Ford Foundation study "less than five per cent of all United States short-term general hospitals had such services in 1965." Of the almost 5,000 hospitals with under 500 beds, where four out of five of all hospital births take place, only one in 30 reported the availability of family planning services. Fewer than one-fifth of hospitals with large maternity services reported providing these services in 1966.

Hospitals Lagging

The Journal study reports that "there is general agreement that hospital-based family planning services are the most effective and economic way of reaching large numbers of women at the very time they are likely to be most receptive to family planning information." In this connection, Dr. Howard C. Taylor Jr., Director of the International Institute for the Study of Human Reproduction, maintains that to work primarily in the hospital setting with women who have just completed a pregnancy is "to place the emphasis where maximum results could be obtained with a minimum of effort."

Local health departments, like hospitals, are also found to be serving poor women inadequately in the area of family planning. The report notes that only about 200,000 women were served through local health departments last year, although the network of such departments is considerable. Public health services are available in 2,425 of a total of 3,072 counties. But only one in three offers family planning services and some 10,000,000 people live in 650 counties not served by local health departments.

Budgets Inadequate

Although the last four Presidents of the United States publicly stated their belief that birth control is a vital health measure that should be available to all who want it, the federal government's budgetary support for birth control programs has been grossly inadequate. The report notes that in 1967 between $10 million and $12 million was allocated for direct family planning programs against an estimated annual need of about $100,000,000 to reach all the poor or medically indigent fertile women in the land not desiring pregnancy. The report concludes that "until the federal government sets a more realistic budget, a great many poor and near-poor women are going to continue to produce more children than they themselves want or can care for and will become more deeply mired in poverty."

Who the Poor Are

Contrary to popular opinion, the report notes that seven out of ten women needing subsidized family planning services are white. Two-thirds of the target group live in the nation's cities, and almost nine out of ten of them live in families which are self supporting. Two-thirds of them have less than 70 cents a day for food for each family member; the near-poor have less than 90 cents a day. Women living in these circumstances simply cannot afford to pay for family planning services and supplies and in many communities there are few or no free or low cost clinics readily available.

School where she studied German for three years and Spanish for two years, Miss Gardner is a member of the National Honor Society and has traveled extensively in the U.S., the West Coast, New England, and the West Indies.

Miss Gardner will be reporting for indoctrination at Hofstra University, Hempstead, on Monday, Aug. 19, and will leave on August 25 to spend the next 11 months with Mr. and Mrs. Friedrich - W. Kulenkampf, Bremen, Germany. She will attend a private school with her host sister at Freie Waldorf-Schule.

Miss Gardner, who plays piano, guitar, and violin, is a member of school orchestra and chorus. She takes an active interest in sports participating in tennis, swimming, horseback riding and canoeing. The Americans Abroad School program is sponsored through the efforts of the school and members of the community.

Garden Clubs Plan Ulster County Day

10 a. m. The session will begin with activity reports of the garden club presidents followed by a message from Mrs. Kenneth B. Robinson, 39 Kalina Drive, Saugerties, N.Y. Third District Director. A film on Anti-Litter will complete the morning session.

On the afternoon agenda, Mrs. Reuben Warrell, Albany County chairman, will present a visual aid program through use of overhead projection outlining "A Timetable for Flower Shows."

"Quality Is Beauty," a lecture by Mrs. William R. King, chairman of Judge's Council, Third District, will complete the program of the day. Through the lecture, Mrs. King will evaluate the "Little Flower Show How Beautiful Is My Country" for the three important Flower show Awards: Tri-Color, Award of Creativity, and the Award of Distinction.

The schedule for "How Beautiful Is My Country" was written and arranged by Mrs. Allen J. Indzonka, Accredited National Council Judge and Committee Chairman for Third District. Exhibits for Juniors, Anti-Litter, Conservation, Horticulture, Area Plot Plans for The Blind will be included in the flower show. The Dried and Floral Arrangements will be furnished by the Ulster County Clubs.

Reservations are necessary and forms have been sent to all clubs in the county. These should be returned to Mrs. Richard Klix, 45 Elting Avenue, New Paltz, no later than Sept. 15. Luncheon, gate fee and gratuity is $3.75. A registration fee of $1.25 will be charged for anyone not having lunch and attending any session of the day.

Concert Scheduled For Wednesday At Academy Green

Kingston Concert Band American Federation of Musicians, Local No. 215, will present a concert Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at Academy Green Park, Kingston, under the direction of Marlin Morrette.

Included on the program will be works by John Philip Sousa, Franz von Suppe, Karl L. King, Vincent Youmans, Frederick Loewe, Leroy Anderson, Thomas F. Darcy Jr. and C. Saint Saens. Selections will include King Cotton March, Poet and Peasant Overture, Burma Patrol March, the United States Army March and highlights from My Fair Lady. Thomas Keene will be baritone horn soloist. A trumpet trio, Myron Rossi, Reginald Deyo and Max Aduchefsky, will perform Leroy Anderson's Bugler's Holiday.

Historical House Tour on Saturday

An historical house tour, sponsored by Marbletown Reformed Church in Stone Ridge, will take place Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The tour will start from the church which is located on Route 209 in Stone Ridge.

The six historic houses which will be open to the public will include the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. James Embree, Dr. and Mrs. Ted Grenda, Miss Harriet Church, Miss Barbara White and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Springer.

Mrs. S. Robert Kelder, general chairman of the historical house tour, has announced the following committee chairmen: Mrs. John B. Wilkie, publicity; Mrs. Wessel Cross, hostesses; Mrs. M. 'Make Streets Safe' Says GFWC President

"In a civilized society it is unthinkable that a woman cannot walk on the streets at night without fear," said Mrs. Walter Magee, president of the 11-million-member General Federation of Women's Clubs in her inaugural address in Boston on June 14. "If you make them safe for women they are safe for all."

Mrs. Magee considers crime prevention of paramount importance during her two-year administration. She has appointed Mrs. Margaret Moore, an experienced anti-crime crusader, to head the GFWC Law Observation and Crime Prevention Crusade for Light Division, which places special emphasis on a crusade for adequate street lighting.

Since 1962, Mrs. Moore has been coordinator of the Indianapolis Anti-Crime Crusade, which was cited in the 1966 report of the President's Crime Commission as an outstanding example of citizen action to alleviate crime.

Organization of the Indianapolis crusade followed public indignation when a 90-year-old retired teacher was fatally injured in front of her apartment by a 15-year-old purse snatcher. The editor of the Indianapolis News, where Mrs. Moore works in the public relations department, asked her to invite 30 women to a luncheon to get their ideas on combatting crime.

These women were the first members of the Anti-Crime Crusade. Their first project: better lighting. The group later came to include 30,000 women from 2,000 organizations. Their list of projects grew to include such things as court watching, cleaning up neighborhoods, encouraging dropouts to return to school and helping to get pay raises for police.

Mrs. Moore attributes success of the group to the fact that they study first, ask public officials know they can help instead of telling them, and start with small projects.

"Before we asked City Council to approve money for more street lighting, we compared maps with each street light marked against maps of areas with high crime rates," Mrs. Moore explains. "More crimes occurred in darkened areas."

In addition to working with maps, the street lighting committee circulated petitions, attended many official board meetings and budget hearings. The committee's activity has resulted in the city installing more than 9,000 new high-powered street lights. Property owners were also urged to examine the adequacy of lighting of such crime-prone sites as apartment house areaways and warehouse docks. As a result, more than 6,000 dusk-to-dawn mercury vapor lights were installed on private property.

According to Mrs. Moore, spot surveys showed some street crimes dropped as much as 84 per cent in areas affected by the lighting campaign.

To see what could be done about dropouts, the Indianapolis group asked school officials for a list of names. Officials were skeptical, but provided an initial list of 28 names. After 26 of these 28 returned to school, skepticism vanished.

The number of dropouts persuaded to return to school now numbers over 2,000.

Another Indianapolis project which has won acclaim from juvenile authorities is educating children on the law as it applies specifically to them. Nearly 66,000 children as visited annually under Crusade auspices by policemen, who explain the law and answer questions.

Word of these and other Indianapolis Anti-Crime Crusade projects has spread coast-to-coast. Mrs. Moore has spoken to an estimated 1,000 adult and teen-age groups.

Mrs. Magee hopes her law observance and crime prevention chairman's enthusiasm and know-how will lead to effective action by other GFWC clubs. Objectives Mrs. Magee hopes to accomplish include: promoting the necessity to provide funds for an adequate number of law enforcement officials, inculcating a respect for those in authority, providing scholarships for policemen to attend law enforcement training programs, conferring with police as to how individuals may protect themselves and their property from criminals, and getting police representatives to speak at club meetings.

Little Gardens Club Of Kingston Plans September Show

The Little Gardens Club of Kingston will sponsor a standard flower show on Thursday, Sept. 12, at the Education Building of Hurley Reformed Church.

Mrs. Anteo Marchetti, president, has appointed Mrs. J. Joseph Carroll, general show chairman. Work on the special junior exhibits has been started by Mrs. Marshall Hughes, chairman, who is working with Mrs. Jay Plonsky in correlating the work of the girls in Junior Girl Scout Troop 166 with that planned for exhibit in the flower show.

Standard flower show schedules include junior classes in horticulture and artistic along with special junior exhibits. An anti-litter project has been started by the juniors which will result in a special featured showing on September 12. This educational, constructive work will help the scouts toward earning three badges, Art in The Round, Gypsy and My Community.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN J. SMITH of Broadway, Port Ewen, were guests of honor in Capri Restaurant, Port Ewen, celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary. Married Aug. 12, 1928 at Sacred Heart Church, Eddyville, by the Rev. William Dooley, they have two children, Robert Smith of Port Ewen and Mrs. William (Josephine) Webster of Port Ewen. Mrs. Smith is the former Josephine A. Steigerwald. The couple also have three grandchildren, Sharon Smith, Gail Marie Webster and John Webster. After the dinner a surprise party was held for the family at the home of Mrs. Webster, given by the couple's children. Mr. Smith is proprietor of Smith's Store in Port Ewen. Cooking Contest Deadline Nearing

For those who intend to enter the Creative Cooking Contest at the New York State Fair there remains only a few days. Entries must be submitted before Friday.

Entry forms may be obtained by writing: Art and Home Center, New York State Fair, Syracuse.

This year 142 classes open nearly every avenue of the culinary world for the cook who wishes to compete for some of the $1,921 in cash prizes offered. In addition, there will be special awards daily and grand prizes awarded on Labor Day.

The contest features Austrian cooking along with refreshments for a recreation party, but the homemaker will also find the familiar categories for baking and canning.

Homemakers can pick up copies of winning recipes at the Department daily. The Fair opens in Syracuse on Tuesday, Aug. 27, and continues through Labor Day, Sept. 2.

Put Sunshine in Hair

Mousy brown or dirty blonde, here's the easiest way to put sunshine in your hair. Add a cupful of peroxide to a cup of baby shampoo and mix. Baby shampoo is recommended because a harsh shampoo might contain ingredients that would react with the peroxide and cause the mixture to irritate your scalp. Work up a lather and allow it to remain on your hair for 10 minutes, then wash as usual and rinse thoroughly with warm water. For further lightening, you can add the juice of half a lemon to the final rinse water to dry your hair in the sunlight. There will be no drastic change in hair color—just a lighter and brighter shine.

Health Survey Finds U.S. 'Underdeveloped'

By LOUISE CHASE

NEW YORK (WMNS) —

Seven out of eight poor women of child-bearing age cannot now have the number of children they want when they want them. They cannot now plan their families because communities across the land fail to provide them with subsidized family planning services. The conclusion of a comprehensive report that appears in the current issue of the Journal of Marriage and the Family is that the U.S. is an "underdeveloped country" in the area of family planning services.

The report notes that although about 98 per cent of all births in the United States take place in hospitals, with a physician present, hospitals do not for the most part provide family planning information and services for needy patients. According to a Ford Foundation study, "less than five per cent of all United States short-term general hospitals had such services in 1965." Of the almost 5,000 hospitals with under 500 beds, where four out of five of all hospital births take place, only one in 30 reported the availability of family planning services. Fewer than one-fifth of hospitals with large maternity services reported providing these services in 1966.

Hospitals Lagging

The Journal study reports that "there is general agreement that hospital-based family planning services are the most effective and economic way of reaching large numbers of women at the very time they are likely to be most receptive to family planning information."

In this connection, Dr. Howard C. Taylor Jr., Director of the International Institute for the Study of Human Reproduction, maintains that to work primarily in the hospital setting with women who have just completed a pregnancy is "to place the emphasis where maximum results could be obtained with a minimum of effort."

Local health departments, like hospitals, are also found to be serving poor women inadequately in the area of family planning. The report notes that only about 200,000 women were served through local health departments last year, although the network of such departments is considerable. Public health services are available in 2,425 of a total of 3,072 counties. But only one in three offers family planning services and some 10,000,000 people live in 630 counties not served by local health departments.

Budgets Inadequate

Although the last four Presidents of the United States publicly stated their belief that birth control is a vital health measure that should be available to all who want it, the federal government's budgetary support for birth control programs has been grossly inadequate. The report notes that in 1967 between $10 million and $12 million was allocated for direct family planning programs against an estimated annual need of about $100,000,000 to reach all the poor or medically indigent fertile women in the land not desiring pregnancy.

The report concludes that "until the federal government sets a more realistic budget, a great many poor and near-poor women are going to continue to produce more children than they themselves want or can care for and will become more deeply mired in poverty."

Who the Poor Are

Contrary to popular opinion, the report notes that seven out of ten women needing subsidized family planning services are white. Two-thirds of the target group live in the nation's cities, and almost nine out of ten of them live in families which are self supporting. Two-thirds of them have less than 70 cents a day for food for each family member; the near-poor have less than 90 cents a day. Women living in these circumstances simply cannot afford to pay for family planning services and supplies and in many communities there are few or no free or low cost clinics readily available.

New Decor Is People Oriented

NEW YORK (NEA) — Getting people in the right mood to work, to eat and to sleep well occupies more time and increases the bank accounts of more architects and designers than ever before.

The men and women in the business of creating what they like to call "pleasing total environments," though, are minor beneficiaries of a job well done. The real winners are people working in offices where 50 or 60 share a common room, eating in restaurants or living in homes for the elderly.

Two men here who specialize in contract design, as opposed to home interior design, commented recently on trends in the field. The increased use of corporate funds to enhance a firm's image is behind a growing willingness to try new materials, accept unusual color combinations and dress up the whole with paintings, graphics and sculpture. Restaurants are being spiffed up because of the "Diner's Club syndrome," which makes it more profitable to put dollars into decor because restaurateurs know they are guaranteed customers.

Sy Miller, head of The Miller Organization, Inc., a design firm, has come a long way since dressing window displays. He estimates his firm does approximately $10 million in business with emphasis on offices, for example, of Wall Street-oriented firms.

His theory is that surroundings must have beauty although his own new office was a chaos of unfinished concrete floors, open walls and debris. "What has happened to me in remodeling," he groaned, "thank God, has never happened to a client or I wouldn't be in business." Miller believes that mechanized methods of today's business world would prove totally demoralizing to a company's staff if something weren't done to make work surroundings decorative. "Everything must be part of our 'flow involvement.'"

For example, he wants employees involved with everything. A textured wall breaks up flat, sterile desk and floor surfaces.

"The American eye is adjusted," he says, "to see the reflection of an individual in art on the wall. A man may show sailboats or golf pictures to indicate his hobbies. Yet, many businessmen have no taste at all in color or are afraid to say what they like or they admit they don't know what they like."

Capitalizing on this, Miller's staff pops off to Europe to buy art objects for offices. He also urges companies to select original graphics and use color to break up monotony.

"What is most lacking is visual excitement. There must be something to treat the eye. And, he warns, "we guide executives to avoid combining all the great design ideas they see around town. Put together they can be disastrous."

Contributing to better and more pleasing office environments are breakthroughs in materials. Different materials in modular forms and adhesives to secure them are major innovations, Miller points out. Extensive use of vinyls saves money on paint, wallpapering and maintenance.

"If you don't understand maintenance you can be over your head when decorating an office building," he points out. "People don't understand that if they spend a half million on a job they have to spend money on maintenance." Maintenance also is a concern in certain projects of John Maurer. Maurer has a small firm whose design jobs range from the elegant Maisonette at the St. Regis Hotel to hospitals and homes for the elderly.

He, especially, is excited with what is happening in decor of housing for the aged. His first assignment was The Booth Memorial Hospital for the Salvation Army. With no prior experience in this specialized area, Maurer traveled to many nursing homes and hospitals to see what was being done.

"I felt most have been neglected for years in decor, furniture and equipment." The result: Maurer helped design chairs for the elderly with the right pitch to the back seats and without welts to cut off circulation, also a special commode.

"Many items older persons were forced to live with helped to deteriorate their bodies," he says. "I feel it is wrong to put the elderly in old, familiar surroundings. They should feel their new home is not a place to die but one with a new outlook and challenge."

To carry out this attitude, he has gone to bright colors—an occupational therapy room with fire engine red doors and alternating colors in bookshelves. Maurer also wants to co-ordinate wheel chairs with the colors in corridors. "There is no reason they have to be gray or brown."

He often uses colored vinyl handrails, rather than wood or stainless steel, and tries to use chandeliers mixed with incandescent down-lights for dining rooms rather than the usual cold commercial lighting fixtures.

With the ratio of women to men frequently running four to one, many homes are awash in flowery chintz. Maurer remembers the masculine minority by doing some rooms in cheery stripes.

Because of maintenance, he uses washable materials for shirred curtains and vinyls for upholstery. All this brought up a housekeeping problem which he had to solve. With different colors and designs in scores of rooms the laundry would get mixed up. "I had to set up a key code for all the rooms so each item went back to the right area." OPTICAL ILLUSION (left) is a corridor with fabric-faced sliding partitions that open into a conference room, two small meeting rooms (top right) or a 100-seat auditorium. Designed by Sy Miller. Color scheme is blue-green and gold with English oak paneling holding an oil painting and wool-worked hangings. Miller used golden chain mail as a drapery to shut out a beautiful but distracting view of the river from the Wall Street firm's windows. A room for the elderly by John Maurer (center right) has three off-white walls and the one behind the bed is mustard-gold. Vinyl tile floor is a deeper gold and English garden drapery print is in reds, golds, blues and green. Armchair is red leather. A complete decorating switch is Maurer's Elizabethan Room for a family-type steak house. It reflects trend to more elegance in reasonably priced, family spots.

To Make Music--They Become It

By HELEN HENNESSEY
NEW YORK (NEA)—When a kid plays "steam engine," he BECOMES a steam engine. He makes the chugging and whistle sound with his mouth, his closed fists become pistons and his feet carry the "train" down an imaginary track. He lives the part he is playing.

Madeleine Carabo-Cone, author, lecturer and music teacher, applies somewhat the same principle in the concept of learning she presents to her young music pupils. The method is sensory-motor and natural in approach (the way a child first learns his environment as an infant) and teaches preschool and young elementary school children music fundamentals through play activities. The method develops at a very early age the ability to absorb difficult musical concepts.

Here's how it works: The child BECOMES the center of the musical score. He forms all concepts in relation to himself, acting and living each musical learning experience within the framework of a huge music staff. He hops, skips and jumps into the world of music.

The Grand Staff (bass and treble) is drawn everywhere—on the floor of the schoolroom as a play area, on the wall as a scoreboard, behind the piano keys as a keyboard guide and even as a costume and identification card. Through a sense of "I am" and "I own," he becomes the various elements of music.

The child's physical and psychological self becomes his tutor. This innate environment-learning process has been described and approved by the eminent Swiss psychologist, Jean Piaget.

For example, the child feels the five lines of each staff, bass or treble, on his own body. Then he identifies himself with one particular staff line and its corresponding piano key, as well as with a specific time value. If he is a half-note on middle C, he wears an identification card that shows his note on the staff and he also wears a costume of a large paper cut-out note and a corresponding note hat. He stands on middle C on the floor staff, then walks and talks like a half-note, singing words of one syllable. More and more co-ordinations combining pulse, duration and pitch are gradually developed. Soon he becomes part of a song.

The materials used are concrete realizations of abstract musical concept. Mostly made of paper, they are self-teaching, audio-visual learning tools that have a "hold-in-the-hand" quality and can even be made by the children themselves.

In the Carabo-Cone method, everything is done on a grand scale.

"When I was a young child,

I found myself translating what I was learning into bigger things—things I could hold in my hands. I found I could understand better when things were made enormous so that I could get 'inside them.'"

"Take the sewing machine, for example," she added, "I knew if it was big enough so that I could go through those holes I could understand the concept of how it worked."

This method of "learning to learn" can be applied to all the academic subjects, not just music. It has proved useful in helping children with mathematical concepts and reading as well.

"One of the greatest values of this sensory-motor approach to learning," said Carabo-Cone, "is that the culturally disadvantaged child need not be separated or segregated into a group for compensatory education."

"Children from various backgrounds start off on an equal footing which depends not upon previous experience but upon the inborn learning powers with which all infants absorb their environment.

"Parents," she said, "can act as volunteer assistants while learning along with the children."

The Carabo-Cone method as a model for primary education is being studied in universities across the country because its approach totally involves the child's physical, psychological and intellectual powers.

Blonde, attractive Madeleine Carabo-Cone thoroughly enjoys her work. She considers the Grand Staff a gymnasium for the mind and believes in the concept of BECOMING the thing you are trying to learn.

"Even at my age," she said, "I find the method useful when a subject stymies me."

Apparently educators from Temple University to Harvard agree. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Black cotton tapes are stretched across the children to make a staff. Each tape represents a staff line and crosses head, shoulders, waist, knees and feet. Carabo-Cone is playing sounds for each line of the staff and the children wiggle their feet, shake their heads and so on—becoming the notes they represent.

New Decor Is People Oriented

NEW YORK (NEA) — Getting people in the right mood to work, to eat and to sleep well occupies more time and increases the bank accounts of more architects and designers than ever before.

The men and women in the business of creating what they like to call "pleasing total environments," though, are minor beneficiaries of a job well-done. The real winners are people working in offices where 50 or 60 share a common room, eating in restaurants or living in homes for the elderly.

Two men here who specialize in contract design, as opposed to home interior design, commented recently on trends in the field. The increased use of corporate funds to enhance a firm's image is behind a growing willingness to try new materials, accept unusual color combinations and dress up the whole with paintings, graphics and sculpture. Restaurants are being spiffed up because of the "Diner's Club syndrome," which makes it more profitable to put dollars into decor because restaurateurs know they are guaranteed customers.

A concern for the individual, however, runs through the projects. Sy Miller, head of The Miller Organization, Inc., a design firm, has come a long way since dressing window displays. He estimates his firm does approximately $10 million in business with emphasis on offices, for example, of Wall Street-oriented firms.

His theory is that surroundings must have beauty although his own new office was a chaos of unfinished concrete floors, open walls and debris. "What has happened to me in remodeling," he groaned, "thank God, has never happened to a client or I wouldn't be in business."

Miller believes that mechanical methods of today's business world would prove totally demoralizing to a company's staff if something weren't done to make work surroundings decorative. "Everything must be part of our 'flow involvement.'"

For example, he wants employees involved with everything. A textured wall breaks up flat, sterile desk and floor surfaces. "The American eye is adjusted," he says, "to see the reflection of an individual in art on the wall. A man may show sailboats or golf pictures to indicate his hobbies. Yet, many businessmen have no taste at all in color or are afraid to say what they like or they admit they don't know what they like."

Capitalizing on this, Miller's staff pops off to Europe to buy art objects for offices. He also urges companies to select original graphics and use color to break up monotony. "What is most lacking is visual excitement. There must be something to treat the eye. And, he warns, "we guide executives to avoid combining all the great design ideas they see around town. Put together they can be disastrous."

Contributing to better and more pleasing office environments are breakthroughs in materials. Different materials in modular forms and adhesives to secure them are major innovations, Miller points out. Extensive use of vinyls saves money on paint, wallpapering and maintenance.

"If you don't understand maintenance you can be over your head when decorating an office building," he points out. "People don't understand that if they spend a half million on a job they have to spend money on maintenance."

Maintenance also is a concern in certain projects of John Maurer. Maurer has a small firm whose design jobs range from the elegant Maisonette at the St. Regis Hotel to hospitals and homes for the elderly.

He, especially, is excited with what is happening in decor of housing for the aged. His first assignment was The Booth Memorial Hospital for the Salvation Army. With no prior experience in this specialized area, Maurer traveled to many nursing homes and hospitals to see what was being done.

"I felt most have been neglected for years in decor, furniture and equipment." The result: Maurer helped design chairs for the elderly with the right pitch to the back seats and without welts to cut off circulation, also a special commode. "Many items older persons were forced to live with helped to deteriorate their bodies," he says. "I feel it is wrong to put the elderly in old, familiar surroundings. They should feel doing some rooms in cheery stripes."

To carry out this attitude, he has gone to bright colors—an occupational therapy room with fire engine red doors and alternating colors in bookshelves. Maurer also wants to co-ordinate wheel chairs with the colors in corridors. "There is no reason they have to be gray or brown."

He often uses colored vinyl handrails, rather than wood or stainless steel, and tries to use chandeliers mixed with incandescent down-lights for dining rooms rather than the usual cold commercial lighting fixtures. With the ratio of women to men frequently running four to one, many homes are awash in flowery chintz. Maurer remembers the masculine minority by

To Make Music--They Become It

By HELEN HENNESSEY

NEW YORK (NEA)—When a kid plays "steam engine," he BECOMES a steam engine. He makes the chugging and whistle sound with his mouth, his closed fists become pistons and his feet carry the "train" down an imaginary track. He lives the part he is playing.

Madeleine Carabo-Cone, author, lecturer and music teacher, applies somewhat the same principle in the concept of learning she presents to her young music pupils. The method is sensory-motor and natural in approach (the way a child first learns his environment as an infant) and teaches preschool and young elementary school children music fundamentals through play activities. The method develops at a very early age the ability to absorb difficult musical concepts.

Here's how it works: The child BECOMES the center of the musical score. He forms all concepts in relation to himself, acting and living each musical learning experience within the framework of a huge music staff. He hops, skips and jumps into the world of music.

The Grand Staff (bass and treble) is drawn everywhere—on the floor of the schoolroom as a play area, on the wall as a scoreboard, behind the piano keys as a keyboard guide and even as a costume and identification card. Through a sense of "I am" and "I own," he becomes the various elements of music.

The child's physical and psychological self becomes his tutor. This innate environment-learning process has been described and approved by the eminent Swiss psychologist, Jean Piaget.

For example, the child feels the five lines of each staff, bass or treble, on his own body. Then he identifies himself with a particular staff line and its corresponding piano key, as well as with a specific time value. If he is a half-note on middle C, he wears an identification card that shows his note on the staff and he also wears a costume of a large paper cut-out note and a corresponding note hat. He stands on middle C on the floor staff, then walks and talks like a half-note, singing words of one syllable. More and more co-ordinations combining pulse, duration and pitch are gradually developed. Soon he becomes part of a song.

The materials used are concrete realizations of abstract musical concept. Mostly made of paper, they are self-teaching, audio-visual learning tools that have a "hold-in-the-hand" quality and can even be made by the children themselves.

In the Carabo-Cone method, everything is done on a grand scale.

"When I was a young child,"

"I which all infants absorb their environment."

"Parents," she said, "can act as volunteer assistants while learning along with the children."

The Carabo-Cone method as a model for primary education is being studied in universities across the country because its approach totally involves the child's physical, psychological and intellectual powers.

Blonde, attractive Madeleine Carabo-Cone thoroughly enjoys her work. She considers the Grand Staff a gymnasium for the mind and believes in the concept of BECOMING the thing you are trying to learn.

"Even at my age," she said, "I find the method useful when a subject stymies me."

Apparently, educators from Temple University to Harvard agree. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Children from various backgrounds start off on an equal footing which depends not upon previous experience but upon the inborn learning powers with

Thomas Hurls Second Straight No-Hitter to Win, 7-0

A HOLDOUT? — Joe Namath waits the game out on the sidelines at Houston last night ostensibly recovering from a knee injury. A wire association report said, however, the Jets' mod, mod quarterback may be a holdout for extra exhibition game money. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Is Joe Namath Hurt, Or Is He a Holdout?

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets was in the Astro Dome but his white football shoes failed to hex the Houston Oilers.

Namath, sidelined with a sore knee, watched the Oilers surge from behind to thrash his teammates 28-14 Monday night in an American Football League exhibition game.

Houston's Pete Bonhard passed for three touchdowns before a crowd of 40,354 as the Oilers held the Jets to 161 yards total offense.

The victory was the second for the Oilers, who stopped the Washington Redskins of the National Football League last week. It was the first outing for the Jets.

Namath, scheduled to lead the New York club's passing attack, wore a blue blazer and mangled a spotter's telephone on the sidelines as Houston gathered 407 yards total offense, 236 yards in the air.

A New York City television sports announcer reported during the game that Namath may have been using his sore left knee as an excuse for not playing.

A Jets club source said Namath was holding out for $3,000 pay per exhibition game, Dick Young of WOR-TV reported.

Promised By Weblin
Young said Namath reportedly was promised the money earlier by Sonny Weblin, former Jets owner.

"The way I had it, he had been promised $3,000 by the former Jets owner," Young said. "I don't know how the promise was made."

One of the present owners of the New York team, Phil Iselin, joined the Jets last week.

The win left the locals a half game behind Newburgh Atoms (9-3) in the first round standings.

Tonight the Braves meet the Atoms at 8 o'clock at Dietz and the locals can wrap up the second round by beating the Atoms. Kingston has a 9-1 record, the Atoms, 7-3. Each has two games left to play.

How the two teams shape up in the first and second rounds: Thomas was again superb in the crucial first round win over the tough third place Astros. He struck out 15 batters and retired the last 17 in a row. Wild Pitches Help

Kingston greeted Reid with a four-run outburst in the first inning in which the Beacon hurler didn't help himself with three wild throws and a walk.

RON THOMAS

It started with leadoff Ron Valle doubling. Lou Perry walked and Mike Patrick moved the runners up with a sacrifice. Jerry Hawkins' drove both home with a double. Joe Schabot walked and three wild pitches enabled them to score the third and fourth runs of the inning.

Valle knocked in Glen Davis with Kingston's fifth run in the third inning, after the former walked and was moved up on Jack Watzka's sacrifice.

Schabot Raps Homer
Catcher Mike Antalek let a third strike go through him and Hawkins reached first base on the error. A moment later, Schabot smashed a long home run to left center to wind up the Kingston scoring.

The Braves backed Thomas with flawless support and he walked only three. Reid struck out nine.

Valle and Hawkins led with single-double combinations. Schabot and Hawkins each knocked in two runs.

Red Whites Sweep to Softball Title

Blair Blast Bombs A's

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Paul Blair, who had scored the tying run as a pinch runner in the ninth, doubled home two scores in the 10th inning Monday night to give the Baltimore Orioles a 3-1 win over the Oakland A's.

The victory was Baltimore's 12th in the Orioles' last 15 games.

A's starter Lew Krausse (8-9), who had given up only four hits, walked Don Buford, with one out in the top of the 10th.

Jack Aker came on to relieve and was greeted with a single by pinch-hitter Andy Etchebarren. One out later, Blair doubled in both runners.

Oakland took a 1-0 lead in the fourth off Oriole starter Tom Phoebus. Reggie Jackson singled and raced all the way to third on Rick Monday's infield out. John Donaldson then bounced a single over first, scoring Jackson.

Baltimore tied the game in the ninth after Boog Powell led off with a triple. Blair, running for Powell, scored on Brooks Robinson's single.

The victory went to Pete Richert (5-2), the third of five Oriole pitchers. He fanned three men in 1 1/3 innings on the mound. The Baltimore hurlers struck out 17 A's in all.

FOR JOB WELL DONE — Detroit Manager Mayo Smith (10) congratulates his pitching ace Denny McLain upon winning his 24th game of the season. McLain defeated the Cleveland Indians, 6-3 last night at Cleveland for his 16th straight win on the road. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Geanuleas No-Hitter

A pitching feat rarely seen in Babe Ruth league annals was accomplished by George Geanuleas of V.F.W. as he pitched a no-hitter and struck out 19 of the 21 batters he faced to defeat Chidsey De Forest 6-0.

V.F.W. scored in the third when Jack Haber singled and was forced by Ken Hoffstetter second. Then Barry Diffley singled, Terry Sanborn walked and Geanuleas singled in one with two more scoring on an error.

V.F.W. added three more in the sixth on a two run single by Sanborn, George Geanuleas was also the leading hitter for the Vets with a double and single. Fred Hummel went the distance for Chidsey DeForest to be tagged with the loss.

16th Straight on Road McLain Stops Tribe To Achieve 24th Win

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Denny McLain, backed by a seven-hit right field fence to give the Tigers a 2-1 lead in the sixth and they scored another run in the seventh without the benefit of a hit. Reliever Hal Kurtz walked Tracewski and McLain sacrificed. Mike Paul replaced Kurtz and wild-pitched Tracewski to third. After McAuliffe walked, Eddie Fisher came in and gave up a sacrifice fly to Stanley. Northrup bounced out to end the inning.

McLain, who has a 24-3 record, is attempting to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean in 1934. He struck out five and walked only one batter in winning his sixth straight game. McLain is 16-0 on the road and 8-3 at home.

The Tigers spotted the Indians a 1-0 lead in the fourth on Tony Horton's 10th homer of the year but bounced back with single runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings and wrapped it up with three in the ninth. Horton hit his second homer of the game in the ninth after Russ Snyder walked to drive in the other two Indian runs.

Don Wert walked on four pitches to open the fifth off starter Vicente Romo and took second on a single. Dick Tracewski. Both runners advanced on a sacrifice by McLain and Dick McAuliffe was given an intentional walk. Wert scored on Stanley's sacrifice fly.

Taxi Holdup In Dutchess; Cabbie Injured

Authorities in Dutchess county today investigated a reported holdup of a taxicab driver by two men, who allegedly robbed him of about $65 in cash and then fled on foot.

Wilbur Carney, the driver, was treated at a Poughkeepsie hospital for scalp injuries which he received when hit on the head with a blunt instrument, possibly a stone wrapped in a towel.

Carney, according to vague reports, picked up the two men between the ages of 18 and 22 years, and drove them to an isolated section of the Town of LaGrange, police said. At 2:06 a.m., Carney walked into the Town of Poughkeepsie police station and told officers on duty that he had been assaulted and robbed, according to Chief Charles Schade.

Schade said the investigation is being conducted by Fishkill State Police because the incident occurred outside the Town of Poughkeepsie.

Meanwhile, Poughkeepsie city and town police and troopers were looking for the two men involved for questioning.

Cyclist Hurt, Cited After Dutchess Crash

A collision involving a motorcycle and a car occurred at 8 p.m. Monday on Route 9 at the intersection of Water Tower Road in the Town of Hyde Park, and resulted in injuries to a 19-year-old youth and a citation for making an improper left turn.

State Police Sergeant William Urey of Rhinebeck said Gregory Kihlmire, 18, of 68 Buckingham Avenue, Poughkeepsie, was driving his car north on Route 9 when a motorcycle operated by James Raab, of 9 Lumb Lane, Hyde Park, made a turn in front of the automobile and the vehicles collided.

Raab was taken to St. Francis Hospital where five sutures were taken to close lacerations of his right forearm. Raab was summoned to appear before Hyde Park Justice Hubert Silvernale for making the improper turn, according to troopers.

Hurley Boy, 15, Severely Hurt

A 15-year-old Hurley boy was severely injured at 4 p.m. Monday when the motorbike he was riding apparently went out of control as he rode along an old railroad bed and was involved in an accident.

Kingston State Police said Edward J. Portz son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Portz of 27 Orchard Street, was taken to Kingston Hospital in a police car by Trooper Patrick Sheehan. He was treated for a compound fracture of the jaw and a fractured right femur.

After treatment at the local hospital, the boy was removed to the Albany Medical Center Hospital.

The mishap occurred about 14 miles north of Marquette Road in the Town of Marbletown, troopers said.

According to a relative reached at the boy's home today, it was learned that Edward and two other boys were together when the accident occurred. After the Portz boy was injured, one youth ran for help and the other stayed with Edward until the trooper arrived.

Saves Goldfish Named George From Drowning

UXBRIDGE, England (UPI) — Peter Humphrey has been commended by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for saving a goldfish named George from drowning.

Humphrey may even get a certificate—or something—for his feat.

He saw George gasping on the surface of his garden pond and pulled the goldfish out. He discovered George's mouth was jammed open by a pebble.

Humphrey eased the pebble out and dumped George back into the water. The patient recovered quickly.

"Mr. Humphrey's prompt action undoubtedly saved the fish's life," said RSPCA Inspector Peter Hume.

Perishes in Fire

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Christine Tatrow, 65, a widow, died Monday when fire destroyed the house in which she was living in suburban Niskayuna.

Her body was found in a second-floor bedroom.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Installment Thief

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — It looks as if there is a thief in this city near Buffalo who believes in stealing on the installment plan.

Police said Monday that a truck-tractor, a set of license plates for a tractor-trailer, and a trailer were stolen at different periods and from different places over the weekend.

They pointed out that the license plates were needed before the tractor could be used without drawing undue attention, and that you had to have the tractor to steal the trailer.

Rosendale-Tillson Seniors Form Club; Plan for Future Events

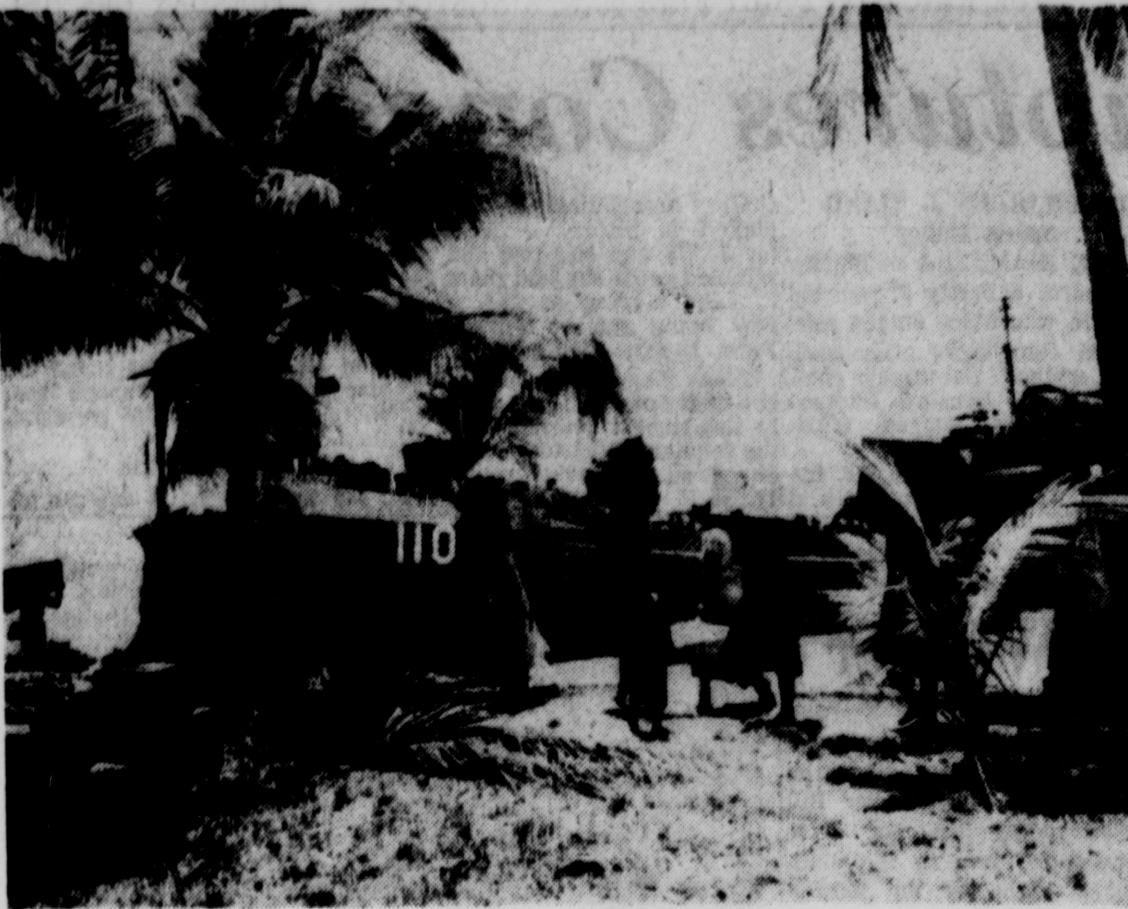

Senior citizens of the Town of Rosendale met at the Grange Hall, Rosendale, recently to organize a Senior Citizens Club.

The meeting was attended by about 30 people of the town.

Earl Mack was temporary chairman for the nomination of officers. Agnes DuBois was chosen president. Adele Lenz, vice president. Eleanor Young, secretary and William Mohr, treasurer.

The president appointed a program committee consisting of Anna Quinn, Albitine Mack, Adeline Thorp and Frank Geney. The Girl Scouts of Troop 167 served refreshments under the leadership of Mrs. Donald Hasenflue and Mrs. John McCloskey.

Dufault Blames Economic Woes On Vietnam War

"Wage earners throughout the 28th Congressional District have been taking smaller paychecks home lately because the Federal tax increase has taken effect," Peter K. Dufault of Hillsdale, Liberal party candidate for Congress noted today.

"If the increased revenues were going to correct some of the massive ills that plague this country — bad housing, bad schools, poor jobs or no jobs at all, air and water pollution — few of us would object too loudly. Unfortunately, just the opposite is true. Congress passed the tax cut only because the Administration agreed to a major cut in spending for progress at home. At the same time, consumer prices continue to soar and interest rates remain high for home purchasers."

"Very simply, this country has got to cut way back on defense spending and eliminate the Vietnam War if it is to achieve progress and balanced economic growth at home. We spend more in Vietnam each month than the anti-poverty program gets in a year. This is absurd. To spend $80 billion a year on defense and $30 billion for Vietnam is the most colossal misallocation of funds imaginable, and it has derailed our economy as well.

Hold 3 Canadians On Smuggling

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) — A hearing for three Canadians adjourned until Aug. 20. The trio, charged with smuggling $51,000 worth of silver coins in the United States, have been held in Plattsburgh.

Picked up July 11 by Andre Doyon, 20, Mark J. Rousseau, 21, and Louise A. McBrearty, 31, all of Montreal. They were free on $2,500 bail each.

The arrests were believed linked to a million dollar ring which has smuggled Canadian silver coins for smelting into the United States.

Because of the silver shortage the coins are worth $1.44 for each dollar in face value.

They were arrested in a nearby motel parking lot by state police acting on a tip.

City Plaza Lists Aug. 14-24 Sales

Back to School Sales Days will be conducted in Kingston Shopping Plaza with special events and valuable awards Wednesday, Aug. 14 through Saturday, Aug. 24.

As a special feature the second Eastern National Early Ford V-8 Meet will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 16 and 17.

More than 50 antique cars will be displayed embracing all models and years. Twenty-four trophies will be awarded and a people's choice poll will be conducted to permit patrons to vote on the car of their choice.

Cars on display will be coming from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the New England States. The show is open to the public at no charge.

During the week 10 valuable gifts will be awarded including a Sears portable clock TV, electric clothes brush, GE flame color electric skillet, electric can opener, electric percolator, Regina electric broom, and other valuable prizes.

In addition each child of school age will be given free book covers.

On Saturday, Aug. 24 there will be free train rides for the kiddies starting at 1 p.m. On the same afternoon, the LeSavres, a popular singing group with the young set will provide music for entertainment.

Kingston Plaza Merchants Association made arrangements for the 10-day sales promotion. Special values will be available on all merchandise, especially on back to school items such as clothing and school supplies.

Taxi Holdup In Dutchess; Cabbie Injured

Authorities in Dutchess county today investigated a reported holdup of a taxicab driver by two men, who allegedly robbed him of about $65 in cash and then fled on foot.

Wilbur Carney, the driver, was treated at a Poughkeepsie hospital for scalp injuries which he received when hit on the head with a blunt instrument, possibly a stone wrapped in a towel.

Carney, according to vague reports, picked up the two men between the ages of 18 and 22 years, and drove them to an isolated section of the Town of LaGrange, police said. At 2:06 a.m., Carney walked into the Town of Poughkeepsie police station and told officers on duty that he had been assaulted and robbed, according to Chief Charles Schade.

Schade said the investigation is being conducted by Fishkill State Police because the incident occurred outside the Town of Poughkeepsie.

Meanwhile, Poughkeepsie city and town police and troopers were looking for the two men involved for questioning.

Cyclist Hurt, Cited After Dutchess Crash

A collision involving a motorcycle and a car occurred at 8 p.m. Monday on Route 9 at the intersection of Water Tower Road in the Town of Hyde Park, and resulted in injuries to a 19-year-old youth and a citation for making an improper left turn.

State Police Sergeant William Urey of Rhinebeck said Gregory Kihlmire, 18, of 68 Buckingham Avenue, Poughkeepsie, was driving his car north on Route 9 when a motorcycle operated by James Raab, of 9 Lumb Lane, Hyde Park, made a turn in front of the automobile and the vehicles collided.

Raab was taken to St. Francis Hospital where five sutures were taken to close lacerations of his right forearm. Raab was summoned to appear before Hyde Park Justice Hubert Silvernale for making the improper turn, according to troopers.

Hurley Boy, 15, Severely Hurt

A 15-year-old Hurley boy was severely injured at 4 p.m. Monday when the motorbike he was riding apparently went out of control as he rode along an old railroad bed and was involved in an accident.

Kingston State Police said Edward J. Portz son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Portz of 27 Orchard Street, was taken to Kingston Hospital in a police car by Trooper Patrick Sheehan. He was treated for a compound fracture of the jaw and a fractured right femur.

After treatment at the local hospital, the boy was removed to the Albany Medical Center Hospital.

The mishap occurred about 14 miles north of Marquette Road in the Town of Marletown, troopers said.

According to a relative reached at the boy's home today, it was learned that Edward and two other boys were together when the accident occurred. After the Portz boy was injured, one youth ran for help and the other stayed with Edward until the trooper arrived.

Kellar Named To State Bar Education Post

The New York State Bar Association, through Lyman M. Tondel Jr., president has announced the appointment of Norman Kellar, Kingston attorney, as a member of the New York State Bar Association Committee on Continuing Legal Education.

This committee arranges for lectures and courses of study at the post-graduate level so that attorneys may keep abreast of changes in the law.

Last June, a novel approach was used by the committee in a lecture on anatomy for lawyers. Colored slides were shown on the subject in twenty locations throughout the state. By special arrangement with the New York Telephone Company, medical teachers at Albany Medical School spoke to the lawyers attending the lectures. Facilities were available at each location so that questions could be asked of the physicians.

Kellar is chairman of the Ulster County Bar Association committee on continuing legal education.

Ike Improving; Stop Bulletins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's condition has improved to the point where doctors have stopped issuing regular medical bulletins.

Doctors said Eisenhower passed the critical period Monday from his sixth heart attack. But officials at Walter Reed Army Hospital said his "convalescence is apt to be prolonged because of the general's previous attacks."

Eisenhower was a few days away from leaving the hospital when he was stricken with what doctors termed a major attack last Tuesday.

Walter Reed officials said the five-star general no longer needs oxygen, although he is still confined to bed and visitors are limited to his immediate family.

Installment Thief

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — It looks as if there is a thief in this city near Buffalo who believes in stealing on the installment plan.

Police said Monday that a truck-tractor, a set of license plates for a tractor-trailer, and a trailer were stolen at different periods and from different places over the weekend.

They pointed out that the license plates were needed before the tractor could be used without drawing undue attention, and that you had to have the tractor to steal the trailer.

Westinghouse, MCA-Bolt Out of the Blue

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The announcement last week that Westinghouse was absorbing MCA struck the film industry with thunderbolt surprise.

There had been rumors that other producing companies would be taken over by giant corporations, but MCA was expected to continue going it alone. MCA, which controls Universal Pictures—features and television series—and Decca Records, has been in sound financial condition, with profits of $15.5 million in 1967.

The two mentors of MCA—Jules Stein, board chairman, and Lew Wasserman, president—seemed to be go-it-alone types. Before acquiring Universal Studios, they operated MCA as a talent agency in an independent manner.

But the logic of merging with the immense—1967 net income: $122.5 million—Westinghouse Electric Corp. was overwhelming. The move offered a great financial advantage to Stein and Wasserman, who control 41 percent of the MCA stock. Trade sources indicated that the two men would not be required to pay capital gain taxes when they exchange their MCA stock for Westinghouse.

Two other film companies have followed the same course. United Artists was absorbed by the huge California-based financial corporation, Transamerica. Paramount was taken over by the conglomerate, Gulf and Western.

Such affiliations offer distinct advantages for the film companies, most of which have followed independent courses since their beginnings. Movie production requires heavy capitalization, and the studios have had to rely on financing from leading banks. With a huge corporation standing behind a studio, the financing of films becomes much easier.

In the past two years, the film companies have become attractive investments.

1. Financiers have become aware of the immense value of the studios' backlogs of films in terms of their release to television. With the networks relying more and more on movies to fill their programming, the price tag on films continues to grow.

2. Corporations are looking for investments in the leisure time market, which will become more important as Americans have more time and money to spend on nonwork activities.

Westinghouse, MCA—Bolt Out of the Blue

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The announcement last week that Westinghouse was absorbing MCA struck the film industry with thunderbolt surprise. There had been rumors that other producing companies would be taken over by giant corporations, but MCA was expected to continue going it alone. MCA, which controls Universal Pictures—features and television series—and Decca Records, has been in sound financial condition, with profits of $15.5 million in 1967.

The two mentors of MCA—Jules Stein, board chairman, and Lew Wasserman, president, seemed to be go-it-alone types. Before acquiring Universal Studios, they operated MCA as a talent agency in an independent manner.

But the logic of merging with the immense—1967 net income: $122.5 million—Westinghouse Electric Corp. was overwhelming. The move offered a great financial advantage to Stein and Wasserman, who control 41 percent of the MCA stock. Trade sources indicated that the two men would not be required to pay capital gain taxes when they exchange their MCA stock for Westinghouse.

Two other film companies have followed the same course. United Artists was absorbed by the huge California-based financial corporation, Transamerica. Paramount was taken over by the conglomerate, Gulf and Western.

Such affiliations offer distinct advantages for the film companies, most of which have followed independent courses since their beginnings. Movie production requires heavy capitalization, and the studios have had to rely on financing from leading banks. With a huge corporation standing behind a studio, the financing of films becomes much easier.

In the past two years, the film companies have become attractive investments:

1. Financiers have become aware of the immense value of the studios' backlogs of films in terms of their release to television. With the networks relying more and more on movies to fill their programming, the price tag on films continues to grow.

2. Corporations are looking for investments in the leisure time market, which will become more important as Americans have more time and money to spend on nonwork activities.

Before returning home the vanLaer family visited Acadia National Park Maine.

John Arnone, summer pastor of the Reformed Church will preach Sunday 10 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Arnone are working very closely with the Youth Fellowship group and several plans are underway for future events, one of them being a car wash on Saturday, Aug. 24 from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. at the town building in Stone Ridge. On Tuesday evening, they will meet at the parsonage.

Mrs. Harold Hart of Susquehanna, Pa. and Mrs. Raymond Stone and daughters, Jennifer and Lisa of Apalachin were dinner guests Tuesday of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jansen. Wednesday, they visited the Catskill Game Farm.

Dear Abby

Just Asking for Trouble

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am absolutely furious and don't know where to turn. My son, Dick, is 23 and has been out of the service for 2 months. Dick met a girl about a month ago and he's been seeing a lot of her. She is 22. Now he tells me that he's driving to the west coast (we live in Ohio) and this girl is driving along with him (just the two of them) as she has never seen the west. Dick said that the girl's mother is all for it. I wondered just what kind of mother would be "all for" a trip like this, so I rang her up and she said, "I raised her daughter to be a respectable girl, and if your raised your son to be a respectable boy, what do we have to worry about?" I was speechless. How would you have answered her?

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I would have said, "To send a couple of healthy, normal kids who are obviously physically attracted to each other off alone together on a cross-country trip is asking for trouble. No matter how 'respectable' they were in Ohio, a little hanky-panky can be expected about the middle of Missouri."

DEAR ABBY: The other day you printed a letter about a couple who stayed together because of their kids. As far back as I can remember my parents hated each other, but refused to separate. As a matter of fact, one of my earliest recollections was watching my father try to kill my mother. I was about 3 at the time. Dad was an alcoholic. He was insufferable when drunk. He wasn't much better when he was sober.

When my teacher asked our class to write a composition titled, "Why My Father Should Be Chosen Father of the Year," I smiled a little and asked if there were any alternate assignments.

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column the other day where a girl wrote in and said her family was much happier now that her parents got divorced than they were when the parents were trying to stay together for the sake of the kids.

Well, my parents have been divorced for 5 years now, and they tried to stay together for a few years before that. I don't know which was worse. Them together or them apart. It really terrible for us kids, but I guess maybe they just weren't meant for each other. All I can say is I hope to God more couples think more before getting married 'cause if they did it would save the kids a lot of unhappiness.

"I KNOW" (age 11) CONFIDENTIAL TO "BARBARA": I disagree with you. It is NOT always better to have "loved and lost." Many would have chosen never to have loved, if they could get back what they lost.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069.

(Hear Dear Abby Monday thru Saturday at 10:30 a. m. WKNY-1490.)

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Young person could make money request. Be flexible, willing to explain and to listen. Accent on finances, possessions. Children, other loved ones need things which strain budget.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Home front represents area of temporary friction. Obtain hint from ARIES message. Some are less than satisfied. Key is to realize nothing is all black or white. Seek intelligent compromise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Place value on your own opinions, goals. Some may appear indifferent. Don't be dismayed. Stick to principles—stand tall. Check details. Apparent minor matters need attention.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Friends could prove expensive today. Means tendency exists to be extravagant. Realize simplicity can represent quality. You do not have to impress by overpending.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Stress harmony, diplomatic approach to domestic problems. Adjustment is required at home. Study TAURUS message. You tend to act on impulse today. Control temper. Be courteous—then you gain.

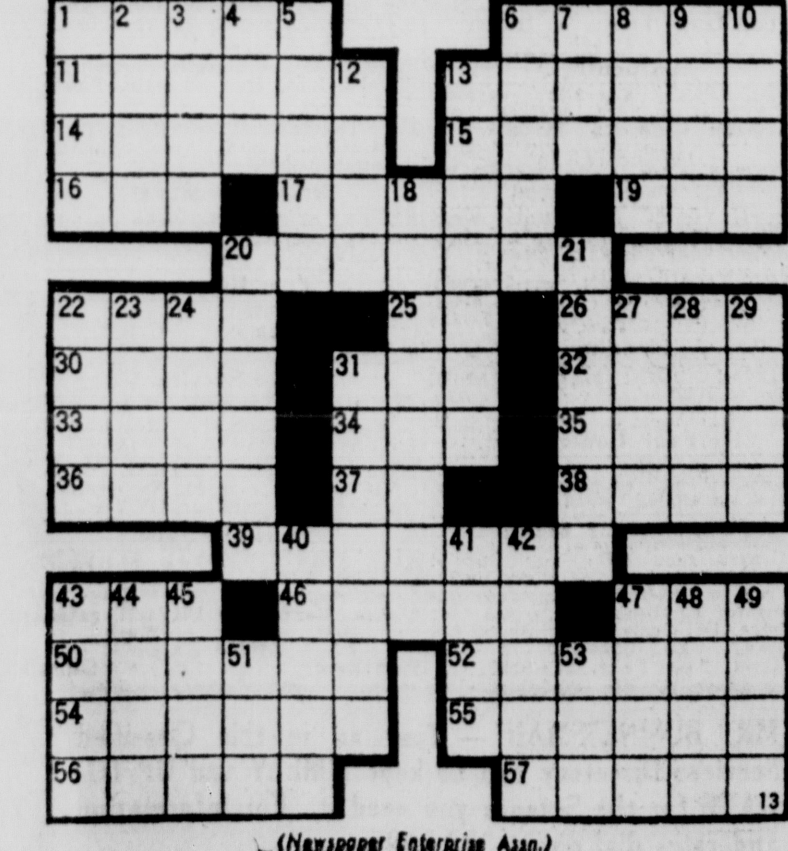

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): See persons, situations in realistic light. Tendency toward self-deception. Action taken recently may have been based on wishful thinking. Now get down to basic issues.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Mate or partner comes through with pleasant surprise that could bolster financial resources. Day of gain shown—mostly because of past contacts, efforts. Express gratitude—continue work.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 22): Permit others to take initiative. One in charge will see things your way if not rushed, pushed or forced. Know

One of the things that the Orange Team is working on is improvements in bidding methods. When they get a bad result, they go over the bidding carefully to see if it was due to a flaw in the bidding methods, bad luck or the need for something new.

The Orange Team did not like the result since East and West would have no trouble making three hearts. They would have found the heart fit if Guiver in North didn't double the one-spade opening and the question was to figure out if they could have done so after the double and the no-trump response.

The result of the discussion is that the team has come up with a new bid. The next time a hand like this comes up East

Dear Abby

Just Asking for Trouble

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am absolutely furious and don't know where to turn. My son, Dick, is 23 and has been out of the service for 2 months. Dick met a girl about a month ago and he's been seeing a lot of her. She is 22. Now he tells me that he's driving to the west coast (we live in Ohio) and this girl is driving along with him (just the two of them) as she has never seen the west. Dick said that the girl's mother is all for it. I wondered just what kind of mother would be "all for" a trip like this, so I rang her up and she said, "I raised my daughter to be a respectable girl, and if your raised your son to be a respectable boy, what do we have to worry about?" I was speechless. How would you have answered her?

"SPEECHLESS"

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I would have said, "To send a couple of healthy, normal kids who are obviously physically attracted to each other off alone together on a cross country trip is asking for trouble. No matter how 'respectable' they were in Ohio, a little hanky-panky can be expected about the middle of Missouri."

DEAR ABBY: The other day you printed a letter about a couple who stayed together because of their kids.

As far back as I can remember my parents hated each other, but refused to separate. As a matter of fact, one of my earliest recollections was watching my father try to kill my mother. I was about 3 at the time.

Dad was an alcoholic. He was insufferable when drunk. He was much better when he was sober.

When my teacher asked our class to write a composition titled, "Why My Father Should Be Chosen Father of the Year," I smiled a little smile and asked if there were any alternate assignments.

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column the other day where a girl wrote in and said her family was much happier now that her parents got divorced than they were when the parents were trying to stay together for the sake of the kids.

Well, my parents have been divorced for 5 years now, and they tried to stay together for a few years before that. I don't know which was worse. Them together or them apart. It really terrible for us kids, but I guess maybe they just weren't meant for each other.

All I can say is I hope to God more couples think more before getting married 'cause if they did it would sure save the kids a lot of unhappiness.

"I KNOW" (age 11)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BARBARA": I disagree with you. It is NOT always better to have "loved and lost." Many would have chosen never to have loved, if they could get back what they lost.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 22): Permit others to take initiative. One in charge will see things your way if not rushed, pushed or forced. Know this and act accordingly. Improve program of public relations, advertising.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Plan ahead—and do so with original flair. Progress comes not immediately, but in future. You can do much today to mold your future. Means put thoughts on paper, outline specific program.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Emotions fly high. If single, meaningful relationship is highlighted. If married, you rediscover mate. Day when you become aware. Creative forces surge upward. Nothing halfway. Exciting.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stress exists where agreements, contracts, partnerships are concerned. Don't try to settle too many things at once. One factor at a time results in genuine progress. Be polite to adversaries.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Short journey or visit could highlight day. Check instructions, directions. One who has served you in past may now require aid. Be considerate—help those who help themselves.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are dynamic, a natural investigator, one who wants to know the reasons why. You would be a fine reporter and could succeed in creative endeavors. Outlet for self-expression is most important. New contacts, experiences are emphasized during current cycle.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: cycle high for TAURUS, GEMINI. Special word to SCORPIO one phase of activity is finished. Know this and respond accordingly.

The result of the discussion is that the team has come up with a new bid. The next time a hand like this comes up East will double the no-trump as a newfangled takeout double. If this double is played for takeout, how can East double for penalty? The answer is that he could not have the hand for a penalty double because he would have redoubled one spade at his first chance to bid.

Of course, if West holds a really sound opening bid he can convert this takeout double to penalty by passing.

We aren't recommending this bid for general use as yet. One of the authors of this column still wants to be shown, and is looking forward to seeing how it works out in actual play. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

2 Minority Groups Emerge

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Network television's new season holds out little promise as a period of stimulating innovation in broadcast entertainment, but it may go down in the books as a time when two minority groups—television's Negro performers and older women stars—receive some unusual if overdue attention.

The new interest in casting Negro performers as regular and temporary members of series' casts has been widely publicized. Negroes will star, co-star and be featured cast members in at least one-quarter of next season's shows, not even counting the 13 variety programs and all the movie reruns.

Less publicized but certainly new is the emergence of women as stars in a medium which over the years has used girls primarily to brighten up the screens, add mild love interest to stale plots and provide an excuse for publicity pictures of a type believed to be favored by magazine and newspaper picture editors.

In the forthcoming season, two women will have their own variety hours—Carol Burnett and Phyllis Diller, both funny and neither the femme fatale type.

Maturity Kick

Doris Day and Diannah Carroll, two puissant show-business and box-office names, will be starring in new situation comedies. They illustrate TV's new maturity kick since both will be playing widows with children. Lucille Ball, who after 16 years has got to be television's first lady, will also be around as usual, this time frankly over 35 because her own two teen-agers, Lucie and Desi Arnaz, will co-star as her kids.

Over the seasons, older women—that means anything over 25 in TV land—have been demonstrating their staying power while the pretty young things have been as dispensable as facial tissues.

Uncounted numbers of girls with names like Laurie, Lynn and Linda have come—and gone—from our screens. One comedy series, specializing in pretty girls, has had almost total overhauls of casting twice—and most of the show's fans never even realized it.

Yet Barbara Stanwyck, 61 and white-haired, just keeps rolling along that "Big Valley." It was originally intended to have Aunt Bea of "The Andy Griffith Show" return only occasionally to the new "Mayberry R.F.D.," but the fan mail piled up so alarmingly that Frances Bavier, a warm, motherly type, will just transfer from Sheriff Andy's house and become a housekeeper, as usual, for Ken Berry, star of the new sequel to the old favorite.

More for 'Granny'

Irene Ryan, "Beverly Hills Grannies," is hardly a contemporary sex symbol, but she just received a raise and a share of the show's residuals under a new contract. Eve Arden and Kaye Ballard playing "Mothers-in-law" with grown

2 Minority Groups Emerge

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Network television's new season holds out little promise as a period of stimulating innovation in broadcast entertainment, but it may go down in the books as a time when two minority groups—television's Negro performers and older women stars—receive some unusual if overdue attention.

The new interest in casting Negro performers as regular and temporary members of series' casts has been widely publicized. Negroes will star, co-star and be featured cast members in at least one-quarter of next season's shows, not even counting the 13 variety programs and all the movie reruns.

Less publicized but certainly new is the emergence of women stars in a medium which over the years has used girls primarily to brighten up the screens, add mild love interest to stale plots and provide an excuse for publicity pictures of a type believed to be favored by magazine and newspaper picture editors.

Our canary, Goldwyn, shares friend if he thought that marriage changed things very much. Mr. Bass (the older man) — Well, slightly. During courtship, you talk and she listens. After marriage, she talks and you listen. And sometimes, you both talk, and the neighbors listen.

Livy's "History of Rome," written 2,000 years ago, explains in a brief phrase the basic problem that confronts every thriving civilization, including ours: "Nec vitia nostra nec remedia pati possumus." ("We can endure neither our vices nor the remedies for them.")

Betty — Mushrooms always grown in damp places, don't they, Father? Mr. Lee (her father) — Yes. Betty — Is that why they look like umbrellas?

So they all folded their little hands, put them on their little desks and put their little heads down on the desks. All was quiet for a while then there was a thump, thump of little feet scurrying back to a desk.

After everything was quiet again the teacher said, Miss Webb — Now let's see if the bad word is thoroughly erased.

So they looked to see a new, nastier word followed by "Thrush Strikes Again!"

Faith would no longer be faith if there no longer remained any possibility of doubt.

Business is like an automobile—the only way it will run by itself is down hill.

A little boy returning from Sunday School told his mother that if he missed three Sundays in a row, his teacher would throw him into the furnace. Horrified, the mother phoned the teacher who explained, Mrs. Jones (the teacher) — What I said was that if any child missed three Sundays, he would be dropped from the register.

We sometimes doubt the goodness Of that everlasting bore, Whose love embraces mankind But skips the man next door.

A young man asked an older girls, has had almost total overhauls of casting twice—and most of the show's fans never even realized it.

Yet Barbara Stanwyck, 61 and white-haired, just keeps rolling along that "Big Valley." It was originally intended to have Aunt Bea of "The Andy Griffith Show" return only occasionally to the new "Mayberry R.F.D." but the fan mail piled up so alarmingly that Frances Bavier, a warm, motherly type, will just transfer from Sheriff Andy's house and become a housekeeper, as usual, for Ken Berry, star of the new sequel to the old favorite.

More for "Granny" Irene Ryan, "Beverly Hills" "Granny," is hardly a contemporary sex symbol, but she just received a raise and a share of the show's residuals under a new contract. Eve Arden and Kaye Ballard playing "Mothers-in-law" with grown children are returning for a second season in a tough time spot that had spelled disaster for a succession of shows before that.

There are assorted reasons for television's continuing girl problem. One theory is that the audience likes its adventurous heroes to be fancy free, so the women can dream and the men can identify. Besides a steady girl friend is a nuisance in stories where the emphasis is on action.

Women, an important even dominating part of the television audience, are more likely to resent gorgeous young things but feel comfortable and unthreatened by comedienne or motherly types.

A beautiful but fading film star once confessed that if she had had it to do all over again, she would have started out as a character actress, "because it doesn't matter how old or wrinkled you get, you can keep working."

Work, Relaxation for LBJ As He Awaits X-Ray Word

By FRANK CORMIER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson is combining work with relaxation as he awaits expert evaluation of X-rays of his ailing intestinal tract.

Will Determine Surgery

The medical findings presumably will determine whether Johnson must undergo surgery for the third time in four years — a possibility the Texas White House has refused to rule out. Johnson made his third visit in a week Monday to Brooke Army Medical Center, San Antonio, where X-rays of the lower intestine were made so doctors could assess the extent of his ailment called diverticulosis.

Normally not a serious or disabling condition, diverticulosis produces pouches on the inner lining of the intestine. Should these become inflamed, surgery might be required.

The White House made a point, however, of saying "the President is feeling fine. He is carrying on an active schedule."

The X-rays were flown to the Bethesda, Md., Naval Medical Center and to the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. There they were being compared with X-rays taken in previous years.

This was being done at Bethesda by Vice Adm. George G. Burkley, the President's personal physician, and at Rochester by Dr. James M. Cain, an internist who frequently has treated Johnson since his 1955 heart attack.

No Word on Report

There was no indication when the results of this study would be announced.

At his ranch home, some 65 miles west of here, Johnson had ample paperwork to deal with: consideration of bills passed before the month-long congressional recess, reports on all aspects of the nation's affairs at home and abroad, and personnel matters.

With all that, Johnson had ample time for relaxing drives around his ranch property. Cain made an unannounced trip to San Antonio last week, apparently at White House request, to look over some of the results of medical checkups given both the President and Mrs. Johnson.

Apart from the matter of diverticulosis, these were said to have been "well within normal limits."

Shift Syrian Jets To a Secret Base

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel today shifted the two Syrian Air Force MIG-17 jet fighters which landed at an Israeli airfield Monday to a secret air force base.

Blackout Maintained

The planes were hauled away by trucks during the night. Troops had to uproot road signs and other obstacles along the narrow road leading south from the airfield in northern Israel.

A blackout on the interrogation of the pilots was maintained, and 24 hours after the planes touched down, there was still no official explanation for the sudden arrival of the fighters.

Even the Israeli press, which usually agrees to security restrictions, was indignant that no reason had been offered.

Some Speculation

There has been speculation Israel would try to exchange the two planes for the Boeing 707 liner hijacked from the Israeli airline last month and still held in Algeria.

Some newspapers assumed in their editorials that the two Syrian pilots had defected, because of "the rottenness of the Syrian regime, where one officer undermines another."

Another possibility suggested here was that the pilots had run out of fuel and attempted to land in Lebanon. The Israeli airfield where they landed is only two miles south of the Lebanese-Israeli frontier.

Lost Their Way

A Syrian military spokesman said the planes were flown by new pilots on a training mission. He indicated they had lost their way in bad weather, run out of fuel and been forced to land.

Nigerian Reaction to Fire on Planes Dims Hope of Biafra Food Supply

By C. C. MINICLIER

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia

(AP) — Prospects of getting sufficient food and medicine to the starving Biafrans grew dimmer today after the Nigerian government spurned an appeal to stop shooting at mercy flights into blockaded secessionist Biafra.

Suspends Flights

The Red Cross, which had been flying food and medicine into besieged Biafra since November, suspended flights from the Spanish island of Fernando Po, 100 miles off the Nigerian coast, after a DC-6 carrying food was fired on over the weekend.

Fears that arms are being airlifted into Biafra in large quantities are behind the federal government's action, the Red Cross spokesman said, but he added that negotiations were continuing. He denied that any Red Cross flights carried arms and military supplies, although he said he had heard larger quantities of arms are being flown to Biafra since President Charles de Gaulle expressed support for the secession.

Caritas, the Roman Catholic

"The Nigerian reaction is to shoot at any plane," an International Red Cross spokesman reported after the Lagos government rejected its appeal to quit shooting at mercy flights into blockaded secessionist Biafra.

200-400 Dying Daily
U.S. officials in Washington also reported that 200 to 400 persons are dying of starvation each day in Nigeria and Biafra as a result of the civil war. The estimate is based on figures compiled by the U.S. Embassy in Lagos, the Red Cross and voluntary agencies.

Officials estimated about 3 million persons behind the rebel lines in Biafra and about 750,000 persons in territory recaptured by federal Nigerian forces are in urgent need of food. All told, the civil war has affected some 13 million persons in what was formerly the Eastern Region of Nigeria.

The U.S. State Department announced that Secretary of State Dean Rusk is sending a special emissary to Geneva for "urgent consultations" with Red Cross officials on ways to resume the mercy flights. The emissary, C. Robert Moore, deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs, is being accompanied by a team of experts on Africa and disaster relief.

Travel Woes Mounting For the New Yorkers

By BOB MONROE
NEW YORK (AP) — Consider the unhappy lot these days of some New Yorkers: The Long Island Rail Road canceled more trains today while city subway supervisors threatened a slowdown that they said could make the suburbanites' woes seem "minor league."

The LIRR announced Monday night that 32 trains were being dropped from this morning's rush hour schedule—the largest number since the beginning of an alleged slowdown by car repairmen and inspectors eight days ago.

LIRR officials tallied 53 trains canceled Monday or about 25 per cent of the normal service for its 90,000 daily commuters who jammed the aisles of remaining trains or took private cars, buses or subways to get to work.

Meanwhile the 1,000-member Subway Supervisors Association rejected a mediator's recommendations for settling a contract dispute and threatened a slowdown on the city's subway system.

Frank Tedesco, president of the union, declared his men would "follow the book on work rules and carry out job action just like the Long Island Rail Road carmen's slowdown."

In fact the LIRR carmen have repeatedly denied that they were engaged in a slowdown. Officials of Lodge 886, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, claim the aging equipment necessitates increased repair time.

Q. Why did you have Smith Parish do the roofing on your home and barn?
A. "We never thought of anybody else . . . because my father (Frank P. Elmendorf) always had Smith Parish. It's a family tradition!"
